There was a good attendance at the regular weekly meeting of the Council Bluffs Business Men's club last night and enough new interest manifested to remove the fear that the members would lose interest in the organization and neglect to attend the meet

The principal part of the business transacted was the final discussion and adoption of the constitution and by-laws of the asso-clation. This work has dragged through several meetings and some of the members were beginning to get weary of the talks. The document was finally adopted as amended by the special committee appointed for the pur-pose at the last meeting.

The few bills so far contracted were audited and paid last evening. The secretary called attention to the fact at several communications had been received bearing no signatures. Some of them were in the nature of a roast for various people and things. This called forth a very general expression of opinion that any man who was ashamed to father any commution he might write was too modest and his fragile to be taken into consideration by the association, and the secretary was instructed to take no notice hereafter of any communication that was unsigned. The application of this rule shut out a very earnest petition from the retail shoe clerks, asking the association to use its influence to secure shorter hours for the clerks during the summer months. The petition did not bear the name of any of the clerks to be

GRAND JURY REPORTS ON THE CASE

Boone Man Explains that His Charges Were Based on General Assers tions of Others Concerning Crookedness of Officials.

Editor Moore of the Boone County Herald was on the carpet yesterday afternoon in the federal court and all on account of an article which he dashed off in a hurried moment, to the effect that all the federal marshals, judges and other officials were having a big thing in arresting people on trumpedup charges and getting rich on fee grabbing.

Judge Woolson instructed the grand jury the card or whether he was just writing on the card or whether he was just witing or that subject in a general way for a lack of something better to write about. The grand jury called Mr. Moore down from Boone and had several interviews with him. The result of the interviews was made public result of the interviews was made public.

Wade Walker charged with bootlegging. ic in the report of the grand jury yesterday afternoon.

After reciting the facts leading up to the calling of Moore before the jury the report continued:

Moore admitted that he himself had written said article and that he could not now support any statement made in said article by any fact whatsoever, nor could he even give the name of any witness or witnesses who could or would testify to anything or any fact which would tend in any way to support the allegations made by him in the aforesaid newspaper article. Mr. Moore also stated to us and in our presence that he knew of no way in which this grand jury could secure evidence to support the charges so made by him, said alore; and he further admitted that said statements made by him in said article were erroneous, witnout foundation and that no attention whatever should be paid to the same, as the same presented no facts and he had no way to support said statements. Moore admitted that he himself had writ-

Then the jury made a nice little talk on the proneness of newspapers to get hot dur-ing political campaigns and lose sight of facts. There was also an appeal to the ediors to weigh carefully every word written for the public, and to keep the tone of the editorial columns high. The jury did not hink that the court ought to take any notice of the article, as there was no foundation for it, in fact. The jury had been unable, ance in office, and that there was really nothing to investigate. The report was signed by all the members of the grand jury and was read to the court by Clerk Stead-

Editor Moore was present when the grand jury's report was made, and he made an open statement to the court. He apologized ery nicely for the publication, and stated he misapprehensions under which the oboxious article had been written. Gladness Comes With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constituted condi-tion of the system, which the pleasant family laxative. Syrup of Figs. prompt-ly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase that you have the genuine arti-ele, which is manufactured by the Cali-fornia Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
