FAIRMOUNT PARK'S RETREAT

Cool, Clean, Comfortable Place on a Hot Sunday Afternoon.

HUNDREDS ATTEND THE BAND CONCERT

Music and breezy shade make people forget the sweltering streets and broiling buildings down town.

Fairmount park was clean, cool and comfortable yesterday, and the thousands of people who spent the afternoon and early evening there most thoroughly enjoyed the pleasant conditions.

The concert given during the afternoon by the Odd Fellows' band was keenly enjoyed and the music was the best the band has so far furnished.

When a majority of the members of the Board of Education some time ago denied the petition of a large number of representative business men for a hearing in the matter of the selection of a superintendent of the city schools much indignation was caused.

WHAT BECAME OF THE PASSENGER?

Mysterious Disappearance that Puzzles the Railroad Men at St. Joe.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 9.—In the office of Superintendent Marshall, St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad, in this city, hangs an overcoat which serves as a reminder of an interesting tale of mystery.

Here is the story of the coat and its missing owner: On Sunday, May 26, 1895, a stranger bought a ticket over the St. Joseph & Grand Island road from his car to Milton, Ore.

"I read in the Sun the other day," said an Erie railroad engineer to a New York Sun reporter, "an item about Jim Wood, the New York Central engineer who has been running on that road forty-six years."

After the missing passenger failed to appear the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad authorities made a general investigation with the hope of learning something as to the identity of the strange man.

A volume of correspondence relative to the missing passenger is now on file in the general offices of the St. Joseph & Grand Island railroad in this city.

Various theories have advanced as to what fate befell the strange passenger, but the most plausible is that he suffered concussion of the brain when he fell from the train, and that while lying on the ground he walked into the Little Sandy river, which runs near the place where he was seen to fall.

When Ben Hafner began running on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad the strap rail cars were made of wood, and the motion of the train over the track was a working loose from its fastenings by the motion of the train over the track.
