HOOSIERS ARE FOR SILVER

No Gold Men Will Go to Chicago from Indiana This Year.

BENJAMIN F. SHIVELY FOR GOVERNOR

Democratic Convention at Indianapolis Has an Overwhelming Majority of Electors Who Favor Unlimited Coinage.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 24.—The democratic convention met in Tomlinson hall at 10 o'clock this morning. It is the largest political assemblage in the state in recent years and comprises 1,747 delegates. At least 75 per cent of these represent the ultra free silver wing of the party. Robert C. Bees of Allea county was unanimously chosen president of the convention.

State Chairman Sterling Holt called the convention to order. Every county reported full representation.

At the conclusion of the prayer Chairman Holt requested the delegates to the national convention to assemble in the governor's office at 3 p. m.

For electors-at-large the national democratic convention to be held at Chicago July 7, and to vote for candidates for president and vice president who are known to be in full accord therewith; and Kentucky and Indiana to vote as a unit from the state of Ohio as a unit, as a majority may determine.

REPEASE MORE PLANKS.

The gold men moved to strike out the unit vote plank, but were defeated by a vote of 1,000 to 500.

The minority report was promptly defeated. Another motion to strike out the unit vote plank was made and defeated.

The gold men demanded a call of the counties on the adoption of the majority report.

SENATOR HILL'S WORDY MONEY PLANK

Voluntaneous Declaration for the Maintenance of the Present Standard Until Other Nations Will Cooperate in a Change.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 24.—The democratic state convention that convened this morning and adjourned this afternoon has put itself on record on the financial platform and has selected its delegates to the national convention, but in doing these things it has followed out the predictions made by the report of the financial platform committee...

It was declared that the platform adopted declares that the decline in the commercial value of silver has brought about a disparity between that metal and gold, which can only be adjusted with the co-operation of other nations...

Before the time for the assembling of the convention it was given out that Senator Hill would be chairman of the committee on resolutions. The last of alternatives had also undergone a complete revision, ex-Postmaster General Bissell having decided to go to Chicago as a delegate rather than as an alternate...

The convention was called to order by Chairman Bissell, who introduced Mayor John Boyd Thatcher of Albany as temporary chairman.

In his course of his speech on assuming the chair Mr. Thatcher said: "Facing Chicago we confess that the situation is not without peril. Circumstances, some of which are beyond our control, have been created which we believe to be an enormous financial faith, a faith which has spread alarmingly in the west and south, and which is a faith which is not to be eradicated with the sword, but with the pen and tongue, with many it is a panacea for remedial disorders. Men hold these views through a misconception of economic truths and through 'not understanding economic law, or the times and seasons of the earth. Not everything which is assigned and sealed is valid. The stamp of the government on a piece of silver can have no more effect than the stamp of the world is willing to give for it. It is strange that the very men who have such marvelous faith in the power of their government should seem to have so little sentiment as to its seal."

MIST USE PERJURATION.

"They reverence its seal, but appear to be indifferent as to its execution. If we are to have a silver standard, we must go there to persuade erring brothers and not to quarrel with enemies. The people who hold these strange views are honest, but they are not sane. We must make them see that we are honest as they are and that our views are right. At this late date the silver standard is not a hopeless cause. There should be a campaign of education it is now."

It is the duty of the democracy in the financial question to speak clearly on the financial question. The party of Jefferson and Jackson has always favored the best money in use, the money adopted as the standard by the most enlightened nations of the earth. Neither consideration of expediency nor the selfish interest of those who own silver bullion should lead us to follow a course which would deprive the people of the best money in use. The people have not forgotten that the silver purchase law, bearing the name of an Ohio statesman, was the work of a republican party, and a republican president. That law made of silver a commodity and unfitted it for its true mission, a medium of exchange. Now have the people forgotten that the purpose of that law was the work of a democratic congress and of a democratic president. If it had done no other thing it would have been a landmark in the history of our party should have the gratitude and confidence of the country for thus stopping the course of a 70-cent dollar."

Mr. Thatcher's speech was freely applauded. During the call of the roll of delegates there were enthusiastic and protracted cheers when the name of William H. Bissell was called and a demonstration of almost equal fervor greeted the name of David B. Hill a few minutes later.

The content of the Shepard delegation from Kings county and the Wayne county committee was referred to the creation of a committee. Other contestants were from Queens, Richmond and Wayne counties.

On reconvening the temporary organization was made permanent. The committee on resolutions was organized and the sitting delegates in every case and upon the report being adopted the Shepards from Kings county and the Wayne county committee were called out of the convention affairs from the delegates.

At this point much commotion was created by the appearance of a huge picture of Bland coming down the center aisle of the hall. The picture was carried by a man in a military uniform and moved to the front of the platform to oppose his opponent. Colonel John Danneberg also opposed the endorsement of Bland and favored endorsing a general rogues for the presidency. A general rogues was the president of the state administration and Hogg was the president of the convention.

John Reagan also spoke opposing any presidential instructions at all. Dudley, chairman of the state executive committee, spoke in advocacy of the Bland endorsement. Judge Bramble introduced a resolution stating in effect that Bland was the only man who had the wisdom of Hogg's decision for him at Chicago. Congressman Bailey spoke in advocacy of the resolution and stated explicitly that he favored Bland.

After Mr. Reagan had maintained his stand in the aisle for twenty minutes the convention was still uproarious he voluntarily returned to his seat in the Seventh delegation.

Ex-Congressman John E. Lamb then moved that Mr. Bismarck be heard for five minutes. The chairman ordered the sergeant-at-arms to clear the aisle. They were proceeding to do so when they were opposed by Mr. Bismarck, who was a riotous scene and it looked for a few minutes as though Kilkenny times were at hand.

Here Chairman Hill made a pacifying speech. He said he had no choice in the matter and in the regular order, if it was the will of the convention that Mr. Bismarck be heard, he had no voice against him. Mr. Lamb's motion suspend the rules for five minutes and listen to Mr. Bismarck called for a demand for a roll call.

Mr. Bismarck received two-thirds of the votes and was escorted to the platform.

Mr. Bismarck said he had proposed to offer an amendment for the first resolution of the platform, the declaration announced by the democratic national convention in 1852, holding to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country.

Fifty-Three Cubans Said to Have Been Killed, Though Weyler's Forces Admit Having Several Soldiers Wounded.

(Copyright, 1896, by Foca Publishing Company.) HAVANA, Cuba, June 24.—(Via Key West, Fla.)—(New York World Telegram—Special to The Bee.)—The expedition which landed near Cardenas was led, it is said, by Ricardo Trujillo. The troops which attacked the party were reconnoitering near the Trocena plantation, owned by an American named Luis Roca, who has been an ardent champion for a month without trial on the denunciation of an irresponsible negro, Colonel Gaston commanded. The filibusters were encamped on the Luis Roca plantation. The Spanish official report says they made a desperate resistance, fighting two hours, but finally retreated to the hills. The Spanish forces lost thirty men, including a lieutenant who killed fifty-three Cubans and captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

Two lap-streaked boats of American make have been towed to Mantanzas. It is supposed that they were deserted by the filibusters, who have been pursued by troops to a hill. In one boat was found a handkerchief marked "L. H." A Venezuelan named Jimenez has been arrested at Mantanzas and taken to the hills to photograph the trocha. Zayas, with a large force from the great swamp, will replace Aguilar.

General Bradley Johnson dined Consul General Lee and others tonight.

General Gomez is reported to be moving from the hills to the coast. He has forbidden milk, fruit or charcoal to be taken into Puerto Principe.

Will Publish the Correspondence.

LONDON, June 24.—The St. James Gazette this afternoon says that Great Britain and the United States have agreed to publish simultaneously within a fortnight all the arbitration correspondence exchanged between the two governments. The publication of this matter, it appears, has been delayed while awaiting the arrival in London of Secretary Olney's latest communication, which was handed to Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador at Washington early in the week and which is in the hands of the secretary of the treasury, the most important documents of the series. The St. James Gazette further states that no definite conclusions have been reached, as a change of the present status quo has been made toward a general treaty of arbitration between the two countries.
