PROCEEDINGS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD

Resolutions of Regret at Principal's Departure-High School Year Made Ten Months-Schemes for Retrenchment.

The Board of Education departed from its recent humdrum tactics last night and for a brief period there was more sensational legislation on tap than had previously broke loops this year. It was all along the line of retrenchment, and if all the resolutions that were submitted had been adopted there would have been a vertiable massacre of the salaries of the employes. But the danger proved to be remote and all the multitudinous and conflicting motions and resolutions were eventually killed off in their order.

Gratton started the confusion toward the close of the session by offering a resolution which provided for a reduction of about 25. The secretary of the executive committee per cent in the salaries of the janitors. A of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, in a commotion to refer the resolution to a communication, asked that the board require the past month and had discovered a great many munication, asked that the board require the which provided for a reduction of about 25 mittee was voted down. Then Pierson culivened the situation by offering as a substitute a motion that the malaries of all employes be cut as follows: Those receiving from $400 to $700 a year, 5 per cent; $700 to $1,200, 10 per cent; more than $1,200, 15

This brought half a dozen members to their feet and points of order, motions and amend-ments followed each other with confusing rapidity. Finally Pierson's substitute was lost by 8 to 7 and the resolution was laid on the table by a similar vote. Then Tukey offered a resolution which provided that inasmuch as the constant agitation of the ques-tion of a reduction of salaries was working to the detriment of the schools, it be declared the sense of the board that no further reductions should be made this year, but economy should be effected by consolidation and the dismissal of the more inefficient This was also laid on the table. Tukey was not discouraged, but followed it up with another resolution, by which the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for janitor service at the various school houses. This also went on the table by the same stereotyped vote, and the meeting adjourned with all members in decidedly bad

imously adopted:

Whereas, In the resignation of Prof. Homer P. Lewis, for thirteen years principal of the Omaha High school, the public schools of the city lose an educator of marked ability and of more than national reputation, and every boy and girl of the High school will look upon his departure as a personal loss of a true friend and most estimable gentleman.

Resolved, That this Board of Education deeply deplores the resignation of Prof. Lewis and regrets exceedingly that our schools will lose his timely advice, his charitable criticisms, his wise counsel and his ribe judgment, so judiciously exercised in the conduct of all school matters.

Resolved, That we extend to Prof. Lewis and his most accomplished wife our sincere congratulations, and tender our best wishes for their continued prosperity and success.

Resolved, That we congratulate the citizens of Worcester, Mass., on securing a man so thoroughly well qualified for the position he is to occupy, and we assure them that Prof. Lewis will be equal to Prof. Irwin Leviston was then elected principal for the balance of the year. The committee's recommendation was that he be appointed "principal in charge," but it was urged that an election would show the confidence of the board in Prof. Leviston and put him in a better position before the school. A long vexed queetion was settled by the n of a resolution, by which was appropriated to pay for heating plant at the Long school. This bill has been the subject of numerous debates, in which payment of the bill was postponed on the plea that the finances were not satisfactory. end of the curriculum. Lunt said he had heard a good many measures of economy discussed, and in every case they were at the expense of the children. He was getting tired of this, and declared that if the report was adopted he would bring in a resolution to cut the salary of every employe of the board.

Tukey stated that a large part of the work in these grades was nature work and similar extras which the children would still have an opportunity to learn when they got into the higher grades. He referred to the finan-cial condition of the board as making some radical economy imperative. The proposed action meant a saving of $25,000, and it was at once the most sensible and effective measure of economy that had been proposed.
Superintendent Pearse explained that the

There is the water works com-pany as a fair illustration of how this scheme is worked. I learn, from what I regard as very good authority, that the American Water Works company is stocked and bended for $10,000,000, and I know that it receives from the city of Omaha each year hydrant rental amounting to $85,000, to say nothing of the enormous income it receives from private consumers in this county, and yet it appears on the tax roll at the valua-

These banks have an understanding among themselves and I am informed by competent authority that they refuse to make any return for taxation until it is agreed by the county commissioners that the return of moneys credits, etc., made by each bank shall be divided by six and the result of this process entered as the amount on which the bank is to pay taxes. She had been virtually driven out last fall because she ran a house in which robberies were of frequent occurrence. When she returned she stated that she intended to have a house that was "right" and in which no one should be robbed. She informed the police of this. She had been in the city but a few days when her house was pulled and she and three inmates wree arrested. The four were released on bonds, but within a few days Gladys was arrested again. MEETING OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Session Devoted to Mimicking Officers ned of motors.

There was a well grounded suspicion affort that the program at the Woman's club meeting yesterday afternoon was to be an innovation, and the rooms, which are usually crowded, were packed to suffocation.

There was not even standing room. Platforms, radiators and window seats were hastily pre-empted and the crowd at the door was almost impenetrable.

The business session was short and of little interest. After it followed a recess longer than usual, giving a pleasant time for so ciability. Mrs. Strawn was called to chair by the president, who stated that this meeting appeared in the manual as a general session and was not in charge of any depart-ment, and that Mrs. Strawn had been appointed as chairman of the committee prepare this program.

At this juncture the officers retired and enteen women ascended the platform and took chairs reserved for them. Then everybody understood and the house rang with cheers, for there was the Woman's club officers and prominent members, carefully and skillfully impersonated. Miss Towne, in her mother's bonnet, with a little judicious makeup, was an inimitable mimic of the club's president, aided as she was by the very strong, although hitherto undiscovered mblance

The secretary read a very clever report in imitation of the real secretary, and the mimic club took up the business of the hour, which was the subject of building and own-ing a club house with suitable halls and apartments for the club's use. This rather vital subject has been considerably discussed in the real club and many of the pros and cons are understood.

After resolving itself into a committee of the whole with "the parliamentarian" in the chair the debate began in real earnest. The chair recognized speakers by their pro-gram titles as "The Woman Who Objects," "The Woman with Something on Her-Heart," etc.

almost every instance the audience recognized the familiar epeakers at a glance and responded to every new exhibition of a familiar mannerism or expression. The perfection of the representation in a number of cases was truly remarkable and Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Peattle, Mrs. Tracy, Mrs. Towne and Mrs. Andrews had they not been on the inside of the joke, would have been exposed to the predicament of the little old woman of nursery fame, who questions "If I Be Not I, Who Be I?" and is forced at last to the test, "If I Be as I Think I Be, I've Little Dog at Home and He'll Know Me. But they were accomplices to the deed n part at least and had supplied the very familiar cloaks and bonnets that added s much to the makeup.

Had the mimicry ceased with these cleve makeups the representation would have been a success, but this was but a small part of the whole team. Every man-nerism had been carefully studied and was enacted with great effect. The best of all and representing certainly most time, care and thought were the speeches in the debate which were perfect parodies in most cases of the ideas and expressions with which the club is familiar. Mrs. Wheeler's speech on "Art" was capital, Miss Cook upon "Letting Our Husbands Pay the Bills" was recognized as true. Miss Rathburn and Miss Somere had carefully studied their originals while Miss Tukey and Miss Towne fairly outdid their originals in the characteristicness of their speeches. Miss Byrn and Miss VanGeison showed, as they do so often, glimpses of something very like renius in the skill with which they carried out their very difficult roles to the The utmost good nature and good feeling prevailed through this little burlesque, at the close of which Mrs. Andrews arose to nove a vote of thanks to the young women

The city council met last night as a Board of Equalization and considered a complaint from Ed Ainscow, to whose property the removal of garbage had been charged. Owing to the absence of several witnesses the hearing of the protest went over for one week. Mayor Johnston them called the council to order. The judiclary committee reported adversely on L. Lund's offer to pay a license of $20 for the privilege of running a junk shop, providing no one else was allowed a license, and the report was adopted.

"curfew" ordinance was read for the third time and passed. It provides that all children under the age of 15 years must be indoors by 9 o'clock at night. For a violation of this ordinance a fine of $10 will be imposed on the child and a fine of $20 or the parents. Mayor Johnston signed the ordinance as soon as it was passed and the police officers were instructed accordingly.

A petition asking that the banks of eart on P and Q streets from Twentieth to Twen-ty-first street be sloped was read and reerred to the committee on streets and alleys. Duplicate warrants will be issued to George Schnitz for $50. The original warrants were lost.

Franck offered a resolution to place an electric light at Twenty-first and S streets and Bulla wanted lights at Twenty-first and H streets, Twenty-third and I streets and Twentieth and Milroy streets. Walters stated that there was no money to pay for lights and he thought the council ought to fur-nish better fire protection and let the peo-ple get along without lights until there was money to pay for them. The resolutions were adopted.

Then Walters introduced a resolution lo-cating fire plugs at Twenty-fourth and M streets, Twenty-fourth and D streets and Twenty-seventh and C streets, and this was carried. Franck and Mics voting against it.

Horse Market Improving. The number of high-priced draft horses that were brought to this market last wesk for export and the number of drivers sold has a good effect on the market. The horses bought for European shipment good, smooth blocks, weighing from 1,400 to 1,700 pounds. The first consignment will be shipped in a day or two. There is a big teams. Those sold last week brought old time prices, and the owners appeared to be well satisfied. The demand for working norses is growing stronger. Horses ready to go to work on graders or at railroad work ell readily, while eastern buyers are after fresh young country chunks. They must be ound and in good flesh to bring top prices. The prospects are good for a lively market this week as the demand for all classes, es pecially draft horses, is exceptionally good. There are buyers here for all of the southern of Sol Smith Russell on March 27 and 29 will be: Friday night and Saturday matin Sheridan's famous comedy, "The Rivals;" and for Saturday evening a double bill: "Mr. Valentine's Christmas," and the new comedy, "An Everyday Man." Mr. Russell's method-are distinctly his own. In all his work his naturalness is striking and artistic. In nothing has Mr. Russell presented such fine occasion for calling special attention to Mr Russell, but yet those who so much admire Commencing Sunday evening at Boyd's theater for two nights, the music lovers and admirers of Della Fox in Omaha will have an opportunity to witness her new opera, "Fleur de Lis," a brief synopsis of which is as follows: A couple of old fellows who were born on the same day, the Count des Es-carbilles and the Marquis de Rosollo, who have been devoted friends since childhood, are at war when the opera commences over an estate left by their uncle—notably the duchy of Turbotiere, at St. Cloud, France. A long lost daughter of the marquis (Fleur de Lie) makes an opportune appearance, and after winning the heart of the count's son (Frederick), proceeds to make matters extremely interesting for that irascible old autocrat. She appears in numerous char cters, a flower girl, a doll, a ragged musician, a ghost, etc., ridiculously complicating everything and everybody until the end, when she finds the last will, which leaves verything to her father, the marquis.
