

FRIVOLOUS AND INDISCREET

Dr. Barber's Idea of the Conduct of Dr. Mackay at the Asylum.

S ASSISTANT AGAINST THE SUPERINTENDENT

Taking of Testimony in the Investigation Concludes with Dr. Mackay's General Denial of All Charges Against Him.

NORFOLK, Neb., April 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The asylum investigation was continued last evening. Nellie Fitzgerald was first put on the stand and corroborated a great part of the evidence already given, as did also Miss Cook, a former attendant.

Charles Sexton, present engineer, testified that he wanted to keep out of the case. He says Miss Grabel and Dr. Mackay were much together, but did not know of any improper conduct. He thought it more becoming if Dr. Mackay stayed with his wife when he had time to loaf.

W. H. Biggs, attendant for the past six years, thought Dr. Mackay's conduct somewhat indelicate.

Farmer McDonald did not know anything about any improper conduct. Dr. Mackay was gentlemanly, so far as he knew.

Dr. Barber, assistant physician, testified that he saw no ill treatment of patients. He said Mrs. Grimes was unusually obstinate and required some heroic treatment. He recalled some cases of phrenitis; the economic condition of the hospital shows a marked improvement, and the sanitary condition was good.

Dr. Mackay was charged with being indelicate in his conduct with Miss Grabel, but he would call it indiscreet. This included the night when Dr. Mackay went on the stand in his own behalf. His testimony was long and in it he denied almost all of the charges preferred against him. He did not recall anything about the night of treating her cruelly, but had used great force to make her sit down. He said she would stand for days at a time, was in the kitchen and very trying. She had smoked her toes hard, and that the blood on her hands came there from an injury she had inflicted on her own.

Miss Grabel testified that she had been in the hospital for some time. She said she had been in the hospital for some time. She said she had been in the hospital for some time. She said she had been in the hospital for some time.

Anna Chesnut, present employe, testified to Dr. Mackay's good conduct and that they saw nothing wrong. Some thirty odd patients were also offered by Dr. Mackay to prove his good conduct of the hospital, his good management of the institution and his standing as a physician and citizen.

Some charges were not publicly expected today, but none were publicly submitted. The investigation was concluded this afternoon. Governor Holcomb will remain until tomorrow, after which he will return to his private residence, and will render his decision later.

Quarter eagles of 1821, 1822, 1823, 1824, 1825, 1826, 1827, 1828, 1829, 1830, 1831, 1832, 1833, 1834, 1835, 1836, 1837, 1838, 1839, 1840, 1841, 1842, 1843, 1844, 1845, 1846, 1847, 1848, 1849, 1850, 1851, 1852, 1853, 1854, 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, 1859, 1860, 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, 1871, 1872, 1873, 1874, 1875, 1876, 1877, 1878, 1879, 1880, 1881, 1882, 1883, 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900.

A GRATIFYING SURPLUS.

WOMEN OUTNUMBER MEN BY FIFTY THOUSAND.

It appears by the last census that there are 59,000 more women than men in the state of New York, says Harper's Weekly. Thoughtless or inaccurate persons might say that New York has a surplus of women, but 59,000 women to spare, but neither of these modes at all expresses the condition of the state. Possibly the state has some superfluous women whom it can spare, but it does not appear in the statement of the census, nor does it follow naturally or by compulsion upon the fact that she has 59,000 more women than men. Years ago, when New York was one of the "middle states," we who live in it were wont to read with something like consternation of the disparity in numbers between men and women in Massachusetts. We felt called upon to bewail the loss of the thousands of maids in that commonwealth, for whom in the penuriousness of nature no yoke-fellows had been provided. We were sorry that in such a condition of things we were left with so many women necessarily unhusbanded. We wondered who would support them, and rather pitied the Massachusetts men—what were they to do with all these women? But a burden put on their shoulders. Are any such sentiments entertained today about the 59,000 unmarried women in New York? In no wise.

Single Women, especially those who are in some measure confirmed in their singularity, have come to be so very highly as to seem to be a relief at their own celibacy. In all walks of life, as housewives, shop girls, typewriters, cashiers, trained nurses, school teachers, or reformers, they are a luxury and a blessing. They have a great deal to be said for themselves, and adults that exist in America. They do not earn as much money as their fellow-men, but as a compensation they enjoy increased freedom.

FORTUNE FROM A FROG FARM.

A JERSEY WOMAN'S UNIQUE INDUSTRY PAYS OFF AMAZINGLY.

When the frog business is carried on right it pays, as is proved by the experience of Miss J. Selden at Burlington county, New Jersey, who has been furnishing frogs to the Philadelphia and New York markets for five years, and besides having a regular trade established has stowed away a handsome sum of dollars. Her success has been through a spell of sickness if it should happen to be a long one. Seven years ago, says a correspondent of the Globe-Democrat, Miss Selden was a day and transacted much business of importance to the stock interests, among other things agreeing that this association should be merged into the Western South Dakota association with headquarters at Rapid City. By uniting the two associations the same object would be accomplished, and the latter company now having representatives at the Omaha and Chicago fairs, as well as some of the most expert dealers, who are making it very interesting for the cattlemen. Cattlemen, particularly those owning small bunches, are very much exercised over Congressman Andrews' bill for granting to the state the arid lands, the following resolutions being adopted by the meeting unanimously.

Whereas, Hon. W. E. Andrews, member of congress from the Fifth Nebraska district, has introduced a bill for the purpose of the ceding of the semi-arid lands in this state, to the state of Nebraska, in tracts of not to exceed 640 acres, upon said individual tracts of said 640 acres by irrigation; and

CATTLEMEN IN CONVENTION.

Northwestern Nebraska Stock Association Holds an Important Meeting.

OPPOSED TO THE ARID LAND BILL.

Members Denounce the Measure as Having Been Conceived in the Interest of the Wealthy Range Owner.

VALENTINE, Neb., April 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The Northwestern Nebraska Stock association, representing 30,000 cattle in this and Sheridan counties, met here today and transacted much business of importance to the stock interests, among other things agreeing that this association should be merged into the Western South Dakota association with headquarters at Rapid City. By uniting the two associations the same object would be accomplished, and the latter company now having representatives at the Omaha and Chicago fairs, as well as some of the most expert dealers, who are making it very interesting for the cattlemen. Whereas, Only a very small portion of said lands are directly along the streams, thus closing those streams against vast numbers of cattlemen, and the vast majority of the land is through which said streams course; and

Whereas, The present homestead laws are being used to the detriment of the large number of persons, placing the large and small stockmen on exactly the same footing; and

Whereas, The so-called semi-arid lands are rapidly becoming recognized as the best of the best for the raising of stock, and the cattlemen are being driven from the land by the homesteaders; and

Whereas, The Northwestern Nebraska Stock association hereby declares itself unalterably opposed to any and every measure that would grant to the state the arid lands, in tracts of not to exceed 640 acres, upon said individual tracts of said 640 acres by irrigation; and

SHOOTING A PRACTICER.

Young Man at Murdock Loads His Cousin With Shot.

VICTIM WAS BENT ON HAVING FUN.

Goes to the House of His Uncle to Enliven the Luncheon and Gets a Probably Fatal Wound.

LINCOLN, April 25.—(Special.)—A shooting sensation is reported from Murdock, a small town on the line of the Rock Island railroad about fourteen miles north of this city. It appears that Otto Renwanz, 20 years of age, and a nephew of Frederick Schewe, a farmer, went to Mr. Schewe's house after the family had retired and attempted to frighten the young women of the household. Schewe went out into the yard with a shotgun and fired one shot in the air. At this young Renwanz started to run. Schewe, not knowing who the intruder was, ordered him to stop. At this time Mr. Schewe was accompanied by his son, who had the gun and, on command of his father, young Schewe fired into Renwanz's back, making an ugly wound. His recovery is doubtful.

In the district court today Mrs. Franklin H. Wilson asked to be restored to her maiden name of Alice Pierson. The petition for divorce alleges that Wilson, who is now in the Missouri penitentiary, has two wives. Mrs. Vasa E., the present applicant for divorce, claims to be the wife of Wilson. She was married to him in 1885, after graduating from the Omaha law school. She claims to have been married to him in 1885, after graduating from the Omaha law school. She claims to have been married to him in 1885, after graduating from the Omaha law school.

It now looks as if the question of commission houses employing traveling solicitors, which has been agitating the several live stock exchanges for some time, will soon be settled. Following the following amendments to rule 5, section 6, of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange, was posted on the bulletin board, and the adoption of which will be voted on at an early meeting of the exchange:

After January 1, 1897, there shall be no solicitor or agent employed by any individual member of a firm or corporation belonging to this exchange, who is not a stockholder in the exchange. No stock exchange shall employ a solicitor or agent who is not a stockholder in the exchange. No stock exchange shall employ a solicitor or agent who is not a stockholder in the exchange.

Then Read What Mr. Davis and Mr. Spangler Say Regarding Their Personal Experience—Here is Strong Evidence.

Physiology teaches that the numerous glands of the stomach throw out during twenty-four hours fourteen pints of gastric juice—about two gallons—with which to digest the food we eat. In chronic catarrh of the stomach, then, upon a lining of which the secreting glands become diseased and depraved and do not fulfill their proper functions, hence the food lies heavy on the stomach and ferments instead of being digested. Food gases arise therefrom, which distend the stomach, causing weight, tightness, flatulence, bloating and discomfort. The heart and lungs are enervated upon by the diaphragm, which impedes their natural action, hence we have fluttering or palpitation, and in consequence of disturbed circulation and respiration, coldness of extremities, depression of spirits (nervousness), feeble pulse, dizziness, shortness of breath, hot and cold flashes, etc.
