SHOOTS FLEEING HOBO

Officer Clear Dangerously Wounds a Prisoner Who Tries to Escape.

VICTIM THOUGHT TO BE A BURGLAR

Overhauled After a Long Chase He Assaults the Officer at the Patrol Box and is Perforated.

Officer Charles Clear shot, and it is believed, fatally wounded a fleeing tramp, yesterday morning shortly after 1 o'clock. The victim was one of a large number of hoboes that infested the city Saturday. He gave the name of Fred Geyer, and claimed Pittsburg as his home.

Clear's account of the shooting is corroborated by several circumstances, and, at least one witness. The patrolman's beat is on lower Broadway. While on his rounds in the vicinity of the Northwestern depot at 3 o'clock, his attention was attracted by sounds coming from the rear of the grocery store of Hauer & Son, 1017 Broadway. He made his way to the rear of the building by passing between the Council Bluffs works and an adjoining shed. As he approached the rear of the grocery he discovered two men, apparently engaged in breaking open the back door. They were prying off the casing, and the creaking of the nails was the sound that attracted the officer's attention. The men captured sight of the officer, and he observed them, and made a successful dash for liberty. They ran in the direction of the Northwestern city depot and disappeared behind some trees. Hauer & Son is a good deal of a sprinter, but the men gave him the slip by dodging around the cars, and when he saw them again they were flying up the track toward the Northwestern round house.

Clear reported the facts to the station, and was ordered to leave his beat and follow the men. He found that they had reached the depot, and he attempted to enter it, but was denied admittance by Al Whitman. In a quarrel that ensued Whitman struck one of the men over the head with his lantern. Clear captured the man who tried to enter the depot, and when they saw the officer both started to run. Geyer was captured, but his companion succeeded in getting away. Clear asserts that he recognized the man instantly as the two whom he had caught in the act of committing a burglary, and felt warranted to use every precaution in landing the one that he had captured. He took him to the police patrol box at Broadway and Eleventh street and turned in a call. While waiting for the wagon the prisoner struck him a quick, savage blow. Clear fell into the gutter and his club. Geyer instantly darted away and was making his escape. When Clear got upon his feet his prisoner was fifty feet away. He fired at him, but the bullet missed, and the fleeing man paid no attention to it. A second shot was fired and the fugitive fell. Patrol Driver Sandel says he was within a few yards of the man when the trouble began, and saw Geyer make the attack upon the officer, and was a witness of the whole proceeding. The officer's club was found twenty feet away.

Getten taken to the central station, where the city physician examined his wound. It was found the bullet had struck him in the hip, inflicting a dangerous wound. He was removed to the Woman's Christian Association hospital and several physicians took an interest in his case. Everything possible was done to relieve him, but he had a slight chance of recovery, but feared the location of the wound would make blood poisoning almost a certainty.

Geyer was able to talk a little about himself. He said he was 22 years old, that he was a butcher, and that his home was in Pittsburg. He said his only living relative was a brother. He denied the attempted burglary of the grocery store, and claimed that he had just come to town the evening before. He positively refused to say anything about his partner.

An examination of the rear of the grocery store showed that the fellows had been working on the building for some time. A house built outside the building. They had succeeded in prying off the casing boards and had the door off when the officer arrived. The door was fastened with a padlock, and the grocery had been out, and the fellows had apparently just discovered their mistake, and had begun operations upon the rear of the building. They were started by the officer's appearance.

Geyer was the leading spirit in the altercation at the round house, and had received a blow over the eye from Whitman's lantern.

The officers believe that these fellows robbed the residence of Rev. Mr. Snyder last week, and that they were the same who were seen in the Fifth ward. Some of the fellows of war were needed to get out a refractory vote in that locality, and a little purse was handed to a messenger with instructions to deliver it to Mr. Blank, who was at the polls to give it to some good democratic worker who was on the grounds.

Mr. Doe and Mr. Blank were both at dinner when the messenger arrived. He looked for a good democratic worker and found a bundle there in a trunk. He took the trunk in his hand. The messenger passed over the cash and the next morning one of the republican wheel horses of the ward bought a new hat and then added to it a good pair of pants. The messenger who delivered the money was receiving tiler at the bank when the republican made his deposit. Then he realized his mistake.

BITS OF COUNCIL BLUFFS GOSSIP.

The city officials had their photographs taken in group form on Saturday. A rumor that the operator employed Roentgen rays in the performance has caused a scramble and an effort to have the negative destroyed.

Mayor-elect Carson, it is said, promised to appoint a colored man on the police force. The colored men selected the future star wearer and now there's a row on. Part of the colored crowd is in a hurry to get on the present police force may be needed before the time for appointment of new men arrives.

Sam Etnyre has decided not to contest the election of Thomas Tostevin as city engineer. People who have noticed that growth of Sam's wonder if it will ever stop growing.

Some of the members of the present police force take no members in the report that the election is heading in another direction. They are perfectly satisfied that it will strike in the vicinity of the city hall on the first Monday night in April.

Policeman Clear says that one burglar in the hospital is worth two in the rear of a grocery store.

There are two good stories current over the school board election of last week. The first is that Billy Moore found out that his fellow democratic nominee, Thomas, was running behind in the Fourth ward, where the voters were going for Moore and Spruill. He went to Thomas and told him that they go down in the Sixth and take some steps to counteract the Fourth. Down they went and put up a deal to have the voters of the Fifth ward. Some of the fellows of war were needed to get out a refractory vote in that locality, and a little purse was handed to a messenger with instructions to deliver it to Mr. Blank, who was at the polls to give it to some good democratic worker who was on the grounds.

Mr. Doe and Mr. Blank were both at dinner when the messenger arrived. He looked for a good democratic worker and found a bundle there in a trunk. He took the trunk in his hand. The messenger passed over the cash and the next morning one of the republican wheel horses of the ward bought a new hat and then added to it a good pair of pants. The messenger who delivered the money was receiving tiler at the bank when the republican made his deposit. Then he realized his mistake.

WHEEL CLUB MEMBERS FOLLOW AN ANNUAL ELECTION WITH A FEAST.

DOUGLASS' NOTION OF THE RIGHT HOT BOY

In Describing the New Member He Took Off the Buckle and the Rest Thing in Correct Style.

The annual election of the Ganymede Wheel club of Council Bluffs was held on Monday night last at the club rooms and after the business session a banquet was given by the club at the Grand hotel.

The Ganymede is one of the strongest clubs of wheelmen in the west. Its members comprise the best young men of Council Bluffs and they have managed to maintain a very strong organization in face of very formidable obstacles. Chief of these has been the abnormal condition of the city streets. Council Bluffs fell a victim a number of years ago, in common with other western cities, to the cedar block craze and as a result the streets today are well-nigh impassable for wheelmen and are rapidly becoming so for pedestrians and all kinds of vehicles.

As a result the wheel is not used very liberally in the business life of the members of the club and most of their enjoyment comes when they find time to get as far as possible away from the town. The Ganymede membership has been maintained at a high level, however, and has sprung, with the promise and prospect of getting something done to better the condition of the city's streets, there has been a renewal of interest in cycling and the club will probably bring the membership to the century mark before the riding season is fairly open.

But this has nothing to do with the annual meeting and the banquet. At the business meeting C. E. Parsons was re-elected president. An enthusiastic wheelman and a man who has the hearts of all the members. There will be another presidential race in the future. Parsons was elected to serve as the chief Ganymede. The other officers elected were: R. W. Bixby, vice president; W. M. Gaines, secretary; and L. Duquette, treasurer; T. C. Dahl, captain.

It has been the custom of the club to hold a smoker at the annual election, but this year was decided to do otherwise. Two of the annual banquets and if the committees in charge of this event in years to come perform their duties as well as those who did the work of the first annual banquet they need attempt nothing better. There's no record that will be hard to break. The decorations of the hall were in quiet taste, the menu excellent, the services superb and after the dinner program an entertaining and enjoyable as could have been desired.

THERE WERE SIXTY OF 'EM.

Covered with the members of the club and their guests sat down at 10 o'clock to the discussion of the following menu:

Consomme, New York Corns, Celery, Patties of Shrimp, Maryland Potatoes Duchesse, Tenderloin of beef, broiled, Mushroom Sauce, Fried Potatoes, Claret Punch, Grass Plover on Toast, Asparagus Tips, Assorted Cakes, Water Chestnuts, Ice Cream, Coffee.

With the lighting of the Sultan's, Toastmaster Grimm took charge of the program and called on President Parsons. Parsons is in his element as toastmaster, and managed to make it as pleasant, or un-pleasant, as he wished. Parsons' remarks introduced. It is something of an unwritten history that the Ganymede is ready to fight when the subject of "rage meet" is mentioned. Parsons' remarks were intended to pay more assessments than a policy holder in a mutual life insurance company before. He positively refused to say anything of national credit money. Parsons took the bit in his teeth and urged the club to take some steps at once looking to another race in Council Bluffs early in the fall. He was not in favor of tying up with the national circuit people, but suggested that an interstate circuit be formed. This was met with the hearty approval of the members.

A male quartet, composed of Messrs. Rigdon, Ghould, Askin and Haverstock, rendered "Robt. Adair," and were compelled to respond to an encore.

George Pullman spoke of "The Good Old Ordinal" and the evening. His remarks were especially appreciated by the members of the club who were wheelmen in the days when the hills were in favor.

HE'S A HOT BOY.

W. L. Douglas was happy to respond to the toast "The New Member" and it is no disparagement to the other speakers to say that the new member furnished more fun than any other speaker. Mr. Douglas is a natural entertainer, and would have made a record had he chosen the historic art instead of adopting the prosaic calling of a laundryman. He is a lively young fellow and many members of the club and his talk was most thoroughly relished by all. Among the good things he said were the following: "The joy and honor accompanying the ceremony of becoming a new member are such that they are to be greatly grasped when at hand, for they never come but once. I have attended many banquets and have seen the bewildering sensation of the 'new member,' it is an occasion when for once the most insignificant 'back number' swells into a local hero and is the center of attention." "I have upon whom next falls the mantle if he is received with all the flash and roar of trumpets that I was when I was installed beneath the auspices of the Ganymede, a honored organization. Before I owned a bicycle I divided mankind into two classes—those who ride wheels and those who do not. But we are amazed at the wonderful mark of advanced civilization the cycle has made for itself. In the 'dark ages,' so-called because they had so many 'knights,' the wheel was unknown and the sole joy of the young man was to have a pair of heavy iron trousers, warranted not to bag at the knees or get 'out of crease.' I have been told that I have in me the material for a reliable bicycle club member. True, I have never been on a club run, in fact not been astride a wheel for four months, but I have learned to play duplicate whist, I can sing the first verse of the national anthem, I have rolled up an high as 59 on the bowling alley, and can describe the cycloidal sprocket as well as point out the weak points in some of the ninety-six models. Messenger Boys Held Up.

Neely Heze and Lafayette Cromelin, two Postal Telegraph messenger boys from Omaha, were riding through the bottoms on this side of the river last night, when they were held up by tramps and relieved of their change. One of the boys also lost a watch.

The Merchants and Manufacturers association will meet tonight to elect officers for the ensuing year. It was hoped that it would have the association furnish some excuse for existence during the coming year.

Mayor Carson enters office pledged by his public utterances to use every effort to have a number of the leading streets and thoroughfares of the city repaved. In this he will have the support of a large majority of the progressive citizens and the unanimous opposition of the taxshirkers. The Council Bluffs Retail Merchants' association is pledged to the support of any reasonable proposition looking to the improvement of the city and county roadways.

Some fellow stole a watch at Moore & Ellis' store the other day. He kept it a few hours and then returned without explanation. Nate Ellis is troubled now to decide whether it was a case of stricken conscience or poor watch that led to the return of the ticker.

A Change in Firm.

There has been a change in the Council Bluffs Roofing and Corralce works, by which Mr. Truman F. Wheaton of Sterling, Ill., becomes a partner in the firm. Mr. Harry C. Grahl, Mr. Grahl has been sole owner since the retirement of his father, a year ago, and under his management the business has increased to such an extent that a good practical working partner became a necessity. Mr. Wheaton is a young man who has had large experience in the business as senior member of the firm of Paul and Wheaton. He brought his family with him, and will be a permanent resident of the city.

The Council Bluffs Roofing and Corralce works has become one of the largest plants of the kind in the west. Everything in the line of metal corals, ornaments, steel ceilings and sheet metal trimmings for buildings and store fronts are made from special and original designs. Contracts are made for putting up store fronts complete with all glass, cast iron, wood and metal work. They make a specialty of Kinnear's patent steel ceilings, as well as slate, tin, gravel and felt roofings, and in addition to all this handle the fullest line of modern furnaces and heating plants in the west. Mr. Grahl is one of the many examiners of what a young man can do if he tries, and every bit of his big success has been thoroughly earned.

ENDED A DISGRACED LIFE

Postmaster Maps of Kansas City, Kan., Embarrassed and Blows Out His Brains.

SENSATIONAL EXECUTION ARRANGED

High in Kansas Politics, but Finally Fell a Victim to the Card Table and Strong Drink.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., March 15.—To escape arrest for embezzlement of government funds, Frank Maps, postmaster for this city, committed suicide this morning in his residence. Thursday two poxoffice inspectors arrived here and began an investigation of the office. Upon their arrival Maps showed no uneasiness, but as they pursued their investigations through Friday and Saturday, he became nervous and depressed in spirits. The inspectors finished their work last night and their investigation proved the postmaster to be an embezzler from the general funds of the office to the amount of probably $9,200.

Maps undoubtedly knew the conduct of his trust, and it is evident that he feared arrest today or tomorrow. He decided upon death. His manner of ending his life was sensational in the extreme. At breakfast time, he complained of being ill, and retired to his room. Soon afterward he had his wife send for three men who had been friends of long standing. When these men arrived at the house, Mrs. Maps met them at the door. No sooner had she swung open the door than a pistol shot rang through the house.

Mrs. Maps and the three men ran to the postmaster's bedroom. They found him lying on the floor, his head under the door. The deceased was appointed postmaster by President Cleveland three years ago. He had long been prominent in local and Kansas politics. He was under $20,000 bonds to the government with local business men as sureties. The funds embezzled are said to have been squandered in gambling and drink. His family is provided for by a $10,000 life insurance, which he carried.

April 7 and 21 are the dates for next Homeowners' Excursions via the Burlington Route. One fare (plus $2) for round trip to Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and various points south and southwest.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE NEW DISCOVERY FOR CURING DYSPEPSIA.

(From Mich. Christian Advocate.)

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister residing in Wadsworth, Gayoga Co., N. Y., in recent letter, writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the Dyspepsia from which I have suffered for so long. I have tried the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress after eating, and again after long years a deep sleep."—Rev. F. I. Bell, Wadsworth, N. Y., formerly Italia, Colo.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as thoroughly in old, chronic cases of Dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of the same. It is a natural, a person has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is overworked; all it wants is a harmless vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give for a much needed rest.

This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. No matter how weak or how much disordered the digestion may be, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. New life and energy is given not only to the stomach, but to every organ and nerve in the body. A trial of this splendid medicine will convince the most skeptical that dyspepsia and all stomach troubles can be cured. The particular branch of the business of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be obtained at any drug store at 50 cents per package.
