BACON OPPOSES BONDS.

Mr. Bacon, democrat of Georgia, was then coognized for a speech supporting the resolution prohibiting the further issue of bonds without specific authority from congress. Mr. Bacon urged that congress should recongress adjourned without such a repeal, then it was justly chargeable with approving the law, as it had the power to disap-prove it. If more bonds were issued con-gress would be further chargeable with approving such issues if it failed to make them impossible. It was a serious blow to the amount to which the public debt would be increased. Every such bond issue, said he, weakened the loyalty of the people and made them more subservient to ore man power. acrimony at the meeting of the committee on the state of the church this afternoon. A report upon sociological work written by Dr. William Quayle of St. Louis was pre-sented to be the voice of the church on the subject. It was long and a wide departure from the usual formal report. It called forth some decided criticism and was defended by Dr. Quayle. After a long discus-sion it was returned to the subcommittee for revision. The committee took up the suggestion that the term of probation be shortened, but the committee decided in fawor of retaining the present term of six months.

The committee on itineracy considered another measure calculated to lessen the authority of the bishops. It was that the con-sent of the cabinet of presiding elders be had before a bishop can transfer a minister from one conference to another. The committee declined to recommend the change.
