Lottie Jensen, alias Fadden, has been ar-rested several times of late for disturbing the peace. She was recently released from the insane asylum. She owns a house near the fair grounds, occupied by a family named Taylor, who refuse to pay rent or vacate, and they promised to send her back to the asylum. This led to quarrels and arrest. The cases have been dismissed and Taylors ordered to move.

John Taylor, who caused the arrest of the two little sons of Mrs. Willfone, was ar-rested yesterday morning at an early hour upon a warrant charging him with attempted outrage upon Mrs. Willione's 11-year-old daughter. The charge was inquired into by Justice Vien. The evidence did not sustain the grave charge, but showed that he had sought to debauch the child by indecent exposure of his person and the most vile lan-guage. He was held to answer for the latter Commissioner Steadman heard the evidence in the case of Woods the confidence man, yesterday, and held him to await further Investigation. The police fear that it will be nearly impossible to make a case against him strong enough to hold him upon a charge that will send him to the peniten-tiary if convicted. A change of venue was taken in the case filed against him in the city police court, and Justice Walker will determine whether or not he has been guilty of gambling.

Frank Jackson, accompanied by his father and brother walked into the district court room vesterday morning and announced that he was ready to be tried upon the charge having been implicated in the murder "Texas" Baker. Jackson was expected on the day previous, and his failure to come on the day previous, and his failure to come in accordance with his promise, was a bitter disappointment to his attorney. He had succeeded in keeping away from the officers after his indictment by the grand jury, and his attorney had announced that on the day set for his trial he would be on hand. Money had been sent him to buy his ticket. but the amount was only $3, and when he arrived at Norfolk Junction, he had spent 50 cents of that. He tried to board a train, but was put off by the conductor, who cruelly refused to carry him, although Jack-son explained the circumstances. His attorneys declare that Jackson walked fifty miles to reach Council Bluffs. At Fremont he managed to catch a fruit train and a sympathetic brakeman, and by that means arrived in Council Bluffs at midnight. The forencon was spent in selecting a jury. which was not completed at the noon ad-

A jury was secured during the afternoon and examined before adjournment. Their that Jackson voluntarily surrendered him-self and made such a heroic struggle to reach the city on time will go a long way in creating a favorable impression on the jury, and with the rather weak evidence introduced by the state, his acquittal seems to be a foregone conclusion.

> The meeting of the city council as a committee of the whole last night was mainly devoted to the oft attempted solution of the controversy between the city and the electric lighting company over the deficient by the system of continuously testing the lamps with the new volt meter. The heat in the council chamber was intense, and the aldermen sat around collarless and in a their shirt sleeves, and went into the details of a squabble that has been red hot since last January. There is a difference of only $56 between the council and the npany on the short voltage. The question of the number of hours the lamps were out was not in dispute, and an honest effort was made last night to settle the voltage question amicably. The dispute arose over the city electrician's method of testing the lamps. The test was made by applying the meter to two lamps, and crediting all others on that circuit with the same voltage. The electric people contended that this method of testing was illegal, and warned the city that any attempt made to cut the company's bill upon estimates of shortage obtained in this manner would be resisted in the ourts. George F. Wright was present in the interest of the company, and he managed the campaign in such a way that all elements of discord that had been introduced by the of Alderman Brown were eliminated and the company and the aldermen were put in good humor and in excellent condiion to settle the question. Several propositions were made, combining compromi-on each side, and it was finally agreed settle with the company by paying $62.38 of the $190 held back from previous bills in dispute. This includes both outage and short voltage. The council felt that the agitation had resulted in greatly increasing Case on Trial at Des Moines Involv-the efficiency of the lights, and the discussions had been favorable to the city's in-terests. It was also agreed that the tests should be continued by the city electrician, with orders to report to the city ompany all defective lamps, and if they were not repaired at once, the company

The question of the purchase of a pressure gauge to test the water fire pressure was discussed, but the debate was quickly terminated by the offer of Manager Hart of the water company to place an ordinary pressure register in the marshal's office, or any of the engine houses, and to do so without any cost whatever to the city. As the gauge the council contemplated purchasing was to cost $100, and the one of-fered by the water company would cost nothing, the proposition was promptly accepted.

The gauge will be located where it can be accessible to the police, and a record of the pressure at every fire kept.

The question of making a test of the water works was brought up and discussed in a friendly spirit. George F. Wright went over all the dissentions between the water cor pany and the city and read selections from literature on the subject from the date of the passage of the ordinance and the making of the present contract until the supreme court ruled that the proper construction of the contract only required the com-pany to provide a fire pressure that would throw six streams 100 feet high. He gave the council a great deal of in-formation that was entirely new to the memthat water company was willing to make a test at any time, but insisted that the test must be the one provided by the contract and affirmed by the supreme court, and not an unfair and impartial one. There could be no difference of opinion about the conditions of the test, and whenever the council notified the company that a test was desired and would be. honorable manner the company would make it and abide by the results. The talk was well received and paved the way for a solution of the controversy that Alderman Casper has provoked. No date was fixed for the test, but it is probable that one will

During aposthe existence of such an order of church workers. Phebe, the deaconess, is spoken of by St. Paul. From that period until the time of Constantine the order grew rapidly in numbers and influence, but was gradually overcome by the spirit of monasticism and became extinct, remaining so for more than 1,000 years. It was revived in Germany and in 1885 the first deaconess of the Methodist church was ordained in this country They now have fifty-one homes and 590 dea concesses. Deaconesses are all trained women. OVERTON CITIZENS GIVEN A PRIGHT. REVERSES JUDGE RAMSAV

Litigation.

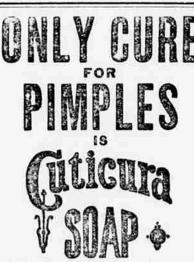

Another Chapter in a Cass County Case Involving Many Points of Interest in the State.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., June 17. - (Special. -The news of the decision of the suprem court reversing Judge Ramsay of this dis trict in the State Bank of Murdock case ousting the receiver, caused quite a ripple of excitement among the legal featernity of this city and the community generally. This case has a peculiar interest, inasmuch as i been no damage reported other than is the first tried before Judge Ramsay car ried up to the supreme court, and for th fact that Judge Ramsay's political opponed HOLDREGE, Neb., June 17.—(Special Tel- in the election last fall, ex-Judge S.

A little over a year ago H. R. Neitzel, ther an accountant in Ohio, negotiated with President G. H. Weldeman of the State Bank of Murdock, this county, for the pur chase of most of Weldeman's stock in said arge frame barn of Swan Anderson, near bank, and the deal was consummated last June and Neitzel came on here, was elected cashier and manager and took entire charge blown off the foundation, together with the of the bank, Last January Weideman wanted barns of Frank Swanson and C. J. Mag- to oust Neitzel and went about it in a peculiar manner, according to the addavits of reputable men filed in the district court. He then tendered his resignation as president in February, which was accepted by Neitzel, who with Weideman and Robert Lyons of Havelock formed the board of di rectors. The State Banking Board was then requested to send a representative to in vestigate the bank's affairs, which was done, and the report stated that the affair were in such shape as to make a receiver ship unnecessary. Notwithstanding Robert Lyons applied to District Judge Ramsay to appoint a receiver, and ex-President Welde can came into court as president to waive the necessary notice. D. M. Onackenbush of the Greenwood bank was made receiver, and while Cashier Neitzel was absent in this city, trying to find what the trouble was Quackenbush and Weldeman got into the for about an hour. The last few days have been very warm, and everything has been bank and took away the movable property of the bank, together with Neitzel's private papers. It was also caused to be circulated

At that time, however, Neitzel had em-ployed Hon, John A. Davies and Judge S M. Chapman on his own behalf and of a majority of the stockholders and the case was fought in the district court, but to no effect. Judge Ramsay refusing to vacate his former order. The case went to the supreme court, was advanced on the clocket on the ground of public importance, argued and submitted ten days ago and reversed yesterday.

The supreme court, by Commissioner Ryan, says: "We cannot countenance an "We cannot countenance an arrangement between associate managing officers whereby it would seem that their own mismanagement must be treated as grounds justifying the placing of the bank test of interested stockholders. The appointment of this receiver was not at the instance of a creditor of the bank; neither was i upon the suggestion of the State Banking Board. * * * * The official relation which Mr. Lyons sustained to the bank and the manner in which the order was ob tained did not entitle him to have the bank wound up by a receiver regardless of the wishes or interest of other stockholders of
