GOLD LEADERS HINT AT A TRUMP CARD

Whitney and Hill Grow Mysterious and Whisper "Wait."

THEIR WORK BEARS NO VISIBLE FRUIT

NEW YORK MEN TRY HARD TO STEM THE SILVER TIDE, BUT FREE COINAGE ADVOCATES ARE JUST AS CONFIDENT AS EVER.

CHICAGO, July 4.—The distracting din of the Fourth of July celebration had added to the confusion and chaos in the political storm center today. The hotel corridors were choked with pushing, perspiring crowds and vocal with contenting stragglers. The headquarters of the various candidates swarmed with delegates and boomers. Mysterious conferences between silver leaders and gold leaders occurred in secret chambers of the hotels and though the campaign bands and shouters have not yet arrived in full strength, the democratic national convention is on in force. As the convention tumbles on like a steam, frothing and swirling with its whirlpools and eddies to its destiny, there is but one sure goal. It is rushing with a force and impetuosity that nothing can check or turn aside to a free silver declaration. That is certain. For the rest all is almost incredible confusion. The gold men are crashing the opposition to Cleveland, assumed the leadership of the gold forces. Although the laurels of his old victory still cling to him, he is no conquering hero now. He leads a forlorn hope. Nevertheless his lieutenants and aide-de-camp have been flying like mad and seeking a weak point in the lines of the silver. They have perfected plans to do missionary work among the delegations. The hotel corridors were filled with their agents laboring to convince the silver men that pronouncement for silver was a fatal blunder that could only condemn the party to defeat, perhaps oblivion. But Mr. Whitney, who came here with the declaration that the silver men must listen to reason when they ascertained the strong feeling of the east on the subject, found himself confronted everywhere with the argument that he and the gold men of the east were the heretics.

ARGUMENT HAVING FAILED, some of the gold men tried threats. Ex-Governor Flower of New York and Colonel John R. Fellows openly announced that they should not support a free silver candidate, and even intimated that the gold men should bolt. But Senator Hill, ex-Governor Russell of Massachusetts, Chairman Harrity, Ben Cable of Illinois, Byrum of Indiana, and others frowned upon such threats at this stage of the proceedings, and while this talk of bolting is naturally a very serious matter, indications there will be no withdrawal from the convention. Some are strongly inclined to give up the game and walk out, but they are being restrained.

WHITNEY WHISPERS "WAIT."

Whitney and the leaders grew very mysterious later in the day and whispered "wait" to their downhearted followers. What they can hope for or accomplish later no one knows. Those who feel that the silver men are becoming convinced that there is no hope of preventing a free silver platform, and intimate that they should welcome the nomination of Teller. The nomination of a silver republican would give them the coveted excuse for supporting, as between two republicans, one who upheld the financial policy upon which they believe the commercial prosperity of the country depends. Some of the silver men were openly angry at the talk of ruin and disaster which emanated from the New York headquarters, and Senator Blackburn recalled the irony of fate which made those headquarters today as they were four years ago, the source of predictions of defeat. Then Hill, Fellows and Cokeran made the welkin ring with their protests against the nomination of a man who would sweep the country from ocean to ocean. "History will be made here, and these same men were attempting to undermine the issue and destroy the only chance the democracy had of success this year.

THE RESULT OF THE ARRIVAL of the gold contingent today, strange to say, is an acquisition of strength to the silver, not the gold forces. The former claim now six votes in Minnesota, six in Florida, four in Maryland and even some promised in the far east. From Massachusetts comes the news that six of the delegates are for silver, headed by George Fred Williams, who four years ago wept in the house of representatives because a silver man was elected speaker. Other votes are claimed in the Maine and Delaware delegation, and it is said there would be silver votes from New York and Pennsylvania were the delegations not locked up by the unit rule.

EX-CONGRESSMAN RUSSELL of Massachusetts, who is a gold man, takes a gloomy view of the situation from his standpoint. "The American people," said he, "are determined to try free coinage. The fever is in their blood and they will have it. We who still believe in the maintenance of the gold standard might as well take it as well take a cyanide cellar, for they cannot be thwarted."

SHELVING W. J. BRYAN.

AS A graceful way of showing their appreciation of Williams' stand for free silver in the old Bay state it is possible the silver leaders may decide to make him temporary chairman of the convention in place of Bryan of Nebraska, about whose selection there is a hitch, owing to the fact that his seat is contested. This, of course, presupposes a choice of the national committee on Monday unacceptable to the silver hosts.

THE ARRIVAL of Boies and the announcement that thirty of the Illinois delegates would support him sent the stock of the town up today. The Boies men claim considerable acquisition of strength in the unit rule states and because these delegates are not instructed they refrain

ATTACKS UNCLE SAM.

THE DIARIO DE LA MARINA attacks the United States thus in an editorial headed: "Bad faith. No other term can be applied to the new act of hostility toward Spain just committed by the so-called courts of justice of the United States. We usually weigh our words, but it is impossible for us this, the hundredth time, to repress the just indignation which possesses us and every other Spaniard who observes the improper conduct, bordering upon mockery, of the judicial authorities in regard to the filibustering steamers, City of Richmond and Three Friends, captured fully loaded with arms, ammunition and expeditioners by a gunboat of their own navy. It is enough to glance at telegrams we published yesterday to be convinced of the bad faith of the United States, notwithstanding the rulings of their supreme courts, no matter what its name (about the steamer Horsa) when it comes to sentencing Cubans who, defying the federal authority, charter ships, load arms and ammunition and recruit men to help the insurgents in this land. By these telegrams we learn that the crew and passengers of the steamer City of Richmond arrested on the charge of being filibusters, have been acquitted for want of proof, and that the courts will consider complaints no longer against the City of Richmond and the Three Friends, dismissing all the cases.

BECOMES QUITE SPECIFIC.

"We may not believe that harsh words or fits of anger or patriotic declarations are the best answers to be made to the many humiliations which the haughty citizens of America would heap on Spain, not only by declaring their sympathy for the Cuban rebels and their belief that the United States should interfere in our private affairs to pacify the island and restore its independence as the republican convention has done at St. Louis, nor yet by confounding sympathy, while denouncing and condemning the atrocities, outrages and cruelties committed by the Spanish soldiery as contained in the democratic platform at Saratoga, but what is far more aggressive and unbearable, what denotes a sickly caprice of trying to do the utmost of our temper and our dignity, by declaring judicially acquitted rebels guilty of piracy and adventure, and who, captured by an American cruiser, loaded with arms, ammunition and dynamite, were getting ready (and are yet) to land
