CORNELL WINS THE 'VARSITY FOR

Victory of the Freshmen Followed Well by the Ithaca Seniors.

HARVARD COMES IN A GOOD SECOND

Pennsylvania Close Up for Third and Columbia Hopelessly Distanced -World's Record for Four Miles Broken,

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 26 .- The Harvard-Cornell-Columbia-Pennsylvania four-cornered straight-away 'varsity boat race on the Hudson today was mon by Cornell in the phenomenal time of nineteen minutes, twenty-nine seconds. Harvard second. Pennsylvania. Others of the crew were hardly more comnine seconds. Harvard second, Pennsylvania third and Columbia fourth.

Cornell won the freshman race two days ago, in which the order of finishing was, strangely, the same. The race was a hard one for two miles, but after that Cornell had it its own way. Harvard tried its old scheme of tiring out Cornell at the start, without a break of any kind. Pennsylvania If, splashed and rowed badly and Columbia for some unknown reason was not in the race after the first quarter mile. The Harvard crew rowed pluckily, but was out being in favor of very good time. The four crews were lined up for position about 5:30 o'clock. There was a good deal of trouble, however. Just as the referee had asked the usual questions about getting ready, Captain Bullard of Harvard raised his hand and complained that Columbia's stakeboat was below the line. Cornell and Pennsylvania agreed to this and the referce ordered it back. This took some moments and then the crews were lined up again. To be sure that there should be no error to try to keep up with the others. CORNELL'S BEAUTIFUL WORK. Harvard's boat poked its nose ahead of popular while here last year. Harvard's boat poked its nose aneal of Cornell at the balf mile and the rooters yelled with approbation. Then slowly, inch by inch, the Harvard boat crept by the Cornell boat until the stern just lapped the latter's nose. It was noticeable that the Cornell men never changed their stroke, but worked steadily at thirty-eight and the cornel men never changed their stroke, but worked steadily at thirty-eight and the cornel men never changed their stroke. But worked steadily at thirty-eight and the cornel men never changed their stroke. But worked steadily at thirty-eight and the cornel men never changed their stroke. Pennsylvania was splashing on at a thirty-seven stroke gait, three lengths behind, and Columbia was hopelessly heaten. So they went down to the third mile, Harvard pulling desperately and somewhat prettily, but Cornell was putting an inch of distance at every stroke between the boats. The long stroke and the clever back work of Cornell were counting. It was evident that Harvard was beaten, for at the third mile there was plainly plenty of reserve force in the Cornell boat, yet there was not a bit of it in Harvard's. The men from Cam-bridge were using every bit of strength in their endeavor to make a good show-ing. Getting into the last mile Cornell was still pulling at a thirty-seven stroke, without a splash or a quaver, their boat fairly shooting along, while Harvard's men looked as if some of them would fall out of the boat.

Cornell, at the three and a half mile, had increased her lead to about four lengths and Pennsylvania was clearing up some of the water between it and Harvard at such a clipping pace that the crimson ad-herents feared for their crew's hold on sec-ond place. The last half mile was uneventful. Cornell crossed the line at the pace she had set at the start, a winner by five lengths over Harvard, in the record-breaking time of 19 minutes and 29 secends, and not a man in her boat showed distress. Pennsylvania crawled in at a good pace about four lengths behind Haryard and Columbia paddled in at least twenty lengths in the rear.

GENERAL CORNELL JUBILEE. Three or four men in the Harvard boat showed signs of distress, but in the other boats there was no trouble. Cornell's ad-mirers are tonight on anything but an even keel and her enemies are joining to a more or less degree in the general jubilation. Cornell's coach, Courtney, is supremely happy. His men carried him about on top of their shoulders till he was compelled to cry for mercy, and late in the evening a mob of "rooters" 300 strong headed by a drum corps marched from the Neison house to Riverside, where the Cornell crews have been living, and serenaded them far into the night. The city smells of burning pow-

The record breaking time of the race was measure due to the ebb tide that was a effective, but it is believed that the time keepers, unable to see any flag at the finish, have made an error. The watches in the press car on the observation train made the time of Cornell between 19:54 and 20:04, and the watches on the Associated Press loop at each mile, started and stopped by electrical connection, made the time similar to this. No watch that can be found tallies with the official time. This does not detract from Cornell's victory, as she has with any of the time taken broken the record. The official time given is: Cornell, 19:29; Harvard, 19:32; Pennsylvania, 20:11; Columbia.

Pennsylvania's men tonight say that the time of their finish is absolutely incorrect. They say that such a difference means fif-They say that such a difference means fitteen boat lengths behind Harvard, and they were less than two. The time keepers are not to be found tonight to answer these criticisms. It is estimated that 30,000 persons saw the race. The observation train carried 3,000 and 5,000 were on yachts and other vessels. Many Philadelphia, Boston, Brooklyn and New York society people witnessed the race from private vachts.

ELLIS WARD SATISFIED. Upon the return of the defeated Quaker crew to its quarters Coach Ellis Ward was surrounded by newspaper men, and then gave out the following statement: "I am gave out the following statement: "I am perfectly satisfied with the work of my 'varsity crew today. While they were fairly defeated, yet they need not be ashamed of this fast time, even in the face of defeat. I noticed, especially, how the crews of Columbia and Harvard were on the point of collapse at the finish, so much so that they were taken home on their launches, while the Cornell and Pennsylvania eights rowed back to their quarters like the men that they are. There is one consolation in our defeat, however, and that is in the fact that my senior crew, composed of fellows who have never rowed in a race in their lives, more than defeated the Columbia crew, who, with one exception, are the same crew, who, with one exception, are the same Coach Courtney of the Cornells made the following statement tonight: "I am agree-ably surprised at the result. I did not an-ticipate that the 'varsity erew would do such Tebeau's Team Assaults Umpire Weydman good work, in fact, I had not the confidence that I had in the freshmen, because during the practice work on Cayuga lake before leaving for Poughkeepsie the best time in which the 'varsity crew could get over the three-mile course was sixteen minutes and forty seconds, and to be up to the standard they should have accomplished it in 16:16. The Harvard and Pennsylvania crews have not much of which to be ashamed. Their work was very good and they were game to the last. As to Columbia's work, I have nothing to say.

COLUMBIA IN MOURNING. The light blue in Columbia's colors was darkened almost to a coal black shade to-night. It is doubtful if any set of men ever took defeat so much at heart. The captain almost shed tears as he said: "We were fairly beaten. That is all I have to say."

municative. Though a number of them expressed the opinion that their miserable inning the Clevelands scored four runs on showing was due entirely to improper train- an error, a base on balls and two home

Coach Mumford of the Harvard crew said 'I am very much pleased with the work of the Harvard varsity. They rowed a great race. The contest was so close that it re-solved itself into a question of generalship having found themselves right at the front, they had settled into a steady stroke and not attempted to hurry into a lead so soon, ers left the park. The New College boat went over the course, covering forty yards more than Yale in 3:25.

This has been a very interesting day for the Yale followers. The crew was out early the To be sure that there should be no error or claim of unfairness he asked each crew separately; "Are you ready?" and got a favorable reply. The referee took a last critical look at the crews and then sent them off with the pistol. All struck the water together, but Columbia only got a half stroke. For the first half minute the stroke was thirty-four and for the balance of the spin the stroke was twenty-nine to the minute. This is considered a much better performance than that of yesterday. From first to last the boat ran well and the men were all in fine condition. In spite of this, however, Bob Cook is by no means satisfied. The crew went to quarters immediately after ditions favored Trinity owing to the thwart rigging of the seats. New College was out, but did not try to make time. The crew has been a long time in training and is not working bard now.

DR. M'DOWELL'S WORK IMPROVES. Dr. McDowell, the carsman from Chicago, who is entered for the diamond sculls, says he never felt better than today. He is just beginning to get used to the course and is working hard, although not trying to make fast time. He is quite confident of winning in spite of the fact that he has not seen Hon. Bob Cook raised the slides of all the seats n the Yale boat before this morning's prac-ice and this, it is said, may account for the better work done.

LONDON, June 26.-The correspondent of he Pall Mall Gazette at Henley telegraphed his afternoon as follows: "Yale did a mag ificent piece of work this morning. While was very little more than a strong paddle the opinion of the real experts is that if they can row as well as they can paddle they will win very easily.'

GIRLS TAKE PART IN TOURNAMENT

First Contest in the Mixed Event-Final of Doubles Tonight. One match was decided last night in he city tennis tournament. It was the first contest in the mixed doubles. Frank Haskeli, who on Thursday defeated Cullingham in singles, had Miss Sadie Baum lingham in singles, had Miss Sadie Baum for a partner, and together they were beaten by C. H. Young and Miss Belie Hamilton. The score was 5-7, 6-2, 6-2, The winners made 162 points and lost 85.

This evening, beginning at 6 o'clock sharp, P. Haskell and M. Hopkins meet C. S. Cullingham and C. H. Young in the final of the doubles. The contest is arousing considerable interest, in view of the fact that it is between probably the two strongest pairs in the city. It is likely to be as exciting as the Cullingham-Haskell contest in singles. A large crowd is expected to be present, Cullingham and Young owe fifteen and Haskell and Hopkins owe half fifteen. This handicap is supposed to be sufficient to place the two pairs on a par.

Larned Out of Two Events. LONDON, June 28.—In the Queen's club tennis tournament in the final round of the handicap singles Larned scratched to Simond, to whom he gave odds of 15 to a game. In the mixed doubled Nisbet and Miss Nisbet beat Larned and Miss Brown.
