Lodge, Robert C. Jordan, Given

At the session of the Masonic grand lodge held yesterday morning the committee on laws presented its report, accompanied by a copy of the laws as revised and brought up to date. The report of the committee was adopted and the committee was given a hearty vote of thanks for the efficient manner in which it had performed the work assigned to it. An amendment to the by-laws presented at the last session of the grand lodge, providing that the per diem of members in attendance upon the grand lodge should be limited to two days, was rejected by the adoption of the report of the committee to which it had been referred. An amendment to the by-laws which had been laid over since the last session was adopted, providing that all master Masons adopted, providing that all master Masons who have been members in good standing for thirty years and who have reached the age of 65 years, may, by a majority vote of the lodge, be placed upon the retired list and shall be exempt from the payment of further lodge dues, and the lodge shall not be liable to the grand lodge for dues on such retired members.

for dues on such retired members.

A striking feature of the morning segsion was the reception tendered the venerable Robert C. Jordan, the first grand master of Masons in the state of Nebraska. He was escorted into the lodge room by a special committee appointed by the grand master for that purpose and was received with the highest honors known to the Masonic fraternity, after which he was given the seat of honor beside the grand master. Owing to the physical weakness of the venerable past grand master he requested Grand Master Wilson to express his thanks to the grand lodge for the honor just conferred upon him. The grand master addressed the lodge in a most feeling and eloquent manner, referring to the service rendered the fraternity in this jurisdiction by the venerable brother, who had been made grand master of Nebraska over thirty-nine years ago, and who had been a member of the fraternity over fifty years. The address of the grand master was a touching tribute to the simple life of the venerable brother at his side and at its conclusion the
