How Silverites Contradict Themselves BEATRICE, Neb., July 23 .- To the Edior of The Bee: Two hundred years ago there took place in England a contest for the debasement of the currency similar to led by William Lowndes, then secretary of the treasury, and Macauley tells us in the twenty-first chapter of his history that "be had a considerable following, composed partly of dull men who really believed what he told them and partly of shrewd men who were perfectly willing to be authorized by law to pay $100 with $80."

The leaders of the fraudulent money campaign in this country recognize the factheir following consists of precisely the same two classes and they have a distinct line of argument for each class. Let me submit two extracts from the editorial page of Mr. Bryan's paper of Monday, July 20. The first is addressed to the "dull men" as fol cirage of both metals, which means the e-emactment of the law in force prior to 573, would restore the mint value of silver. Sixteen ounces of silver, nine-tenths fine, would then equal in value 25.8 grains of gold, nine-tenths fine."

As fools and rascals cannot be caught by the same kind of chaff the following, which directly contradicts the above, is dished up for the "shrewd men;"

for the "shrewd men;"

"A small cotton grower has a $000 mortgage on his farm, which he expects to liquidate with his crop of twenty bales at 652 cents a pound. This means that the entire cotton crop must be employed in lifting the mortgage. A free silver advocate comes along and uses this argument: "Cotton is worth 13 cents a pound in Mexico because they have free allyer there. And if we had they have free silver there. And if we had free silver in this country it would be worth 13 cents a pound here. At 13 cents a pound what would your cotton crop bring you? The farmer makes a calculation and finds that the total proceeds would be $1,200 Then, adds the free silver man, under fre oinage in the United States your cotto would pay off your mortgage and leave $600 for Nancy and the children."

Conspiracy and Crime of 1892. OMAHA, July 23 .- To the Editor of The Bee: We have been hearing a vast deal lately about the "crime of 1873," as though that were the only thing worthy of mention in these good democratic times. In my humble opinion, however, this so-called crime pales into insignificance when compared with the great conspiracy and crime of 1892 which was brought about by an infamous conspiracy at that time between democrats, populists and repudiationists of who through fraudulent and misrepresentation concerning our tariff laws succeeded in delivering the gov-ernment over to the democracy, and from condition of the greatest prosperity ever known plunged the country into the worst business depression we have ever experi-This was brought about by repealing the Mckinley law, which gave us that prosperity, and by enacting in its lace the infamous Wilson-Gorman which has paralyzed nearly every industry in the country, and fallen many millions short of enough revenue to run the government, thus compelling us to borrow money for that purpose in time of peace. This is the crime we should hear more about And the same infamous "conmak more about And the same intantos:

WILLIAM GLASCO IN A NEW ROLE. This Time He Gets Into Police Court

as Complaining Witness. William Glasco yesterday morning appeared in police court in the new role of of the new organization. complaining witness. He has been in the court frequently enough, posing most recently in cases in which grave robbery, burglary and assault have been charged.

The last case in which Glasco appeared as defendant was one of assault. It is charged that several weeks ago he was a passenger on the same Walnut Hill car that was carrying Mrs. Low, a Clifton Hill resident, to her home. The time was night. Mrs. Low alighted at her street and Glasco got off at the same place. Mrs. Low says that Glasco followed her, made indecent pro-posals and because she refused to listen to him, he struck her and took her gold watch. A further investigation of the case indi-cated that Glasco's object of assault was not robbery. It was learned that upon leaving Mrs. Low, Glasco informed her that she could get the watch back if she would meet him on a certain night, at a certain place. The assignment never took place and Glasco was arrested.

Glasco's case grew out of this occurrence. It appears that Mrs. Low had a friend in a bachelor sireet car conductor, Ed Sebold.
Sebold had taken Mrs. Low's troubles upon his own shoulders and, it is understood, threatened Glasco. He also purchased a revolver and carried it upon his person Glasco learned of Sebold's action, and stated to the carried of the carried of Sebold's action, and stated to the carried of Sebold's action action. to the court yesterday morning that he wan given to understand that the man was camping on his trail. Sebold denied this, but said that he carried the weapon only as a precaution, because he was informed that Glasco was laying for him for expressions that he had made.

Whatever the facts in the case may be. Glasco yesterlay morning caused a warrant to be issued for Sebold's arrest on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Schold appeared in court with Mrs. Low. was arraigned he pleaded guilty, throwing himself upon the mercy of the court. Judge Gordon fined him $5 and costs.

GAVE 16 TO 1.

But the One Objected Strennously in Spite of His Greed and Got Relief. They stood before the buffet in the cafe of one of the hotels in upper Broadway, says the New York Sun. Both were middleaged and particularly well dressed. It was the early evening and perhaps they had been to the races, for each had money to throw away. They ordered a quart of champagne. This was probably not all they had drank. for their tongues were glib and politics the topic of their discussion. One was a great admirer of McKinley and a pronounced goldadmirer of McKinley and a procounced gold-bug; the other thought equally favorably of "the Boy Orator" and believed in "the free and unlimited cottage of silver," although he carried a big roll of greenbacks.

"Give us silver," said he in his argument, "and lots of it. I can't get too much."

Every word he had to say on the allabsorbing subject was availowed by the cashier, who was but a few feet away. Presently the silverite got his check, the amount shown on the cash register being $3.75. He walked ever to the cashier and laid it down with a $29 bill. Without a word the cashier pushed out as change slateen silver cartwheels and a quarter.

"What the devil do you think I am" asked the silverite.

"That's right, but I'm not a cart horse as

ONE RIVER ROAD TO BE IMPROVED. County Will Expend Money on Boulevard North from Florence.

An informal conference of the county commissioners was held yesterday morning, at which it was decided to place the river road above Florence in good condition for travel. This action will improve one of the most delightful drives in this part of the county. It has come to be known as the River road and begins at the pumping station at Florence, running thence in a northerly direction along the base of the towering bluffs which skirt the Missouri. The road passes Pries lake and extends about a mile and a half beyond that resort to a point about two and a half miles above Florence, where it joins a road bearing of toward the northwest, along a small creek which flows through a beautifully wooded ravine. This latter road describes an arc of a circle and joins another road which leads back over the bills to Florence, making an irregular circle of about seven miles from the starting point at the pumping station There are few drives in this vicinity which equal this seven-mile route for beauty and the commissioners have decided to expend a small amount of money in placing it in good condition. The road gang will be ordered to work on this road and it is estimated that not more than $500 will be required to place the drive in good condi-

PAYMENTS COMING TOO OFTEN. Small Coal Dealers Organize to Fight the License Ordnance.

About thirty retail coal dealers of Omaha assembled at 1318 North Twenty-fourth street last night to take action on the ordinance lately passed by the city council by which a license of $40 is to be imposed upon every retail coal dealer in the city. The date for the payment of the first license is set for next Saturday and hereafter to be paid January i of each year. This arrangement makes the amount to start out with $80 within the space of only a few months and it is on this account that the dealers think they are being unjustly dealt with.

D. L. Campbell was elected temporary chairman of the meeting with H. J. Muller as secretary. This arrangement will hold good until a permanent protective associa-tion is formed, which will take place next Monday night. Only the preliminary steps were taken last evening. A committee composed of three was elected to confer with an attorney as to the legality of enforcing the first payment at this time of the year. They will report at the next meeting and then definite action will be taken to knock out the ordinance, or at least the payment for the present year. A committee of three was also elected to attend to the finances

ANOTHER CONVENTION FOR 1898.

Effort to Secure Meeting of United States Indian Educators. H. E. Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the United States Indian Educational association of the Third district, is in the city from Netawaka, Kan. The association of which he is an officer holds an annual meeting in the interest of Indian education. It is usually attended by from 700 to 1,200 persons. For the last two years the meetngs have been held in St. Paul, and Mr.

wilson says simply because no other west-ern city has put in a bid for them.

It is his opinion that the association would be only too willing to join the procession of other national associations and come to Omaha in 1898. He called at the Commercial dub yesterday morning and expressed his villingness to further the claims of Omaha for that meeting. The convention is usually in session three weeks and is attended by rominent educators from all sections of the country. Commissioner Utt of the Commeeting, has addressed a letter to the as-sociation promising to furnish a hall for the meetings of the convention and a sufficient number of rooms for committee work, should the association decide to visit Omaha in
