History of the Girl Shows that She Was Bent on Self-Destruction for More Than a Year Past.

For the third time in as many years death has entered the family of W. W. Biedler of Council Bluffs, and each time at the desperate demand of the unhappy victim. Yesterday morning, Amanda, a 19-year-old unmarried daughter, shot and instantly killed hereoff at the home, 145 Vine street. The house is a large brick tenement, and the Biedler family occupy rooms on the lower floor. Mrs. Harris, a married sister gong on the foot-board a couple of times to warn other people that the patrol was comand the oldest child, has kept house for the father since the suicide of the mother three years ago. She has striven heroically to keep the family together, providing a good home for the members. The events leading up tragedy yesterday morning are brief.

younger children to the market with instructions to get a certain kind of meat for the midday meal. When the child returned the meat was found to be just ex-actly the kind Mrs. Harris had told him not to get and he was sent back to the shop. As the little boy stepped out of the rear door to return to the butcher shop Mrs. Harris remarked that it was too bad the children did not pay more attention to what was told them; that if they only would do so her burdens would be greatly lightened and the family would get along much happler. The remarks were addressed to no one in particular, and least of all to Amanda, in particular, and least of all to Amanda, who was in the klichen. She immediately entered the dining room where Mrs. Harris was standing and said: "I will do right now what you want me to do; I'll get out of your way." She passed through the dining room into the hail adjoining, and a second later shot herself. When Mrs. Harris heard the shot she ran into the hall and almost fell over the prostrate body of her sister, that was lying on its side with the feet just outside of the hall door. Blood was spurting from a wound in the right temple, and in the

HAD LONG INTENDED SUICIDE. A careful inquiry shows no cause other than indicated for the strange deed of the than the performance of the Field club minyoung girl. That she had been meditating strels, it for some time is evidenced by the fact that E. W she had the pistol, a 32-callber American bull-dog, concealed in her dress. As she passed through the dining room Mrs. Harris remem-bered that Miss Biedler had her hand working at the fastenings of her dress in front, and was moving very rapidly. Coroner Jennings was notified and investigating the case found there was no occasion or holding an inquest. Inquiry among the friends and acquaintances of Miss Bledler clearly establishes the fact that she had meditated self-destruction for a long time. More than a year ago she attended a meeting of women arranging to or-ganize a local lodge of the Maccabees. The speaker had stated that the conditions of membership among other thogs compelled the refusal of applications from members of families where two of them had died from consumption or two had committed suicide. "That lets me out," Miss Bledler asserted, loud enough to be heard by all those around her, "for two of our family have killed them-selves, and I'll be the third one." She has for some time been employed in a hotel at Jefferson, Ia. She returned a few days ago, having left her position. Her ATHENS, April 8 .- The interest in the Hellenic games and in the great national festival which has been kept to celebrate their revival continues unabated and the nodern Greeks of all classes show themselves keenly alive to a sense of pride in the ancient glories of the race and of the land inhabited. There were no American contestants today, which is apparently the only condition in the games which involves there being no American winners. The bicycle race was conducted in a tempest of wind, which made anything like record speed cut of the question. In fact, all those taking part in this race abandoned the contest, excepting the Frenchman, Flameng, who luckily breasted the storm and finished lone. Considering the speed of the wind, is time was not bad. The young king, Alexander of Servia, who said to be paying court to Princess Marie of Greece, was an object of interest today. E. W. Sigler had a claim for $12.50 against Nora Murphy for labor and Mrs. Murphy had a counter claim for $61.60. The suit was originally brought before Peter Rief, a justice in Lewis township, and then taken on a change of venue to the judicial mill of Judge John Nipps, a justice of the peace in the same township. And that's where the fun commenced. There was a jury trial in July 1895 and the jury returned a ver-authorizing him without complaint to pry into the secrets of every employer's business. The whole series of questions which the workingmen were required to enswer was stricken out.

The house defeated the Early bill requiring druggists having permits to sell intoxicating liquors to pay the $600 mulct tax. All the extreme prohibitionists and nearly all the lemocrats voted "no."

The bill introduced by Ray limiting committee clerks to twenty-seven and other em ployes of the legislature in proportion was also passed: Yeas, 67; nays, 8. The author stated that if the bill became a law it would effect a saving of $20,000 at each session. A strong effort is being made by the lobby to defeat the bill taxing express companies.

Medical Discovery. Medical Discovery. Dear Size-I cannot say enough for your "Gol-den Medical Discovery." For two years myl'ttle boy suffered with lung trouble-first taking la-grippe; second intermittent fever; third, lung trouble. For two years he coughed. The phy-sician could do no good and I though the must die. I was told to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Med-ical Discovery. I did, and before he had taken one bottle he began to mend and could eat a little. When he had taken four bottles he was well and now is as stoat as before. Respectfully yours.
