After it was decided what should be decided what s the meeting lost no time in getting down to practical work. Committees were appointed to take charge of every feature of the demonstration. Victor Bender, E. F. Clark and Dr. J. H. Cleaver were appointed as the committee on program. Colonel D. B. Dailey was appointed marshal with power to chose his own aides. M. F. Rohrer, E. A. Troutman and A. S. Hazelton were ap-pointed a committee on speakers and instructed to go to Omaha and invite some of the best orators there to come over and make short addresses in connection with well known local speakers. A com-mittee, consisting of Walter Woodward, Dea Patton and Alderman L. M. Shubert, was appointed to provide stands for the speakers and music. I. M. Treynor and Prof. J. H. Simms were made a committee on vocal music and ordered to provide a quartet from the best local talent

ALL THE NOISE POSSIBLE. The question of the best means of making the most noise was discussed, and it was decided that as much noise as possible must be made and that a big display of fireworks was necessary. A committee consisting of George S. Wright, W. H. Lynchard and Henry De Long, was instructed to collect noney and purchase plenty of fireworks and provide ammunition for the military firing. Mayor Carson was asked for an expression of opinion concerning the feasibility of re-questing the merchants to close their places of business after 8 o'clock. He could see o harm in making the request, and thought that if it was generally known the people would do all of their Saturday evening trad-ing before that time or wait until after the stration was over when could be opened again. The stores generally close at 6 o'clock every evening except Saturdays and Mondays. A resolution was passed asking the mayor to issue a proclamation, requesting all business houses to close and inviting the public of Council Bluffs and Omaha generally to participate in the ratification.

If the committees work as rapidly as did the power that created them there will be nothing lacking to make the ratification a A resolution was passed askin all of the committees to meet at 8 o'clock for the purpose of completing the program and arranging the work to be done.

MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE. The committees appointed met at the editorial rooms of the Nonparell at 8 o'clock and arranged the program. All of the members were present, and as many others as could get into the rooms. It was decided that the parade should be headed by Marshal D. B. Dailey and Mounted Aides George S. Mayor Carson issued his proclamation last evening requesting all business houses to close their doors during the carly part of the evening, for the purpose of permitting their employes to take par-in the demonstration.

Another request has been made, which, I is hoped, will be generally observed, and that is for the manipulator of every steam whistle in the city to blow it long and loud promptly at 8 o'clock. A request has been made of the sextons of all the churches in the city to ring the bells at that hour. This noise, added, to the booming of cannon firecrackers, shotguns and anvils, will make a noise that will be heard in Nebraska, and let the world know that Council Bluffs is rejoicing over the glad tidings from Wash-

It came to them in the form of a letter from the commander of the Concord, the ship on which young Lathrop served. Immediately upon receipt of the letter the father began negotiating to have the remains brought home. A large number of influential citizens interested themselves in the matter. The Navy department had as funds with which to trans-port the bodies of deceased sailors, so the matter had to go to congress. Colonel D. B. Thousands who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla testify to its great merits as a purifier of the blood, its powers to restore and sharpen the appetite and promote a healthy action of the digestive organs. Thus it is, not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does that tells the story and constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Why not take Hood's Sarsaparilla now? There is probably no kind of designing that requires so much natural skill as in the building of a bonnet or hat. One has to have a sculptor's genius for form, the artistic eye for color combination, a thorough knowledge for style and orginality of application. No wonder women make so much of the spring bonnet, and why to the masculine mind such large prices are paid for the dainty but im-

A Hundred Miles a Day and Back the Next Was Easy for Them. Dr. Marc Legingston of this city has had ome curious experiences on the western border, relates the San Francisco Call. He has been interested in mining both in the northern and scuthern portions of the state. He owns the old Campbell mine, now better known as the San Felipe mine, up the Colorado river, some distance from Yuma.

my experience down there," said the doctor, "was the extraordinary endurance which I witnessed of those Indians along the river. I refer to the Yumas. We used to employ them in the mine.
"Why, I have seen those great, strapping barbarians take their shovels and press them down into the rock with just their hands—never using their feet at all—and they would keep it up, go right along that way. The strangest thing about it was the rock was hard, too. They might have done it in the sand easy enough. Any-body could do that readily, but to work that way right in the hard rock was something to me entirely novel and in nature of a revelation.

There is another thing that those Indians used to do that I never saw equaled or heard of being equaled. They used to, when we wanted to send any of them down the river for the mail to Yuma, go right out to the river and jump in; sometimes there would be twenty to thirty of them, and they just jumped in and floated down. Didn't seem to bother them at all. They didn't swim-seemed to stay right in the current and float while it bobbed them

"They made the whole trip down, a distance of twenty miles, in about three-quarters of an hour. Then they'd start with the letters and come back up and make the round trip inside of two hours, the whole forty miles.

"The Colorado river at the San Felipe mine is about as wide as the Sacramento mine is about as wide as the Sacramento is at Sacramento. It is a big, sweeping stream, with a swift-rushing current. How the Indians kept themselves up I don't know, but they did it. That is their way of going down to Yuma. Of a Saturday, when they would quit work, every Indian we had would jump into the river and float to Yuma. to Yuma.

"The trip back is no easy trip, either A good deal of it is up very rugged heights. They are not so high, though, as they are difficult of access. The Indians are extremely useful in earrying ore. They thought nothing of putting on their shoulders without any help a 200-pound sack of ore. They did the work of horses and ore. They did the work of horses and mules, and could pack like mules.
"But those Cocopah Indians down on the south near the gulf, so far as speed is concerned, don't take a second place with anything there is on the upper Colorado. In 1894 Senator Fair was down there. He was interested in a lot of land—about 1,000,000 acres—and he went down to see it and set breased up his health not being good. get braced up, his health not being good. That is a very hot, dry climate, which makes it one of the best places for the cure of consumption that I know of. Well, he used to utilize the Indians to bring up our mail from Yuma and such other things as he stood in need of from time to time. The Cocopahs are all giants. There are none of them that are not six feet high, and there are lots of them that are more than that-great big fellows. The first time Senator Fair saw these Indians running he was struck with surprise. 'Why, look at them,' he said. 'Did you ever see anything like They went with a swinging run and kept it up all day in the terrible dry heat

"The distance down to Yuma from our place was called 100 miles, in round figures, but it was about ninety-five. The Indians would go down one day and come back the next, and come back in good shape, too, and running right along. Didn't seem a bit tired. Why, you talk of men of the Styrian Alps and the runners in other parts. of the world. I never saw mountaineers or plainsmen that could begin to approach these people.

The Order of the Golden Lion was formed in 1888, says the Boston Globe, and was one of the many that thrived at that time and for some years after in Massachusetts. In December, 1891, Mr. Hale was appointed receiver of the order to wind up its affairs for the good of the certificate holders. After looking into the affairs of the order After looking into the affairs of the o Mr. Hale decided to sue the officers what he considered misappropriation of the order's funds, in the form of excessively large salaries. dent; O. W. Newton, supreme vice presi-dent; Edwin W. Brown, supreme secretary; William E. Milk, supreme treasurer; George O. Thurston, supreme chaplain; Frank I. Brown, supreme marshal, and Charles E. Stanwood, supreme sentinel. The action was a joint one and set forth two counts. The first one was of tort, and alleged that the defendants "wrongfully conspired and agreed together with the executive committee, composed of themselves, and fixed and allowed excessive and unreasonable salaries to themselvee" for a period of ten months in 1891 as follows: Sawyer, salary, $6,162.65, services $95: Newton, salary $5,902.64, services $397.46; E. W. Brown, $6,700.98, services $560.40; Milk, $5,902.64, services $560.40; Milk, $5,902.64, services services $65; Thurston, $5,902.64, services $216.87; F. I. reasonable, excessive ani illegal," and suit was brought against the men jointly for the full amount with interest from November 1891. No service was made upon W. O Newton, he having died.

The second count is in contract, and al-leges that the men owe the receiver the amount stated in the first count. Ruling on the matter of salaries Auditor Warren reported:

"I find that a liberal allowance for the services of president would be $3,000 a year, for the vice president $1,000, for the secretary $2,000, and for the treasurer $1,500; that the marshal, sentinel and chaplain were amply paid by the sums that chaplain were amply paid by the sums that they drew, apart from salaries voted, and that the officers named as entitled to salaries at all were not legally justified in drawing for any other services above such salaries. In reviewing the evidence from which he comes to this decision, Mr. Warren says

some sharp things about the men who "ran" the United Order of the Golden Lion.

He says he found the records of the order badly kept, their "confesion and paucity being very suggestive for a corporation dealing with the arge sums referred to."

The report states that it appears defendants bought out the order from from the men who started it, for $100. On January 8, 1891, the new executive committee met and voted that salaries be as follows: President, vice president, treasurer, chaplain, marshal and sentinel, $15 weekly; secretary

"I think the most remarkable thing in my experience down there," said the doctor, In the business to warrant such an increase of salaries in vix days. "The business was trivial," the report mates. were dealing in futures as to their salaries." The actual business done by the order was

'extravaganty paid for in clerk hire and commission," it goes on. "The evidence showed that of $57,434 received during the remarkable administration, the members got but $10,410, while $44,970 disappeared, either to those men as commissions, or to agents employed by them."

Further on the report states: "This was certainly doing business on a scale of extraordinary liberality for the officers, and is utterly inconsistent, in my mind, with honest dealing. The whole thing appears to me to be vitated with fraud, and I am of the opinion that in its general features it to these men as commissions, or to agents

Late Senator Stanford's Interest in Flying Machines.
"The accounts of the results of the experiments with Prof. Langley's aeroplane or flying machine have already turned the minds of many inventors in that direction." said an official of the patent office to the Washington Star man, "and as a result we have had a number of applications for copies of the drawings of the many flying machines that have been filed in the office It is not generally known, but it is a fact that the late Senator Leland Stanford of California was a firm believer in the utimat success of a flying machine, and he invested a great deal of money in experiments made by others. He took no stock, however, in flying machine which had to be carried by balloons, or which could only travel high up in the air. What he wanted was a machine that would fly along not over fly or ten feet from the ground, so that, as he explained it, a person need not run the risk of being pitched out of a balloon arrange-ment a half mile up in the air.

"For several years he had three engineers of distinction in his employ at work on his ideas of a machine, among them being St. Gorringe, the naval officer who brought the Obelisk over from Egypt to the Central park in New York. He also employed Captain Eads of Louisiana jetty and ship rail-way fame in that connection. He was never atisfied, though, with the experiments, for the reason that they did not prove sufficient to justify him in having a flying machine "During the latter years of his life he vas so much engaged with other matters that he did not give the subject much of his personal attention, but he always took pleasure in furnishing money to others who desired to make experiments in that direc-tion. One of his theories was that solar heat might be used in the propulsion of a dying machine, but he was never able to satisfy himself how it could be done. His main desire, however, was that the machine should fly low, and he preferred that the experiments should be made over a mountain or other high place. He had no confidence whatever in balloons or balloon arrangements of any kind."

CARELESSNESS.

Often Causes No End of Suffering. Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the com-monest diseases and one of the most obsti-nate. People have it for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. Carelessness causes no end of suffering. Carelessness about so simple a thing as piles has often caused death. Hemorrhages occur from no apparent cause and loss of blood causes death. Hemorrhages occur during surgical treatment, often causing death.
Piles are simple in the beginning and easily cured. They can be cured even in the worst stages, without pain or loss of the worst stages, without pain or loss of blood, quickly, surely and completely. There is only one remedy that will do it—Pyramid Pile Cure.

YOU MIGHT JUST AS WELL

Try to drive a hog through a certain hole in a fence as to help some people by trying to educate their tastes to something better than they have been used to. They won't see it. Even if you prove to them that it's the best they won't be convinced. They seem to think that the minute you make "a talk" about the superiority of one cigar over others in competition that it's simply a case of "bunco steering" for gain. But this isn't so with all. It's only a few, comparatively. We're not complaining. There are thousands of men who have grasped the opportunity of bettering themselves by smoking our "Sultana," Queen of all Cigars-glad to know that a eigar of such exception il qualities was recommended to them. Most men don't need much urging when they fully understand all the benefit and de light that comes from smoking our peerless "Sultana."
