committee was called to order by Mr. Wattles after which Mr. Lininger was elected chairman. Mr. Wattles briefly stated the problem which confronted the committee and that $250,000 was the least possible amount that would answer as the Comaha subscription. Mr. Rosewater thought the amount should be placed at $250,000 with a provision that only 10 or 15 per cent of amount subscribed should be assessed during 1896. He asserted that it would not do for the exposition associa-tion to depend on any direct donation from city, county or state. Under the law the city county or state. Under the faw the city could make a maximum levy for park purposes and devote the proceeds to the improvment of the exposition arounds in care they were located inside the city The county could make a libera appropriation for an exhibit and so could the state, but for the election of the main buildings and the preliminary expenses of the meeting of the National Educational as-the undertaking the funds must be proin another way.

Mr. Lininger suggested that in his opinion the entire amount could be raised in twenty-four hours by a popular subscription. He advocated the designing of a holiday for that tions were unanimously adopted: purpose, appointing a committee of 500 or 1,000 members to be distributed in the various voting precincts and bring the peopl out to the booths to give subscriptions just as the voters were brought out on election day. This plan, however, was not favorday, This plan, above to ably received. It was argued that it might be well enough to obtain a popular subscription after a time, but the big subscriptions must come first. The money would be raised a good deal easier after the men who were heavy property owners had signed for large amounts.

After a prolonged discussion it was decided that the committee should recom-mend the appointment of the finance committee. This was originally composed of twenty-one members, but was finally ex-tended to twenty-five. The recommendations of the committee will be submitted another meeting which will be held next Monday night.

OMAHA, June 16 .- To the Editor of The fair. Bee: I read with pleasure the article in ALL ASKED TO JOIN THE PARADE. The Bee of November 25. You will remember that I had the honor to be one of the delegates to the congress at its session in St. Louis, November, 1894, and our delegation at that time saw an opportunity to secure the next session of the congress for this city. I, as chairman of the delegation, telegraphed to this effect to Mayor Bemis, and his answer came t secure the session if possible and Omah would royally welcome the congress. Wit this reply, and the support of Hon. W. Bryan, who had many strong friends in the congress. Omaha secured the prize. I lowing this, and during the months August and September last year, it was necessary to interest our citizens that the arrangements might be effected to properly receive and entertain the congress at its coming session in November following. Our people were very much interested at that time in the success of the state fair and the financial burdens that it imposed.

The Commercial club besitated to assume the responsibility of meeting the expense necessary to entertain the congress, and would shift the burden of this upon the mayor, who had extended the invitation, and the individuals instrumental in bringing the congress here. The prospect at this time looked rather gloomy for this city to be able to fulfill its promise to properly entertain the congress. Judge Bradley, head of its executive committee for Nebraska, and my self having the honor to be vice president for this city and state, called upon his honor, Mayor Bemis, to consider the situa-tion. I suggested at this conference that a letter of invitation be sent to 100 or 150 of our leading business men and citizens, setting forth the object, interest and importance of this session of the congress. suggested as a drawing card the idea of a Transmississippi exposition; that as our people were deeply engroused in the state fair enterprise that it would be ripe to suggest an exposition of this kind, and as Omaha would entertain the congress at its coming session, it might secure the loca-tion of the same. This suggestion was promptly acted upon and the mayor stated that if I would draft the letter he would have it printed and mailed. This I accepted and enclose you a copy of the original draft which was mailed. For the first time in the history of Douglas county one of the great franchised corporations has been placed in the same the support of the county government. This "I see you are just now preparing to was accomplished by the county commis> torney Morris, who represented Lyman Richardson. He stated that the complaint filed by Mr. Richardson was based on the general low assessment of both the real and personal property of the water works and personal property of the water works company. The recent proceedings in the foreclosure and sale of the property showed, he said, that the property was valued at $4,000,000, at least, as that was the price for which it was sold whereas the property was assessed at only a little over $100,000, which he thought was entrely out of propertion, as compared with the assessment of private property.

Mr. Richardson was asked by R. S. Hall, the represented the water works company, ow be came to make the complaint against he assessment of the water company. his Mr. Richardson replied that he had made complaint because he thought the made complaint because he thought the property of the company was assessed en-tirely too low and that his own property was assessed altogether too high. Mr. Hall attempted to show by Mr. Richardson that the latter had been urged by Commissioner the latter had been a complaint against the Kierstead to make a complaint against the water company. Mr. Richardson emphat-cally denied this and said he had made cally denied this and said he had made complaint against the assessment of the water company in former years because he had always believed that the property of that corporation had been assessed at a ridiculously low figure, and this opinion had been confirmed by the recent sale of the property. In reply to further questions. Mr. Richardson said he had not compared the valuation of the water works property with that of other corporations because he was not so well acquainted with the property of the other corporations in the city.

RECORD OF APPRAISEMENT. The complainant then introduced in evience a certificate of the clerk of the United States circuit court, certifying that the property of the water company had been appraised, under the recent order of sale, at 500,000, the appraisement being made orll 16. The complainant also introduced evidence the statement issued under date of June 9, by the bondholders' committee, which purchased the property at the foreclosure sale, showing how it was proposed to issue bonds, and also showing the condi-tion of the plant, all of which appeared in The Bee at the time the prospectus was issued, concluding with an estimate of the earning capacity of the plant, which was estimated at $239,000 in 1896, and gradually increasing each year until the sum of $273.000 was estimated to be the earning capacity 1890.

alled as a witness by the complainants le testified that he had made an estimate about a year ago of the money which would be required to duplicate the plant of the company as it existed at that time. He had considered that part of the plant in Omaha and Florence, not taking into consideration the portion of the plant in South Omaha. His figures at that time were that the plant could be duplicated for about $2,000.000. Cross-examination did not change Mr. Rosewater's testimony, but drew from him the statement that he had always held the opinion that all franchised corporations in this city were assessed entirely too low, as compared with private property.

Attorney Parish, representing F. H. Davis, presented the case of his client, confining his statements almost entirely to a comparison of the property of his client with the block in Walnut Hill, on which one of the reservoirs of the water company is situated, showing that the residence property of Mr. Davis, situated between Leavenworth street and St. Mary's avenue, just west of wentieth street, was assessed about twenty Twentieth street, was assessed about twenty times as high as the block in Walnut Hill. relative size being considered. This completed the evidence of the com-plainants and Attorney Hall took the stand

He admitted that the appraisement vas high, but said the bondholders had not objected to a high appraisal in order that no question might be raised by the opposi-tion on the ground that the property had been appraised too low, and thereby cause trouble when it was sought to have the sale confirmed. The property had been bid in for $4,000,000, he said, which was about $250,000 less than the mortgage, and about stor one of this amount he said would go to pay off the accumulated indebtedness. making the actual cost of the plant about $3,500,000. DECIDES ON THE RAISE. The members of the county board held a long session behind closed doors during the noon hour yesterday, and when they entered the board room and convened as a board of equalization. Kierstead introduced a long preamble and resolution, setting forth at length the facts brought out at the hearing had in the morning on the com-plaints filed against the assessment of the water company by Lyman Richardson and Fred H. A P Marble formerly superintendent of the Omaha city schools has been strongly recommended by leading educators for the schools in New York city. From reports received from there it appears likely he will get the place, though there are a large firms returning them in lots of several thousand at a time. The clerks who have to count them say it is all gross carelessness, and they point to the way in which the envelopes are returned some plack to back and others folded and twisted into every possible shape. All this means extra work to the clerks.

The envelopes are redeemed in all cases work to the clerks.
