"The evidence shows that in 1883 Byron Reed, having acquired title to Cedar Hill, arin the disputed strip to remove their dead to the cemetery on the north. Reed giving in exchange for their lots, lots in Prospect Hill and paying the expense of removal. He then ordered that no burials be made in the strip and no lots sold there for burial purposes.

"After this strip had been unused and unoccupied as a cemetery for eight years, the city council passed an ordinance prohibiting enlargement of cemeteries within the city limits.

claimed by the plaintiffs that the acts of Reed and others having rights in the strip constituted an abandonment, and that the subsequent laying out of this strip for burial purposes was a violation of the city ordinance. "The defendants claim that no part of the cemetery had been abandoned and that no part of a cemetery can be abandoned without the consent of every person holding the right of sepulcher in any and every part of the cemetery, and that plaintiffs have not such interest in this suit as will enable them to maintain a suit and that they cannot show special damages such as will entitle them to an injunction as asked. It is claimed, also, that the defect alleged to have been in the ordinance has been cured by the repeal of the ordinance and the enactment of anrdinance in September, 1895, which, in effect, allows this particular cemetery to enlarged in the manner in which it has been done.

"I am satisfied, after a careful consideration of the matter, that the plaintiffs have such an interest as will enable them to maintain this action, provided they show they are, or are likely to be, specially damaged, and that the acts of Byron Reed and of those having burials in the old Cedar Hill cemetory and the failure, for more than eight yars, of any one having the right of sepulcher the disputed strip to take advantage of at right, constituted a legal abandonment of the strip.

"The testimony shows that the soil in th cemetery and for a great distance around it is of the kind known, geologically, as loess, and is remarkable for its power to absorb and re-tain moisture. The logical deduction, from the decided weight of the evidence of the drainage and bacteriological experts, is that rms of disease are very likely to be car-ed through soil of this character by percolating water from the bodies of those who may die of contagious or infectious diseases and be buried therein, to wells 200, 300, 400 feet or more away, and in such numbers as to endanger the health and lives of those using the water.

"The strip might have been laid out and used for cemetery purposes prior to the passage of the ordinance in 1892, but it could not have been done rightfully after passage of either ordinance referred to the defendant cannot claim in a court of equity that its position under the last ordinance is bettered by reason of its violation of the first ordinance.

Sustained the Jury's Verdict.

Slabaugh has overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Miss Salome Emminger against the Omaha Street Railway company. In overruling the motion court said that the evidence regarding extent of the injury, in which affidavits had been introduced purporting to show that the plaintiff had attended dances and had ed, was simply cumulative and was not new evidence. The same was true with reference to the other affidavits regarding the of the plaintiff immediately after the accident.

Regarding the point that the amount of damages was excessive, the court held that point for the jury to determine and was not a legal question.

Olsen Must Set Out the Article. Judge Scott yesterday sustained a motion in behalf of the defendant in the case of Theodore Olsen against The Bee Publishing company, asking that the plaintiff be required to set out more fully the article in which the alleged libel is said to have ap-peared.
