LIBERALS WIN IN CANADA

Roman Catholics Desert Ministerialists in the Elections.

LAURIER GIVEN A GOOD MAJORITY

Every Precinct in the Dominion, Excent New Brunswick, Turns Against the Retiring Conservative Government_Returns Incomplete.

TORONTO, June 23 .- While the returns for the Dominion election are not all in. they are sufficiently near completion to show a decided defeat for the government. The Roman Catholic vote, upon which the ministry relied, has utterly failed to go confive votes, and which, on the strength of the remedial legislation to which the government is pledged, was expected to go strongly conservative, has wheeled around and given the liberals from twenty to twenty-five majority. In Toronto the fight was a straight turned one as regards the separate schools issue and the aptis earried all four seats by large majorities. Great interest was taken in the flight in Winnipog City between Joseph Martin (liberal), author of the bill abolishing Beparate schools in Manitolsa, and Hugh McDonald, son of Canada's former premier, Sir nate; Robert Moss, Sait Lake City, Utah. John A McDonald, McDonald won, his personal popularity carrying him through. By provinces the returns at midnight show the Consure Libe

The conservatives concede that they have met their Waterloo. OTTAWA, Ont., June 24.—At an early hour this morning returns show the government is badly beaten, and Laurier will have a majority in every province of the Dominion except New Brunswick, His work-ing majority in the new house over all parties will exceed thirty. In New Burnswick Finance Minister Foster has been de-feated, and Minister of Justice Dickey is also behind. The returns from Quebec province show that the province will stand, and Templeman, liberals.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 23.—The result of todays' election in Nova Scotla shows a surprising gain for the liberals. Of the twenty-one seals in the last house they held but five. Of the twenty seats in the next house they will hold eleven, to nine for the conservatives. The biggest surprise was in Cumberland county, which in the last election gave a conservative majority of over 800 and which today not only elected a liberal, but defeated a cabinet minister. Halifax, which the last time elected two conservatives by 1,000 majority, today elected one conservative and one liberal.

He had no opponent and a few moments before the honor was thrust upon him declared he did not want it. He said he was physically unable to lead the fight, and his financial affairs were in bad shape and needed his attention. No sooner had he mentioned his desire to retire from public life than there came an impassioned shout of disapproval, not only from the delegates, but from thouhall. It was a strange convention and will not soon be forgotten. It was in session only a little over five hours. Nearly all the candidates were named by acciamation. There was no strife. There were no acrimonious speeches, save those directed against the enemy. The convention, as had been predicted, came out strongly for free silver and so instructed its delegates atlarge to the national convention. The plat-form was almost diametrically opposite in all its parts to that of the republican party and the 1.065 delegates voted unan-impusly for its adoption.

FROGRESS OF THE CROCKER CASE.

Evidence Which Connects the Wyoming Men with the Murder.

CHEYENNE, June 23.—(Special Telegram.)—In the Crocker murder trial today the case was opened for the prosecution by Attorney J. C. Hamm of Evansten, who outlined to the jury the history of the crime and directed attention to the suspicious circumstances which the evidence would show connected Crocker with the killing and pointed to him as the murderer of Booth. The witnesses examined today were Mrs. Booth and John Wagstaff, an employe of the murdered man. Both told of the finding of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Booth and John Wagstaff, an employe of the murder of Booth's body on the night of the murder of Chicago the footh and graph of the country to prostuding that the cumsters that the cumstress of the people might restore the country to prostuding that the cumsters of the people might restore the country to prostuding that the masses of the people might restore the country to prostuding that the masses of the people might restore the cuntry to prostuding that the might might restore the cuntry to prostuding that the might might restore the cuntry to prostuding that the might might restore the cuntry to prostuding that the might might restore the cuntry to prostuding that the masses of the people might that the masses of the people might tender of the sold and silver, with equal rights of eoinage and full light that the constitution with A. The roll by congressional districts was then called to learn the names selected for farmers and producers had to give with every sum of that the might might restore the country to prostuding the work to man, and as It rends as follows: have been paralyzed and idleness and misery have been spread over the civilized world. With the richest natural resources, with a most industrious, frugal and enterprising people, and with the most abundant harvests, our people are in distress. Three per cent of our population own over one-half of the wealth of this republic and almost the only men who prosper are the bond sharks and the men who fatten off the misery of their country. These are conditions under which republican institutions cannot long endure. We believe in the greatness and particism of the American people; in their energy, industry and thrift, and that such a people, with the unlimited resources of our land, are strong enough to sustain a monetary system without the ail of foreign governments. We believe the benefit of the independence which we gained a hundred yars ago—the war for which was initiated upon a matter of tribute—should not be lost by yielding vassalage to a monetary system preferred by their governments.

We believe the bimetallic standard which has done the work of the world since the dawn of civilization, and which was made the basis of the monetary system by Hamilton and Jefferson, is absolutely necessary at present to the prosperity of mankind; that its re-establishment will check the present business paralysis, will give to the country a safe and honest currency of adequate volume, will restore prices of agricultural commodities, will encourage enterprise and give our people steady and profit able employment. Having learned through bitter experience that Wall street has controlled the financial legislation at Washington, and knowing that every effort will be made to defeat the will of the people, we deem it proper to be explicit in our declarations.

Actuated by the foregoing principles and desiring the prosperity of the people, we deem it proper to be explicit in our declarations.

Actuated by the foregoing principles and desiring the prosperity of the people, we demand the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver as standard money at the ratio of 16 ounces of silver to 1 ounce of gold of equal fineness, with full legal tender power to each metal, without waiting for or depending on any other nation on earth; and the delegates from this convention to the national democratic convention are instructed to use all honorable means to secure a similar declaration by said national convention, and to support only such men for the presidency as are in full and pronounced sympathy with these principles.

We are also opposed to the contraction of the currency by the retirement of any part of the outstanding treasury notes.

Addresses Delivered by General Manderson, John L. Webster, General J. C. Cowin, John N. Baldwin and Senator Thurston,

The nominations of William McKinley. ir., and Carrett A. Hobart were formally ratified by the republicans of Omaha at the Creighton theater last night, Rousing speeches were made by Senator Thurston, John L. Webster, General Charles F. Manderson, General J. C. Cowin and John N. Baldwin of Council Bluffs, and the audience that fairly filled the theater was commendably enthusiastic, considering the close, hot atmosphere. Every reference to Major McKinley was greeted with spontancous applause and the speakers themselves also received enthusiastic recentions.

The Seventh ward band furnished the musical inspiration of the occasion and the stage was appropriately decorated. A large portrait of Major McKinley, draped with the American flag, occupied the center of the stage and a streamer bearing the legend "Nebraska" was hung over the footlight rail. The handsome silk flag presented by Webster to the Webster Republican club occupied a conspicuous position at the right of the stage, while another portrait of Major McKinley stood at the left. The magnificent floral tribute which was presented to Senator Thurston at St. Louis also adorned the stage, and the heavy perfume of the deep bank of flowers was noticeable far out in the audience. The chairs on the stage were occupied by prominent republicans and city and county officials. Among them, exclusive of the speakers, were Judge B. S. Beker, Judge Clinton N. Powell, G. S. Benawa, G. W. Wattles, Beecher Higby, E. Rosewater, Judge G. W. Covell, Richard Smith, Sol Prince, James Allan, E. P. Davis, A. W. He next cutogized Senator Thurston, who occupied a seat in one of the boxes, and the allusion was met by a voiley of handelapping. A reference to General be Cowin and Peter Jausen also aroused the rowd to the applauding point.

Mr. Webster drew a graphic picture of various other personalities of the convention and mentioned in eulogistic terms the names of Allison, Reed, Quay and Morton and spoke of the eloquent efforts with which their names were presented. But when the name of McKinley was spoken it was greeted by a tunuit of applause almost un-precedented in national conventions. Speaking of the platform Mr. Webster said that the grandest plank it contained was that which said that if the bondholder could draw his money in gold the workingman who was getting $2 a day should also get his pay in gold. The republican party had always been the friend of the laboring man and now it had renewed more firmly than ever its piedges to protect their interests. It had also promised that the protection of this government should extend out over the sea, that no foreign power should ever plant its fag at Hawaii, that the Nicaraguan canal should be built by America and that a help-ing hand should be extended to the Cuban patriots.
