DURHAM BULL IN THE COURTS AGAIN History of a Picture Painted on Dead Walls. Yesterday morning the United States court Judge Shrank took the case of Ida L. Baker against the New York Life Insurance company, for $5,000 damages on an unpaid policy, under advisement. The next case taken up for consideration was that of Shriver against the R. J. Gunning company of Chicago. The story has been often repeated, as the case has been in the courts for years, but briefly it is as follows: Shriver and the Gunning people owned a joint interest in the wall of the Shriver establishment on Douglas street. Gunning painted a Durham bull, a sign, upon this wall and Shriver obliterated it. The Gunning relatives then sign and Shriver "reobliterated." This process was gone through with divers times when the Gunnings finally had Shriver arrested and sued him. They got judgment for $700. In turn, Shriver sued the Gunnings for $25,000 damages for false arrest. The first trial resulted in favor of the defendant, but Shriver got a new trial, which was begun yesterday morning.

After hearing the testimony Judge Shrank took the case from the jury and instructed them to return a verdict to the effect the plaintiff had a right to put his sign on the building and keep it there.

THE CONTINENTAL'S BIG SALE

It Opens the Eyes of the Most Skeptical Summer Suit Shoppers.

SELLING AT LESS THAN ACTUAL COST

Nearly 5,000 Men's and Boys' Suits to Be Sold—The Finest Suits in the World for Less Money Than Suits Were Ever Before Sold For.

The purchase of the entire surplus of men's and boys' summer suits, from the great house of Michaels, Stern & Co., is proving the biggest drawing card the Continental Clothing Co. has ever had. It is one of the biggest deals in clothing ever consummated at one throw. Michaels, Stern & Co. were anxious to dispose of all this year's make as soon as possible, and this offer, coming from the Continental just at the right time, enables them to do so at once. The making of new suits for the winter's output. While the money consideration runs up into thousands, the actual price paid is about fifty cents on the dollar.

Some idea of the magnitude of this purchase may be gained from the fact that there are represented 3,000 men's suits, 1,200 boys' suits and 600 short pants suits. This purchase is in any way, but constructed in the bankrupt or even cheap line, as the clothing represented is made by one of the highest grade manufacturers of the world, whose clothing, all experts concede, is in the very essence of perfection; as for instance, there isn't a five dollar man's suit in the whole lot, although there are suits to be sold for less than one-half as much. This sale must be held separate and distinct from anything ever put on Omaha counters, for the suits are all high class, both in the making and the materials. It is this huge deal was made for spot cash it is absolutely necessary to conduct the sale on the same lines, for fifty cents on the dollar, in order to see the goods to take at once be struck with their vastly superior quality. On another page will be noticed the Continental's announcement.

Thurston Rifles Making Great Preparations for the Event. The military tournament to be given at the Charles Street park next Friday evening is attracting no little attention. These gala military festivals have been given annually by the Thurston Rifles for the past three years, and every effort is being exerted to make this occasion the grandest military spectacle ever seen in Omaha. In this the companies composing the High school cadet battalion will give their annual competitive drill under the direction of their commandant, Lieutenant Penn of the Second United States Infantry. The fact that Omaha proud citizens hold the title of the United States championship in the infantry and artillery classes, will take part is sufficient to attract many visitors from the surrounding towns, as well as a host of admirers.

The Rifles will also give a medal for the best drilled cadet in the Omaha battalion. The individual drill for the Thurston Rifles will be an interesting feature. Last May the medal was given by Senator Thurston to be competed for monthly, and the competitor winning the medal three consecutive months shall possess the same. As yet no member has won the trophy even twice in succession, thus showing the rivalry and high degree of proficiency that exists in the ranks.

The Omaha Guards, Dodge Light Guards and High school cadets of Council Bluffs and the Thurston Rifles will give their annual drill. The cadets are one of the best drilled companies in the west, and were they to attend an interstate drill it is safe to say that they would stand high in the list of companies that have won fame on the drill field.

A grand street parade of the local and visiting militia will precede the festivities. It will be under the personal supervision of Lieutenant VanLiew of the Second United States Infantry.

LAND GRANT SUITS NOT DISMISSED. General Manderson Hopes for an Early Adjudication. General Manderson said yesterday morning that he was still in communication with the Interior department at Washington regarding the final settlement of the land grant suits, which concern about 3,500 owners of property along the Burlington road in this state.

Attorney General Harmon and Secretary Hoke Smith will agree to the abandonment of the suits providing the B. & M. will pay all the costs of the cases. General Manderson has refused to do this, but is still at work, hoping for an abandonment of the suits on other terms.

FOR AN OMAHA SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

Local Teachers Determine on the Organization of an Institution.

Last Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. building a meeting was held at which the preliminary steps were taken to form an institution which will probably be known as the Omaha College of Art. It proposes to teach all branches of music, including composition and orchestration, education and dramatic art, painting and drawing, and the French, German and Italian languages. The following persons have signified their intention to become members of the faculty: Mrs. Cotton, Mrs. Muehlenberg and Miss Terry; Messrs. Gahn, Cahn, Albert, Adelmann, Long, Taber, Sutrinis, Short, Wallace, Moore, Chatelet and Deiser; several names will be added to these. At the meeting Mr. Homer Moore discussed the advisability of organizing a school which should draw its Omaha pupils from neighboring towns and towns, and which should be in a position to furnish talent for concerts and other entertainments. V. O. Strickler, who followed, explained to the musicians the legal conditions under which they could become an organization, and as the representative of the Woman's club made some very valuable remarks regarding a possible co-operation present, and as the representative of the college, and gave assurance of the club's hearty interest in its success.

A committee of five was appointed to select the site for the school, and to report at the next meeting, which will be held next Thursday evening at the Millard hotel.

AMUSEMENTS.

By reason of the leniency of local theater managers, and the fact that heretofore they have escaped without serious loss, a company has been widely prevalent among all the theaters of the city. No such case has ever occurred in this city, and it is not to be repeated. The necessary program arranged with the United States court at once, and he expects that the position of the council will be secured.

Another important matter was brought up. This was in regard to the sale of the $326,000 renewal bonds to J. and W. Seligman of New York. The attorney for the purchasers had been in the city for several days, and as a result of his investigations he practically informed the council that his clients were not prepared to take the bonds under the terms of their bid. He stated that in his opinion the city had a right to issue the bonds, but it was not proper that two sets of bonds should be put out at the same time on the same district. The city had issued the renewal bonds to take up bonds that matured at various times during the present year. According to the position such bonds could only be issued after the bonds which they were designed to replace had been taken up. The council, however, had already issued the entire issue, although the bulk of the old bonds had not yet been taken up. He intimated that he was willing to take the bonds, but that the council should be reduced to some extent.

The entire matter was then referred to the finance committee to report at an adjourned meeting to be held at 2:30 yesterday afternoon.

At that time the committee presented a report in which it was recommended that the proposition made by the representatives of the Seligmans be accepted. This proposition was that the Seligmans should pay the city a premium of $3,000 for the bonds instead of $2,750, as was offered in their original bid. That the whole amount of $326,400 in bonds should be deposited with the fiscal agency of the city in New York. This was rapidly as the old bonds matured the purchasers of the renewal bonds to deposit such a portion of the purchase price as was necessary to take up the old bonds. The city had issued the renewal bonds for the district of $3,000 should be paid after old bonds amounting to $38,000 had matured and been taken up.

The contract embodying this proposition was presented and approved by the council, signed by Mayor Brauch and the other representatives of the city and also by R. C. Patterson, an attorney and legislator, representing J. and W. Seligman. Treasurer Edwards was instructed by resolution to send the entire issue of bonds to the fiscal agency in New York, under the direction of the finance committee. This ended the local deal and both Mr. Patterson and Mr. Delamater were given an opportunity to express their obligations to the council for the treatment they had received.

The members of the council and other city officials say that the contract approved yesterday represents a very fair settlement of the controversy. They declare that while the city receives a premium of $3,000 instead of more than $2,000, the original bid, they are lower by the transaction. This is explained by the statement that if the entire issue was delivered and paid for at the time the city would be compelled to pay 4 1/2 per cent interest on the entire issue while they were COMING EVENTS. A three-night engagement of the actress, Rhea, has been arranged at Boyd's, commencing tonight (Sunday), when she will present a revival of her Napoleonic drama, "Josephine, Empress of the French." On Monday night, when she will appear in "The American Comedian," which she will repeat, while on Tuesday night she will be seen as Nell Gwynne in her play of that name. As a favorite of King Charles II., the actress has been in a character more famous by the chronicles of history. Very few comedies possess the fire and dramatic intensity of Paul Kester's dramatization of the life of the empress. The play, which is the story has been followed closely. Nothing of its original pathos and dramatic possibility has been lost in the transition. Every act ends in an original climax, and the part of the Orange girl, who afterward becomes the great and powerful actress, Miss Rhea, is said to have been the hardest she has won on former occasions. She makes the part that of a lively, innocent girl, whose one desire is to become an actress. When through the fact of the entire matter is granted, Nell Gwynne becomes the favorite of the hour. She uses her power to defeat the schemes of a lord chief justice and others of the court, and in the end, in her own end through the downfall of others. The art of the actress is shown in her scene with the king in the first act, and in her impersonation of the lord chief justice.

Ever since John Drew's hit in "The Squire of Damocles" which he presented at the Garrick theater, he and Charles Wyndham who is playing "The Squire of Damocles" in London, have been exchanging personalities. Mr. Wyndham has been trying to arrange for an American tour under Charles Frohman's management, but his London theater has demanded a lot of his attention; and when, again, Mr. Drew made successful in the very plays which he would have chosen for American representation, "The Bunch of Shag" and "The Squire of Damocles." Mr. Drew will be seen here at the Creighton in a repertoire which will include "Christopher, Jr.," considered his greatest success, opening Thursday, May 28.

A change in the program for the present week has been made at Creighton Music Hall. Among the new attractions to the popular resort are: Kinzo, the premier of jesters; Julia Glover, Leola Mitchell, Emma Weston and the Brothers Diantas. The usual performance will be given tonight.

Between now and the close of the season Boyd's theater will offer some most excellent attractions, among them being Ellen Beach Young, Eugene O'Houlihan, John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan in "The Wicklow Postman," "Creation" by the Swedish Oratorio society, Primrose and West's minstrels, and Roland Reed. There are two other first class attractions that are among the possibilities, due announcement of which will be made.

The two comediettes, "His Toast" and "Per Telephone," which will be presented at Union church on the evening of Friday, the 24th, are among the best of the season's brightest plays of their class. "Per Telephone" having been recommended for production here by no less an authority than Edward Everett Hale in the grand old recent view here, and "His Toast" having made a hit on a former presentation. The casts will include Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. M. Benson, Miss Squires, Mr. Herring and Mr. H. S. Mann.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

New Factor in the Litigation Over the Water Works Plant.

SALE OF THE PROPERTY TO BE ENJOINED

Members of the Council Resolve that the Company Has Forfeited All Rights to the Franchise it Holds.

One of the most important pieces in municipal legislation of the present year was accomplished at a brief special session of the city council yesterday forenoon. It was the adoption of the following resolution, introduced by Councilman Wheeler:

Resolved, That the city attorney be and hereby is directed and instructed to prevent by legal proceedings or otherwise the sale of the water works plant and franchise to any person, firm, company or corporation not having a franchise from the city for the operation of the same.

The only opposition to the resolution came from Hascall, who stated that he was doubtful whether this step was necessary at this time. If it was necessary to protect the interests of the city, he was in favor of it, but he was opposed to taking such a radical step without due consideration. The resolution was then passed and sent to Mayor Brauch, who immediately signed it and returned it to the city clerk.

City Attorney Connell says that in his opinion the position taken by the city is perfectly tenable. He now holds that the water works company has forfeited its franchise by its failure to fulfill the provisions of its contract, and that the city can successfully contest its right to dispose of the franchise to any other corporation or individual. The necessary program arranged with the United States court at once, and he expects that the position of the council will be secured.
