Financial Troubles and the Remembrances of the Logan Wreck Attributed as the Cause of a Suicide.

A shot from a revolver fired by his own hand some time last night killed Anton Ziskousky, a Bohemian, living at 1457 South Fourteenth street. The shot was unheard and therefore it was not until 10 o'clock yesterday morning that Ziskousky was found dead in bed.

At that hour a caller visited the house and asked for Ziskousky. The latter's son, also named Anton, went to his father's bedroom to call him. In a few moments he ran back to the door, crying: "My father is so pale and so cold."

Two atendaughters ran into the bedroom and found Ziskousky lying in bed upon bedclothing that was soaked with blood. Upon his undershirt on the breast was a huge bloodstain. An examination speedily disclosed the fact that the man had shot himself through the heart and was dead. The coroner was at once summoned.

Insanity is believed to have been the cause that drove the deceased to the act of self-destruction. During a week back he had acted and spoken strangely. Two causes are assigned for the mental condition. One is the failure of the German Savings bank, in which Ziskousky had some of his own MR. and MRS. JAMES COSGROYE. in which Ziskousky had some of his own money and other money which was in his care as the treasurer of a secret society. His mind was also worked up by the Logan He attended the picnic of the Pioneers and was on the train when the terrible disaster occurred. Some of the killed and injured were his friends. The failure of the savings bank, however, seemed to have the most effect upon his mind. His papers were covered with figures and statements. Upon one leaf of his book he bids a simple farewell to his wife. The rest of the epistle is a statement of the moneys he has in banks. The words are indefinite and badly written. He came home Friday night at 10:30 o'clock, after an absence of two days. He made few answers to the questions put to him by his children and these were foreign to the questions asked. He asked for paper, and, after scribbling a few lines, abruptly ordered the light out out and retired to bed. One of his daughters did not go to sleep until after midnight and heard no shot. At 8 o'clock the son arose, found his father's bedroom door slightly open, closed it and quietly set about the housework in order not to disturb him. At 10 o'clock the visitor came and the suicide was discovered. After an examination of the body th coroner came to the conclusion that the man had been dead five or six hours. His body was not yet cold. He therefore probably killed himself in the early morning. The revolver with which the deed was com-mitted was an old one and had not been seen by the children before. Four shells were empty, but three of these showed that they had been fired some time ago. Ziskousky was one of the early Bohemian settlers of the city, baving lived here for years. He was a cabinet maker in the Union Pacific shops. He was reputed to be fairly well off. SOME LARGE DEALS ARE NOW PENDING

There is a surprising lack of life in the real estate market in Omaha, considering the promise of brisk business in the near future. There is every prospect for an immense crop and a general revival of business. Property is extremely low, and inquiries were never so numerous as now, yet the actual transfers for June (which is usually one of the best months of the year) were less than for any month during 1896, and were less than the average for 1895,

The promised location of the Transmississippi Exposition in Omaha has apparently had no effect whatever on the real estate market, and real estate men seem to take but little interest in it, notwithstanding the fact that it is bound to throw millions of dollars in circulation in Omaha, to make a great demand for houses of all kinds during the next two years, to enable thousands of workingmen to accumulate enough to secure cheap lot, and fill the city to overflowing luring the next two years.

The Potter & George company has made a number of sales of lots in the vicinity of Fort Crook, at which place several addi-tions have been platted during the past few months. The company also reports the sale of several houses and lots during the past few weeks, and is having a great deal of inquiry for residence property from parties who wish to get homes. It also reports two or three deals that are pending with eastern parties, but which in all probability cannot be consummated until after the election, as the silver talk has made eastern people slow o take new investments until they see how the election goes this fall.

Wells, secretary, The board of directors is composed of the officers named, with William H. Lanning of Hastings, George H. Thummel of Grand Island, F. G. Keens of Kearney, P. A. Wells of McCook, R. E. Moore and C. H. Morrill of Lincoln and W. A. Paxton of Omaha. The capital stock is $500,000, divided into on-assessable shares of $5 each.

The objects of the organization are to advertise the resources of the state, induce immigration, locate new industries and obconcerted action on the part of real estate agents and property owners for the interests of Nebraska. It is the plan of the men interested to hold public meetings all over the state to create additional sentiment in favor of patronizing home industries and also to send lecturers and special agents through the east to show that farming and stock raising can be carried on more profit ably in Nebraska than elsewhere.

In the petition filed in the case the plain-tiff informs the court that he was employed by the defendant for the space of ninyears as its traveling salesman for the state of Nebraska, and that by his industry and ability as a salesman he had built up a large and lucrative business for the firm. In October, 1895, he alleges, he left the em-ploy of the defendant. Since that time he ploy of the defendant. Since that time he has learned of openings where traveling men were wanted and cites an instance in which he applied to a firm in Sloux City for a position, there being a vacancy at that time. He alleges that the defendant at that time circulated reports derogatory to his good name and character. In con-sequence of this statement he alleges he was refused employment by the firm in question, greatly to his injury and by reason of which he had lost an opportunity of making a living for himself and family.

Physician's Prescripton for Cure of

When a man has suffered for many years ith a weakness that blights his life and obs him of all that really makes life worth iving; when after years of doctoring with all sorts of patent medicines and alleged specialists, he discovers a remdy that brings specialists, he discovers a remay that brings back to him the power and physical energy that seemed to him lost forever, he naturally feels generous. He wants his fellow men to know about it. He feels that his mission on earth is to lift out of bondage the thousands of young and middle-aged men who are today battling with a shattered nervous system, just as he did; men who, by their own secret follies, are suffering a mental torture that words cannot adequately describe. The world has come to look at such sucers in a different light from former days. now regards them as unfortunate, not riminal. They have lacked moral courage. They may be victims of inherited passion, or they may have acquired secret habits from cvil associates. But whatever may have been the incentive that causes a man to degrade his being and isolate himself from society, he needs a friend. He needs the right hand of fellowship and good cheer. It is wrong to denounce him for his folly, and it is equally useless to give him adand it is equally useless to give him ad-vice. He must have the hungry man's bread, not a stone, offered him. This is why I send the prescription that made me a man among men free to any one who writes I know the aversion that suffering to the least semblance of publicity, and I therefore send the prescription securely sealed in a plain envelope without marks to show where it came from. Thousands of men have written me to say how, glad they were to get the prescription, and every mail brings encouraging report of severe cases of physical debility cured and emaciated parts restored to natural strength, Now, my friend, do not sit and wonder how I can afford to give away this valuable recipe, but write for it today. It is free to all and I want every man to have it. Address in the fullest confidence, THOMAS
