BIG INTERSTATE TOURNAMENT IN OMAHA

Pive Men from Chiengo Will Compete with Iown, Kansas and Nebraska Players for Valuable Prizes and Glory.

From nine to twelve players from outside of Nebraska will take part in the third annual interstate tournament held by the Omaha club under the auspices of the National Lawn Tennis association. Entries close at noon today and the following players have already expressed their intention of taking part: From Chicago, L. H. Waidner, Wypne Carver, W. D. Bond, Ralph W. Condee, and F. Anderson, with possibly one other; from Topeka, Kan., George E. Stoker; from Lawrence, Kan., Justin Bowersock; from Lemans, Ia., Richard Nicholson and Colledge; and Belden and Jayne of Minneapolis are also expected to enter.

If these twelve men take part in singles and doubles it goes without saying that those who are fortunate enough to be able to at tend the games during the week will see tennis played as it was never played in Omaha before. But this will not be the whole of the fournament by any means. Johnson and Powers, the Nebraska champions in doubles, will be here from Hastings, little Earl Farnsworth, the boy champion of Grand Island, will take part; Lincoln may send a couple of men, and of course Omaha will-put out the best teams that can be

Roy Austin showed on Saturday that his control of the racket and his judgment of balls have not suffered by lack of practice. Those who saw him play believe that he and with the denizens of what is known as the Cullingham will be at least as strong in doubles as when they held the spectators in doubt for half an afternoon as to whether they would be able to overcome Waidner and Slocum last August. Six weeks be fore, Austin and Collingham fell down ig nominiously in the western tournament at Chicago, but they came home and, profiting by their experience, soon got into the way of following each other up and down the court, standing side by side, at the net or the back, according to the exigencies of the occasion, and they astonished every one by their success. other omana men are capacie of missing properties this year and it is certain that from Tuesday morning to Saturday night the courts on Harney street will be kept busy with games which it will be worth any one's while to watch.

The first matches will be at 10 o'clock to morrow morning. the matches in the state singles competition will be proceeded with, if it does not rain. Hascall and Hopkins will finish their contest interrupted by the storm on Saturday. The winner will play Austin, and one of the three will then meet Cullingham for the title. It may be necessary to postpone the last of these matches until tomorrow. The courts are now i excellent condition.

Omaha Brewing Association Nine Takes a Fall Out of Them. Who'd a-thought it? A Sunday game of base ball and not a "holler" or a "kick." Even people living on the outside of the fence did not know a game was in progress until they happened to look out of their GAMES OF THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Reds Win the Season's Series from St. Louis and Take the Lead Again. CINCINNATI, Aug. 16.—The Reds made it twelve straight from St. Louis in a game marked by the best batting they have done for a long time. AMUSEMENTS.

New York life, as it actually exists on the ast side, is what Manager Harry Williams has presented to the public in his successful play, "A Bowery Girl," which will appear at Boyd's theater for three nights, commencing next Sunday. The scenes of the play are laid in New York City, and the story deals great east side of the metropolis. All of the characters have their living photographs, and the authoress, Miss Ada Lee Bascon, must be credited with knowing nearly all of them. "A Howery Girl" may be credited with having made last season the greatest success of any New York play yet written. It has been praised by press and public as a strong, well-written melorama, and the company that interprets it this season is far superior to any that has been seen in the play. Florrie West, the clever comedienne, will interpret the title and her abilities as an artist are too well known to call for mention. A carload of special scenery is carried by the company.

The Woodward Theater company played to standing room last night ,and closed its en-gagement. Mr. Woodward's two companies, numbering thirty people, go east on the Northwestern this morning.

OMAHA INSTITUTIONS VINDICATED

Technical Objection to Medical College Graduates Falls to the Ground. The final action of the Iowa State Board f Medical Examiners was a complete vindiation of the Omaha medical colleges. The lowa board had refused to recognize graduates of the Omaha Medical college and the John A. Creighton Medical college on purely echnical grounds. There was no claim that the requirements for graduation in these wo schools were not up to the standard required by the board, and in fact they have been much greater than demanded. investigation which followed even the tech nical objection was found to be unterable and the graduates were accorded the same clation nines played their first game yesterday of a series of three games, the club winning the majority of the games to take the entire net receipts.

The Originals were handicapped by the absence of most of their team, and had to borrow five players. McAuliffe pitched and after the first inning settled down, and all the Brewers could get were three scattering hits, Kleffner played a stendy game and showed good head work. Jelen and Lewis were the only ones who seemed to catch him just right. Next Sunday the recognition as those of other schools. The instance. When this was made clear to the board all objection to the Omaha graduates was withdrawn. From the fact no objection was filed against these other schools which had done identically as the Omaha institutions had, it is thought the complaint was made for the purpose of injuring the schools. If such was the object it signally failed, for the result was a complete vindication for both of the Institutions.

REPAIRING THE STORM DAMAGE.

Glaziers Found Plenty to Keep Them Busy Yesterday. Nothing was developed yesterday to materially alter the estimate made Saturday night of the damage done by the storm. During the night and the early morning hours the windows which had been broken were boarded up to prevent further damage should another rain come and many of the prominent business blocks presented the appearance of abandoned tenements. Some, more energetic than others, put a force of glaziers to work and by night all evidence of the visitation of hall had vanished. The force of men available was not sufficient however, to obliterate the evidences of the storm from all the structures, and even if it had been the supply of glass in some sizes would have been insufficient. It will in all probability be several days yet before many of the prominent buildings will re-sume their usual appearance. The Paxton hotel was among the structures which suffered the worst, but by night yesterday there was no evidence on the exterior of the building to remind the passer-by of the storm. At the Board of Trade building and several of the other large structures the Important Symptoms of Improvement Noted in Financial Affairs.

STOCKS ARE FAR BELOW INTRINSIC VALUE

Banker Clews Observes a Genuine Recovery of Confidence Among Men of Means-No Longer Any Fenr of Bryan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.-Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street: During the past week financial affairs have de veloped important symptoms of improve ment. There has been a distinct abatement of the extreme unrest and distrust which have so completely controlled the markets for so many weeks past. As indicated in our advices of last week, calm observers have reached the conclusion that thing and the fall in prices have gone pulte as far, if not considerably farther. han the real facts of the situation warrant. Men of steady judgment reason that the demoralization has arisen from fear of certain dangers estimated at their worst possible consequences, and from rating adverse possibilities as adverse certainties.

possible consequences, and from rating adverse possibilities as adverse certainties. The counter possibilities have not been taken into consideration at all, or else below their true value. The chances for the outcome being far better than the apprehensions have been almost entirely omitted in the estimates of the situation, and values have been largely adjusted to the worst conceivable prospect.

This may have been a natural course of feeling under such suddenly alarming conditions as have lately appeared, for there is nothing about which men are so apt to rush into rash precaution as their investments. But, however natural this process of realizing may have been, it has certainly been one-sided and has gone to unreasonable lengths. It was only a question of time when holders of securities would begin to set off the hopeful chances against the discouraging possibilities, and strike a fairly rational balance between the good and the bad in the situation.

BARGAIN PRICES.

Evidently, that stage in the demoraliza-tion has now been reached. Strong men, of sound judgment and large means, have come to the conclusion that prices have reached a level at which securities are a safe investment. Large holders who fore-saw a severe fall in prices and sold largely of their holdings are now satisfied that their holdings are now satisfied that ocks have gone far below their intrinsic value, and are now in the market as buy-ers of the stocks with which they parted at higher figures. And, besides these, per-sons who have been long holding funds idle in bank are now converting them into stocks and bonds under the inducement of stocks and bonds under the inducement of bargain prices.

All this looks like a bona fide recovery of confidence. It implies that judgment has recovered control of fear. It means that the class who control the national capital have carefully weighed the disturbing factors in finance and polities, and have come to the conclusion that there is nothing in either, or in both combined, to warrant a reduction of one-third in the market value of our investments. Also, this change of temper indicates that the shaping of political currents, in prospect of the coming elections, is viewed as growing more hopeful for the perpetuation of a sound money policy. It shows how little reality there was in the supposed local apprehension about Mr. Bryan's visit to this city and his canvass in the eastern states. The construction put upon the youthful aspirant's visit has been that, if he proved true to his platform and to his Chicago speech, he would so shock the country as to ruin the prospects of his party and produce a national revulsion against the policy of violence which its platform represents. Thus, just at the moment when New York was sup losed to be standing in dread of the juvenile's thuragainst the policy of violence which its platform represents. Thus, just at the moment when New York was sup osed to be standing in dread of the juvenile's thun-derbolts, it has cherfily welcomed him to his exhibition of political hari-kari.

WEAKENS BRYAN.

draw from the Bryan ranks a vastly larger number who otherwise would have voted for him. In view of the fact that there are very many democra's who whilst favoring free coinage, yet revolt against the revolutionary spirit of the Chicago platform, this may be regarded as a safe conclusion; and its effect is to strengthen the chances of Mr. McKinley's election. These are the broader considerations which account for the marked change of tone, tendency and prices in Wall street. At the same time, the improved drift has been encouraged by other causes. The foreign exchanges have assumed an easier tone. The supply of bills exceeds the demand, and the market is taking care of itself without help from the exchange syndicate. The foreign markets are showing more disposition to take our stocks. London especially having been a free buyer. The conviction that the corner in the situation has been turned is bringing institutions and capitalists into the market, who have bought large quantities of stocks, and taken them out of the market, thereby outting business on a sound footing again. While weak holders have been driven out strong ones have taken their places, which materially strengthens the situation on the exchange. One very remarkable feature of the late trying experience has been the exhibition of financial strength throughout the nation to an extent never equaled in any previous general financial isturb-

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Saturday. CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—There was a dearth of interest in the wheat market today. The volume of business was small and outside influences few, September closed steady tive, closing a trifle higher than it did Friday. Provisions sold off early on raiding by the Cudahy crowd, recovering later on buying by people who got short early. There was not much of a trade in wheat, the market ruling dull and dragging all day, with fluctuations limited to from Secto Nic. A fairly firm feeling prevailed at the start, after which a weak spell set in, but final figures were unchanged in September, while December was up Nic. Moderate horthwest receipts, higher cables and fair exports for the week were responsible for the carly firmness. Liverpool was up Nid and then Argentine shipments were moderate. The closing Berlin cables were a shade higher. There were no cables from Paris, owing to a holiday. The market railled near the close on reports of liberal cable acceptances at seaboard.

The corn market exhibited very little activity, ruling dull most of the day within a Nic range. The feeling displayed at the start was easy, after which there was a moderate rally, and final figures showed a slight advance. There was little news at hand. The movement is liberal and the weather good. Receipts were about as looked for.

Oats were stronger, with a fair trade and prices advanced from Nic to Nic from the low point and closed at the top with a gain of Nic. The feature was the moderate offerings and the fair covering by shorts. Some changing from September to May was indulged in at 3c difference.

Provisions soid off early, but railied and closed showing fair gains in everything except September pork, which exhibited a decline of 15c as compared with yesterday. The Cudahy crowd hammered this future, causing the weakness mentioned. As a result of the early selling the crowd got short, making it necessary to buy in later, causing the raily. There was some changing of September lard, Yesterday offers were made to carry it to January for 40c and today at from 40c to 42% was paid. There was a better cash demand for lard and a moderate demand for markets. September pork opened at $6.25, broke to $6, fallied to $1.20 and closed at $6.15. Sep. by the Cudahy crowd, recovering later on buying by people who got short early.

and a moderate demand for markets. Sep-ember ork opened at $6.25, broke to $6, allied to $5.20 and closed at $6.15. Sep-ember lard started at $3.27½, broke to 3.22½ and railled to from $3.30 to $3.32½ at the close. September rios opened at $3.25 sid, sold at that price and advanced to 3.32½ at the close.

ADVANCE IN AMERICAN STOCKS.

The London Stock Exchange.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The American market has dominated the Stock exchange during the past week. The settlement showed only comparatively small accounts open, one small failure and some few African plungers who recently turned their attention to Americans severely pinched. The news of Bryan's failure to make an impression upon the people of New York caused prices to rebound as violently as they were put down recently, while the record of the gold crushing report from the Rand put spirit into the African markets and indirectly influenced all markets. Foreigners are firm, except Grecian stocks, which are weak, owing to reports of an entanglement of Greece in the Cretan troubles. London docks have fallen sharply on the statement that the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation company has bought land with the intention of building its own wharves on the Thames. It is believed, however, that the company will come to terms with the dock commission and avoid the necessity for the new wharves. Americans declined slightly on Saturday on realizations, but the market shows a general rise varying from 1 to 2 points on the week.
