Favorable Weather and Reports of Eng Damages the Features. WHEAT MAY BE BOUGHT BY THOSE STORIES Only a Moderate Speculative Business in That Cereals Reported During the Session of the Day.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Favorable weather reports and damage by insects held the wheat market steady today. July closed unchanged at 65c. Corn and oats were firm and unchanged. Improved on comparatively light receipts of hogs.

There was only a moderate speculative business in wheat, the market ruling dull a considerable portion of the session. The market early was rather hesitating, due to the rains in both the spring and winter wheat districts, one about offsetting the other for a while, the good buying by those who started at a moderate uptick which was not well maintained. The Price Current was rather bullish in this week's crop summary, and there were not a few big stories in from Michigan and Indiana, accompanied by samples of the growing crop, which had some influence. The crop showed to much extent in the northwest. The receipts here are fairly liberal. The west had good rains and more indicated. Exports were small and disappointing. The price of wheat for parts of the west and the northwest did not rise materially. The market early was rather hesitating, due to the rains in both the spring and winter wheat districts, one about offsetting the other for a while, the good buying by those who started at a moderate uptick which was not well maintained.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 7,000 bushels; corn, 150,000 bushels; oats, 100,000 bushels. The leading futures rates are as follows: Wheat No. 2, 65c; No. 3, 64c; No. 4, 63c; No. 5, 62c; No. 6, 61c; No. 7, 60c; No. 8, 59c; No. 9, 58c; No. 10, 57c; No. 11, 56c; No. 12, 55c.
