Schurig. The meeting was called to order by John Jankins, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Commissioner G. 'R, Williams was elected chairman and Curtiss Tur#### ner, secretary. MR. WILLIAMS' PLAN.

Chairman Williams called Mr. Stenberg to the chair and proceeded to read a paper on "Good Roads and How to Get Them." Mr. Williams said the value of good roads was universally recognized and the im-portant question was how to get them. He good then proceeded to argue the necessity for road improvement and cited the cases of several eastern states which had taken steps to improve their roads and had appropriated thousands of dollars from the appropriated thousands of dollars from the public treasury for the purpose. The benefit to be derived from a system of good roads was dwelt upon at great length by the peaker, who urged the necessity of stepp in this direction being taken by Douglas ject of roads, he suid, had been copied from the laws of other states and were entirely unsuited to the conditions that existed in the plan of roads which should be followed out as circumstances permitted. Mr. Rosewa-ter's talk was closely listened to and ap-ular direction being taken by Douglas the laws of other states and were entirely plan of roads which should be followed out as circumstances permitted. unsuited to the conditions that existed in this state. While the states from which these laws had been copied had probably seen their defects and remedied them, the laws of Ne-braska had not been changed to meet the conditions which existed. One result was the election each year of men as road supervisors who were not prepared to devote their time to the work. Other disadvantages of the laws were spoken of, as well as the crudity of the methods pursued. The plans oursued by the Board of County Commissioners since the speaker had been a member of the board were discussed at length, showing the lack of all system in regulating either the work of the supervisors or the amount of money to be expended by them under the old system, and the changes which had been made by the board in recent years in changing matters so that the supervisors were directly under the control of the b ard and the amount of money they were allowed to expend was regulated by the board. The amounts expended during the past five years on the several roads were detailed, together with the comparative cost of road-making

Reed" had seld was the greatest question of the hour, viz.: "How to Dodge a Bicycle." He mourned the fact that the bicycle and the motor car ate neither baled hay nor shelled corn, but said the only thing for the farmer to to rest to recognize the inevitable. He closed by advocating converse in county affairs and said that the natural roads of Nebraska were better, without the expend-ture of a dollar, than those of castern states COMMISSIONER WILLIAMS IS PRESIDENT where millions had been spent. Curtiss Turner made a brief talk. He tool xception to a remark made by Chairman exception to a remark made by Chairman Williams that "fortunately the law fixed the roads on section lines." The speaker regarded this as the most unfortunate law which had ever been enacted. It was in direct violation of all dictates of common sense, economy and everything else, especially in the hilly river counties. He dided the accounts of the Delse counties. He cited the example of the Dodge street road which ran directly west and said this road was cut through hills between Omaha and Elkhorn. If the natural con-formation of the ground had been fol-lowed the road would not have cut through more than six hills. Before the street was payed the speaker said the gradient was five feet in 100; if his plan had been followed the gradient would have been but two and onethose present, almost without exception, being entitled to seats in the convention. It was the first time in the history of Doug-ias county that a meeting of this kind was attempted, and great interest was felt in the outcome. All of the county com-missioners were present, all but seven of the twenty-five road supervisors of the county were there, while every bicycle club in the county was represented. The supervisors present were: R. W. Douglas, Chicago precinct; John Bruning, Douglas; Philip Crink, Eikhorn; D. V. Shipin support of the adoption of this system of

At the conclusion of Mr. Turner's talk, a resolution was introduced by Mr. Henderson and adopted, providing for the appointment of the following committee on permanent organization, to report in the atternoon: A. P. Akerlund, Philip Crink, Hans Leigh, J. W. Parish, G. H. Burchard, R. L. Huntley.

PAVING FOR MAIN ROADS.

In the afternoon Andrew Rosewater made Union Pacific club, Richmond Anderson, R. L. Huntley, F. E. McMullen; Association of Wheelmen, E. B. Henderson, H. M. Bu-chanan, A. D. Fetterman; Tourist Wheel club, F. W. Fitch, F. E. Vandenberg, W. G. Clark; Omaha Wheel club, F. H. Wallen-haupt, Edward Lytle, G. H. Burchard; Tur-ner Bicycle club, W. F. Weber, E. F. Schurig. correct while the country was sparsely sel-tled, but when the population increased, as it must do, all reads must be paved in order to get the best results. The idea of follow-ing the natural contour of the ground, as advocated by Mr. Turner, the speaker thought, should be made dependent upon the charac-ter of the traffic which was to use the road. It might be well enough to follow his plan for the side roads, but main roads should be as direct as possible. The cost of bring-ing the main road to a good grade would be very small as compared with the cost of the extra paying and maintenance on the larger road. The speaker reviewed the history of the laying out of roads in Douglas sounty. In the early days roads were located in accordplauded at its conclusion.

Frank Hibbard of Irvington then read a paper on the road question, his main point being that if the purpose of the convention was to ask for the issuance of any more paving bonds, he was everlastingly opposed to It.

W. G. Clark of the Tourist Wheelmen followed with a paper. It was full of practi-cal points and dealt with facts to the ex-clusion of theories. He suggested that steps be taken to hunt up wet spots in roads, or spots which remained wet longer than the remainder of the road, and remedy the de-fect by filling and rounding. fect by filling and rounding.

TO TAX BICYCLISTS.

This completed the set program and the This completed the set program and the meeting was thrown open for discussion. F. W. Fitch, representing the bicyclists, took the floor to discuss the papers. His main point was a suggestion that a personal tax be assessed on bicycles, the tax thus raised to be turned into the county road fund. This point was loudly appleuded point was loudly applauded. Commissioners Martin and Begley of Sarpy with the comparative cost of road-making under the two plans mentioned. It was stated that since the system had been per-fected, new roads had been made by the board at an average cost of only $37.60 per mile, which was considered a remarkable showing. The speaker said that the first step in the speaker said that the first step in ing to do so. Chairman Williams called on the road supervisors to state what amounts they would require in their districts. There was no response and Mr. Williams then read estiresponse and Mr. Williams then read esti-mates of improvements which were de-manded by residents and taxpayers of the county. The estimates included reducing the grade of the Military road east and west of Irvington, the Southwest road near Mil-lard, the road to Fort Crook and the road leading out of South Omaha. The estimate of all of this work showed that 540,000 yards were to be moved. At a fair estimate this would cost about $54,000. The levy for the current year would raise only about $20,000, so that the doing of this work would require about all of the levy for three years. He said this would show that the commissioners would be compelled to exercise the utmost care in making allowance to the super-Crink of Elkhorn made a spirited talk on the subject of the allowance made to su-pervisora. He charged that the commissionods of road construction. VIEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. The next paper announced was by E. B. Henderson, president of the Association of Wheelmen and an ardent advocate of good roads. He announced his subject to be, "Why We Are Here." He said the bicyclists were not present for the purpose of discussing Chances in the the subject to be discussing ORGANIZATION REPROSENT.

This case presents only a question of fact. Evidence held sufficient to sustain the ver-dict. Crooker against In Re Estate of Smith. Error from Lancaster county. Opinion by Commissioner Irvine. The county court has power to remove a guardian upon rotice, when he has become incapable of discharging his trust or evi-dently unsuited therefor. (Compiled Statutes, chapter 31, section 23.) 2. The disability justifying a removal need not be one arising after the appoint-ment. A guardian may be removed when-ever found unsuitable. 3. The word "unsuitable" in the statute applies to any case where the guardian is incapable or not in a situation to properly protect his ward's interests. 4. Corruption or malfeasance is not nec-essary to authorize the removal of a guard-ian; evidence of a failure to properly pro-tect the ward's rights is sufficient proof of "unsuitability."

QUAKER OATS The Child Loves It. The Dyspeptic Demands It. The Epicare Dotes on It.

The speaker said that the first step in the improvement of roads must be a revision of the laws. He favored a system which would place the entire care of roads under direct control of some central body which should be empowered to employ an engineer to be selected on account of his peculiar fitness for the work of supervision. The old system of road tax should be abolished. With the present revenue, the speaker was of the opinion that the roads of the county could be maintained in good condition and from one-fourth to one-fifth of the amount could es set aside each year for making permanent improvements. To do this would require new laws, and the speaker asked co-operation of all advocates of good roads in bringing this about.

In this section the speaker said the road maker was limited in his choice of material. He had no sand and no gravel and was compelled to rely entirely on the natural soil. This could be utilized to good advantage and the speaker closed his paper with a

The interests of he bloyclists, he said, were identical with he interests of the farmer and every other nember of the community who used the oids. The bleyclist probably noticed deocts in the roads more readily than th armer on account of the nature of his ve-ticle, and all realized the advantage of ticle, good roads. They were most interested in aving defects remedied in the best manner. The speaker then referred to the expense ad roads, showing how they cost more i wear and tear of vehicles and horses that would be required to make good roads. He also referred to the fact that the national government had expended billions of dollars In improving and maintaining waterways which he did not regard as important de roadways, but had not expended any money or improving the latter. Nebraska, he said, had the best natural roads of any state in the union; there were no stones to contend with and there was not te alternate thowing and freezing in the opring which destroyed roads in the eastern states. The operator advocated planting trees a carriage, it was good enough for a bicycle. At the conclusion of this paper A. K. Aker-lund, road supervisor of Valley predict, was called on and road a paper full of practical suggestions, based on the speaker's experi-ence as a supervisor for the past eight years. Ho recommended grading and rounding the road to the full width of sixty-six feet, with deep ditches at the sides and seeding the sides of the road with grass. This would keep down the weeds, one of the greatest enemies of the road supervisor, and the hay would pay for the maintenance of the road. would pay for the maintenance of the road The merits of the different makes of grader were discussed by the speakers and the con-ditions under which each was the best were shown. His paper closed with several practical suggestions as to the best time and method of cutting weeds; how to keep a road in good condition with the minimum amount of work, etc. His paper was body

The committee on permanent organization reported in favor of a permanent organiza-tion, to be known as the Dauglas County Road league, to be composed of farmers, horsemen, wheelmen and commissioners, the organization to be governed by a board of nine directors, who shall select from their number a president, secretary and treasurer; also that not more than five directors shall represent any one of the classes composing the league.

The report of the committee was adopted without discussion and the following direc-tors elected on recommendation of the same ommittee. G. R. Williams, A. P. Ackerlund, Valley; Philip Crink, Elkhorn; Frank Hibbard, Irvington; Robert Douglas, Chicago; E. B. Henderson, Associated Cycling clubs; W. G. Clark, Tourist Wheelmen; G. H. Burchard, Omaha Wheel club; R. L. Huntley, Union Pacific Wheel club.

The following resolution was introduced H. Burchard and unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That this convention believes it would be to the best interests of good roads, their construction and maintenance, o have the county commissioners assume states. The preaker advocited planting trees and hedges along the country roads as a means of beautifying the landscape and also advocited the adoption of a general plan for roads covering the entire county.

Ripping Up Denver's Police Force, DENVER, Colo., Feb. 4.-Governor Mc-Intyre has determined upon a complete reorganization of the Denver fire and police epartments, with a view to putting a stop gambling and kindred evils in the city. President Frank Church of the Fire and Police Board resigned this morning in compliance with a request from the governor. Police Magistrate Dewitt C. Webber has been appointed to the vacancy. Chief of Police Gouiding has resigned and many changes will be made in the police force.
