

WILL MAKE IT TWO MILLIONS

Omaha's Federal Building Encouraged by the House Committee.

E. K. VALENTINE NOT NOMINATED

Nebraska Aspirant Defeated in His Efforts to Again Secure the Position of Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(Special Telegram.)—Congressman Mercer, following his signal success in securing the passage of the bill for the building of a new military reservation for school purposes, today received notice from the committee on Public Buildings and Grounds that the amount desired had been included in an appropriation to complete the post-office at Omaha.

E. K. Valentine has been defeated in the republican caucus for the position of sergeant-at-arms through a combination with the populist senator, Marion Butler of North Carolina. The defeat of Senator Dubois' resolution to distribute the appropriation bills made this condition possible. There is considerable doubt if the republicans can elect the caucus nominations at this time.

One pleasant fact in connection with nominations in caucus is the selection of Alonzo H. Stewart of Iowa to succeed Isaac Bassett, deceased, as doorkeeper of the senate. Mr. Stewart is well known in Omaha, where he has frequently visited.

Congressman O. M. Kern addressed the house on the silver proposition reported by Chairman Dingley's committee, whereby the gold standard is to be maintained by the bimetallic party in existence in the United States. He had ten minutes in which to present the position of the populists on the question of free coinage.

Representative Strode today filed with the postmaster general the petition of citizens of Cheyenne, Laramie county, asking the appointment of Mr. Govet to be postmaster instead of Garlen, resigned.

Senator Allen introduced a bill granting a pension to Hiram Danan of Tilden, Madison county. Representative Gamble of South Dakota has been successful in incorporating in the appropriation bill a clause setting aside $20,000 for Indian schools at Rapid City and Chamberlain, and is now laboring to secure an appropriation for the improvement of the Missouri river at Elk Point, S. D.

Congressman Lacey of Iowa introduced a bill today to amend the timber culture law, extending the right of the settler to the land on the crest of the Sioux reservation in South Dakota. General C. F. Manderson, accompanied by Mrs. Manderson, is in the city. General Manderson is here to arrange with the attorneys representing the sugar interests in presenting the case before the supreme court.

The general is looking after the Oxnard interests. Captain Platte M. Thorne, Twenty-second infantry, who was ordered to appear before the retiring board, is in the city. Colonel C. C. Byrne, assistant surgeon general at Fort Colville, is in the city. Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Ward, is detailed as a member of the army retiring board, vice Captain Fernace, Thirtieth infantry, relieved.

First Lieutenant Joseph B. Batchelor, Jr., is detailed before Colonel C. C. Byrne for examination. Major Eric Berland, Corps of Engineers, is granted leave of two months. Postmasters appointed for Nebraska: Alvo, Cass county, Fountain Devoe, vice C. D. Bucknell, Iowa; Fairmount, Union county, S. M. Nelson, vice E. L. Thompson, Iowa; E. H. Wolfe of Iowa, a clerk in the patent office at $1,000 has resigned.

SELECTED THE SENATE OFFICERS. Republican Caucus Decides to Change All Except the Chairman. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The republican senators in caucus today nominated A. J. Shaw of Spokane, Wash., for secretary of the senate, H. L. Grant of North Carolina for sergeant-at-arms, and Alonzo Stewart of Iowa to succeed the late Captain Bassett as assistant doorkeeper. It was decided to make no change in the office of chaplain, the nomination of Mr. Stewart was by acclamation, and the decision to retain Rev. W. H. Milburn as chaplain was unanimous.

There were four candidates for both the offices of secretary and sergeant-at-arms, and three ballots were necessary to reach a choice. Western Patents Issued. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(Special Telegram.)—Patents have been issued as follows: Iowa—Ernest F. Greene, Fort Dodge, music case or portfolio; George D. Henry, West Grove, screen; William Peterson, Clinton, clothes line; George C. Poling, Harlan, fastener for overalls; Amos F. Giesse, Randolph, fence stay; Ralph W. Springmire, Tiffin, dish cleaner.

South Dakota—Francis M. Dean, Huron, track sander; Wallace A. Heuts, Parker, telephone system; John Mueller, Hot Springs, combined case and music stand; Wentworth Rice and D. S. Farnham, Rapid City, combined case and music stand; William D. Doland, potato planter; James B. Wolgenmut, Pierre, and G. S. Engle, Aberdeen, shirt collar fastener and adjusting device. Syndicate Gets Thirty-Four Millions. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The treasury has completed its tabulation of the bids for the Morgan syndicate bid. The result is 781 bids for a total of $67,788,550. This leaves the amount which will be awarded to the Morgan syndicate $4,113,350. The treasury rejected several bids for the reason that they bore evidence of being fictitious, so that the amounts stated are the corrected figures.

American News from South Africa. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Vice Consul Knight has called the State department under date of Feb. 6, of a variety of the Americans arrested at Johannesburg are now under preliminary examination and the formal trial will take place April 21. The vice consul also confirmed the associated press cable of last night, stating that Hammond is out on bail.

PEN PICTURES PLEASANTLY AND POINTEDLY PUT.

UNDERWEAR FOR SEC. We have been cutting away at the price of this heavy duty ribbed underwear—it once was $2.50 a suit—although it sells often for $1.50—until now we announce our final cut—$1.00 a garment—it is the full regular made cotton goods in natural ecru that is so durable that it wears longer than any wool goods you can buy. Now the price is 85c a garment and it won't be any lower—and at this price—85c for the rest of this week.

Albert Cahn, Exclusive Mens' Furnishings for Cash 1322 Farnam St.

CABLE PROPOSITION PRESENTED.

Company Agrees to Modify the Original Joint Statement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Hawaiian cable subcommittee of the senate from the committee on foreign relations today granted a hearing to representatives of the Pacific Cable company, which asks a charter and a subsidy from the government for a telegraphic cable from the Pacific coast of the United States to Pearl harbor, Hawaii.

Brief statements were made by James A. Schryver, president of the company; Edmund L. Bayliss, vice president; Mr. S. C. Neale and Admiral Irwin, all of whom contended for the advantages to the government of the Pacific Cable company's proposition.

Mr. Schryver and Mr. Bayliss submitted a joint statement agreeing to a modification of their bill so as to provide that in consideration of the proposed government subsidy the company will carry free perpetually all the cost of laying and maintaining the cable, which will not charge more than $125 per word to China and Japan, nor more than 75 cents per word on messages between the United States and Hawaii; press rates to be one-fourth regular rate. They also agreed to deposit $100,000 with the secretary of the treasury as a guarantee of good faith.

Mr. Schryver and Mr. Bayliss especially upon the strategic advantages of having a Pacific cable and gave the committee much incidental information about Pearl harbor. He referred to his visit to Hawaii in 1884 and said that he knew from the experience he had then that at that time the Hawaiian government would be willing to concede the sovereignty of the island to the United States. He said also that it was of vast importance to have a cable extending to China and Japan in a case of war with any European power.

BIRTHDAY OF REPUBLICANISM. Will Be Duly Celebrated by the Union Club of Washington. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Union Republican club of Washington is arranging for a celebration, to be held here on the 22d inst. of the fortieth birth of the republic.

Money Asked to Buy Retainer. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The secretary of the interior has transmitted to the house of representatives a communication from the commissioner of education submitting an estimate of an appropriation of $45,000 to buy retainers for Alaska. In view of the fact that it is found to be impracticable to transport into the interior of Alaska a sufficient number of men to do the work, it is proposed to employ a number of men to do the work, and to pay them a retainer of $100 per month.

Cleveland Takes Another Trip. WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Cleveland left for Cleveland, Ohio, at midnight on a light house tender for a trip down the river.

Judge Scott's Family Tree in a Featful Tangle. Ex-President Harrison's brother-in-law, Judge J. N. Scott, of Port Townsend, Wash., at a social gathering of the evening discovered yesterday that his own family tree was in a tangle. He had been told by a friend that his father-in-law was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by another friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a tenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eleventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twelfth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fourteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventeenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a nineteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twentieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a twenty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a thirty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fortieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a forty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fiftieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a fifty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a sixty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a seventy-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eightieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by an eighty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninetieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a ninety-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundredth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and tenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eleventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twelfth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventeenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and nineteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twentieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fortieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fiftieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eightieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninetieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundredth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and tenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eleventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twelfth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventeenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and nineteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twentieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fortieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fiftieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eightieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninetieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundredth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and tenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eleventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twelfth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventeenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighteenth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and nineteenth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twentieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and twenty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and thirty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fortieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and forty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fiftieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixtieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and seventy-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eightieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and eighty-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninetieth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-sixth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-seventh friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-eighth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and ninety-ninth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundredth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and first friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and second friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and third friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fourth friend that his mother was the daughter of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and fifth friend that his father was the son of a certain man, and he had been told by a hundred and sixth friend