"Omaba First, The Retailors Second," is to be the motto while the watchword will be "Home Industry.

The rooms of the Commercial club were more than crowded. Many were brought to the meeting as prospective members and before they left their names were inscribed upon the roll of the association. The attendance was about 250 and comprised almost every branch of trade in the city, the black-smiths being included in the number. The chief object of the meeting was the consideration of a constitution and by-laws which were reported by a committee. The document was a lengthy one, but its articles and sections were prepared with a care which showed that the compilers intended it to exist for a considerable length of time. After its introduction a long discussion enadopted almost as reported.

opened a half week's engagement before a guishes minstrel shows in general. Some of the jokes suggest church yard mould very strongly, and fossil remains; and this may account for the designation "mastedon. The performance from first to last, ever, was well received, and certain features were very good indeed. The balancing and equilibrizing of Carl Charles was notably fine, some of his feats approaching the mar-velous. There were some clever dogs, a very little good music, and plenty of all-round hard work by Beach and Bowers, the latter of whom was particularly amusing. It seems probable, however, that if he makes any more "cracks" at our fair and prosperou by singing "Omaha has seen better days," some one will remind him that she has also seen better minstrel shows.

In recent years there have been many more or less able actors who have challenged the popular verdict in the role of Hamlet, but few, if any, have come very near to the much coveted reward. While the ideal left by Mr. Booth's performance remains fresh in the public mind, genius itself will have no easy task to dissipate the impression. In the meantime, among those who have entered the lists perhaps none have attracted more attention than Alexander Salvini. His con-ception and treatment appear to have aroused the enthusiasm of those who have longed to see Shakespeare's great tragedy once more presented as a dramatic spectacle pure and simple, instead of a philosophical clinic, which it has become in the hands of so many; to see it acted, instead of merely commentated upon. Mr. Salvini's portraya of "Hamlet" will be seen for the first tim here at Boyd's theater, this evening, when the performance, owing to its length and the elaborate nature of the production, will begin precisely at 8 o'clock. Tomorrow evening Mr. Salvini will appear as D'Artagnan, in "The Three Guardemen." The sale of seats opened yesterday morning and was one of the largest of the season.

"The Vendetta," presented by W. R Ogden and a competent company will be the attraction at the Creighton for one week, commencing Sunday matinee, February 23, when this production will be offered to local play-goers for the first time. The action of the play gives ample opportunity for the in troduction of elaborate stage and scenic effects and the plot is said to be constructed on original lines, replets with exciting and well-conceived situations. The usual matinees will be given during the engagement.

Communications regarding the repertory of Richard Manefield, who will play a two night engagement at the Creighton in the near future, will be considered for two more days only, and the plays to be presented by this popular star will be announced early next week.

He says that boys and girls unde 15 years of age are on the streets at all hours of the night, and he thinks it would he a good thing to eend children of that age home or else lock them up. Around the street corners down town groups of youngsters can be seen every night when it is not too cold. They use bad language to passers by, throw stones and openly insult women. Only a few nights ago Officer John Riches found a gang of a dozen youngsters in the basement of the Singer block at 1 o'clock in the morning. The boys were playing with marbles, dice, etc. Not a boy in that crowd was over 15 years of age. The policemen's beats are so long that they cannot keep track of the youngsters bent on mischief all of the time, and even if an offlcer does order them home the lads shout a volley of bad language and run up some dark alley only to appear at another corner a block or two away a moment later.

We have only a few days more in which we can talk about winter goods and we want to make good use of them. Spring goods are coming in pretty lively and keep an army of clerks busy unpacking and marking them. In a week or so the stock will be complete and ready on our tables. Until that time the few remaining winter goods must be gotten out of the way. If price is any inducement at all, you should not lose this opportunity. We have a few very tine suits, which sold the latter part of the season for $15 and $16.50-they are now $12.00. Others formerly selling at $12 and $13.50, and worth considerable more than that, are now only $10.00, and so right along we cut the price.

You will find in our Boys' Department some extremely good values. We make it a point to sell Boys' Clothing at the closest margin possible and in this last week of our clearance sale we will offer extraordinary bargains in suits for big and small boys.

Dues are fixed at 50 cents a months, payable every two months in advance. This was the only section of the constitution which provoked any prolonged discussion. P. Wilg, who acted as the representative of the smaller and outside dealers, urged that the dues for dealers outside certain limits be reduced to 25 cents or nothing, on the ground that they would receive no direct benefit from the association. It was stated, however, that the dues were purposely fixed at the low figure of 50 cents to accommodate outside dealers. It was suggested too, that while no direct benefit would accure to them by the bringing of visitors to the city, they would be indirectly benefited, as the primary object of the association was to encourage enterprises in the city, and therefore to increase the number of customers. This view prevailed.

Herman Schaeffer returned from Cripple Creek last evening after an absence of nearly a month. He reports everything booming in the new mining town and fully 35,000 people on the ground. Prices for accommo-dations are on the Waldorf scale and he cheerfully paid $1 per night for the use of a oft plank during his sojourn there. Not withstanding these triffes in the way o comforts he expects to return in a fortnigh and pursue his mining operations. While there he succeeded in locating two promise ing claims with "pay dirt" in sight and has already secured a number of parties who are willing to go in with him and back the
