Plattsmouth News (rep.): The tariff tax on the poor man's dinner pall isn't going to be a burning issue in this campaign, as it was in the last. Four years ago the pro-fessional romancers of the democratic party incited such an insurrection concerning the oppressive tariff on dinner pails that no self-respecting laborer approached his pail at noon without being seized with a fit and frenzy and an impulse to kick it and send t galley-west and hell-bent-for-election and ill the air with roast beef, fried chicken pudding, pie and cake. Dinner pails wer demonetized four years ago and have all gone out of circulation. The crime of 189 has made the dinner pail only a reminiscence. The tax on it doesn't cut an figure now, for laboring men have little work to which to carry dinner pails. When they do get a job a little stale bread and some fried liver wrapped up in an old untaxed newspaper constitute the depreciated din iers which have driven pie and cake out of rirculation. The free coinage of pudding for the laboring men will be resumed this year.

McKinley proclaims publicly that the platform adopted by the republican national convention has his unqualified approval. The platform is a square expression of the position of the party on the issues of the day and the candidate stands squarely on the platform.

No man should ever be put on a ticket as presidential elector whose personality will alienate any number of voters within his own party. The presidential nomince is entitled to have his candidacy represented by an electoral ticket made up to draw votes from the ranks of the opposition and of the independent voters, and not to repel them.

Membership in the Board of Public Works has for several years past been largely in the nature of a sinecure. With the Transmississippi exposition on the horizon and an immense amount of public work to be done in preparation for it, the board is likely to have its hands full between now and 1898. With increased responsibility the necessity of having men on the board equal to the task was never greater.

Every platform adopted by a republican convention will as a matter of course affirm and re-enunciate the platform adopted at St. Louis. The campaign of 1896 is to be fought out on that platform and it does not rest with state organizations to qualify or modify the declarations therein contained. This magnificent work of art is finished in time to start with the "Great Jebraska Silver Train," bearing Nebraska's sixteen silver delegates, in white silver inen suits, to the silver convention at Thicago next week. It will be rolled up on drop scene boom ready to be unfurled in the coliseum at the auspicious moment when William Jennings Bryan concludes an earth-splitting peroration which is to so inflame and intoxicate the multitude until with one deep, hoarse, inexorable roar it demands the nomination of Bryan for presiient.

We will not attempt to anticipate even in magination the scene of delirious madness and joy that will ensue as Bryan's great portrait of himself unfolds before that rav-ing throng. Let the reader attempt it if he will. We can only wait and see if the scene "baffles descr.ntion."
