Albert V. Kinsler and Miss Lulu Schenk Married Yesterday.

Parents of Neither the Bride of Groom Notified of the Intended Action, Which Was Against the Wishes of the Bride's Father.

IMMEDIATELY FOR THE NORTH

A wedding occurred yesterday at 10:30 which has created considerable of a stir in the city. It was that of Albert V. Kinsler and Miss Lulu Schenk. The prominence of the parties and the circumstances which surrounded the wedding make it one which will attract much attention among the large circle of friends in which the principals move. They were married at St. Peter's church, Twenty-eighth and Leavenworth, Rev. Father Walsh officiating. Besides the bride and groom and the officiating clergyman, there were present only T. Francis Kennedy, the groom's best man, and Miss Mamie Callahan, the bridesmaid. The young couple left on the noon train on the Omaha of the summer resorts and then taking a city is still on before Judge Powell. The trip through the east before returning to

> The young couple have desired to be married for some time, but as Miss Schenk was not yet of age and her father refused to give his consent, their hopes could not be consummated. Their friends understood that they would wait at least until the young woman passed her 18th birthday. It is stated on good authority that Miss Schenk is not yet of age, and this is borne out by > Miss Schenk drove a team down town in the morning and along after noon her father was notified by telephone that it was standing in front of Hoyd's theater He drove it home, commenting on the care-lessness of his daughter in leaving it so, but on reaching that point discovered the true reason.

WAS A SURPRISE. When seen in regard to the matter last evening, Mr. Schenk stated that all he knew about the affair was that his daughter was married and she and her husband had left the city on a wedding trip. He said he was greatly surprised at the turn affairs had taken on account of the fact that he had opposed the match for reasons which to him had seemed good. "They were not married with my consent," said Mr. Schenk, "but further than that I do not wish to make any statement." Mr. Schenk stated that he had no intimation that the wedding was to occur yesterday until it was over and the young couple had left the city, when it was conveyed to him by a note. He appeared to take the ac-tion of his daughter much to heart, but was averse to saying anything except as young man appeared to be as much in the dark in regard to the intentions of the couple as her father was. Dr. Kinsler stated that the sum total of his knowledge was that they were married and had left the city, but when they would return he had no intimation. "I was not present at the wedding, and in fact had no advance knowledge that it was to occur, as my son gave no intimation of his intentions when he left home in the morning. I knew that they desired to be married and that the father of the bride opposed the match. The young people have been trying for some time to overcome those objections, but have evidently decided, now that she is of age, to take matters into their own hands." in spite of the protests taken, though it is evident they kept their own counsel and did not confide their in-tentions to any considerable number. The groom is the sen of Dr. James C. Kinsler and resides with his father at 122 North Twenty-sixth street. He is himself engaged in the commission business at 1218 Harney street. He graduated from Creigh- Treasurer Broadwell and his bondsmen ton college two years ago. Found the Republicans Confident. Chief of Detectives Cox returned from a trip to north Nebraska, Hot Springs, S. D., and the Black Hills region last evening Geraldine Hussey is the person who writes after an absence of ten days. During his outing he took particular pains to ascertain the condition of the political mind in Holt county, Nebraska, and other so-called strongholds of the Bryan party. A canvass of the votes on the train during the outgoing trip resulted in a ballot of thirty for McKinley with thirteen for Bryan. On the return journey the vote stood thirty nine to six in favor of McKinley. All along the line where the chief had a chance to converse with residents he found the sen-timent strongly in favor of the Ohio statesman and was assured that the republican forces were growing steadily in numbers

Seventh Ward Haml Gives John L.

Webster m Serennde. The Seventh Ward Military band, in all the glory of its elegant new uniforms, serenaded Hon. John L. Webster last evening at his home on Twesty-fifth street. Mr. Webster was largely instrumental in procuring the uniforms for the band and, as a matter of fact, paid by far the greater tion of the cost of them. The band formed at the armory of the Thurston Rifles and marched to the resi-dence of Mr. Webster, where it formed on the lawn and played a number of selections The members of the organization were evidently in good trim and their playing was of a high order. There were twenty-five men in the ranks, one of the members be-ing absent, having had both arms broken in the Logan wreck and being still in the hospital. The instruments included both brass and reeds and are well ballanced, making the music of a most pleasing and smooth character.

After several selections had been played Mr. Webster, who had been sitting on the veranda with the members of his household and several visitors, addressed members briefly. A large number of peo-ple had gathered about by this time, at-tracted by the music, and the street in front of the house was well filled with the

The uniform was a very attractive one, he said, and one thing in particular which caught his attention was the emblems of a star which the mem-bers were on their helmets, and he said he was pleased to see that the star was of gold instead of silver. Some people, he said, thought they must have nothing but silver and others thought they must have both gold and silver, but he was glad to see that the band was satisfied with the single standard. He expressed the thought that if Major McKinley was present he would feel proud of the fine appearance presented by the band. In closing, Mr. Webster extended his thanks to the band for the splendid serenade and complimented the rganization on its excellent playing. The crowd caught sight of County Attorney

Baldrige and insisted on hearing from him Mr. Baldrige stepped forth from the shadow in which he had been sitting and said he felt very proud of the band, principally for the reason that it belonged in his ward, and he looked on it as being a local enter-prise, but he said it was an organization of such excellence that the city and state might well take pride in it. sure, he said, that the organization would render most excellent service during the campaign and that the republicans of Ne braska would march to victory to the in spiring strains of the music rendered by the Seventh Ward band.

After several more selection, Mr. Bald-rige, at the request of the band, expressed to Mr. Webster the thanks of the members for the part he had taken in providing th bandsome uniforms and the interest he had taken in the organization.

In reply Mr. Webster said he felt proud of the result of his interest, but felt as thought he ought to thank the band for the interest it had taken in the matter and in public affairs in tendering its services during the campaign. He expressed the hope that if in the future the opportunity occurred when he could render any further service the band would not hesitate to

From Mr. Webster's house the band pro-ecded direct to The Bee building, where played a number of selections for the ntertainment of the delegates of the Christian union convention, who were at that time assembling in the rotunda for purpose of inspecting the newspaper plant.

Assert that Outside Labor is Employed on the Fair Grounds. The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners has addressed the following letter "OMAHA, Aug. 20 .- At the last meeting that your management was discriminating against Omaha labor and on investigation such was found to be the fact, it being as certained that not to exceed 1 per cent of men employed at the fair grounds were citizens of Omaha. This we do not consider just. Not that we would wish to place Omaha in advance of others, but that we Omaha in advance of others, but that we as citizens of Nebraska and Omaha be given the same consideration as others. We not only think it an injustice to the laboring people of Omaha, but also to the business men and taxpayers of the city, it being well known that a large percentage of the support of the association is denecessarily folrived from the city. It the labor is obtained lows that when the labor is obtained elsewhere nearly all the money paid for such labor is diverted from the city.

In calling your attention to this matter we consider that we are only doing our duty as citizens of Omaha against whom you are unjustly discriminating; and, furthermore as an organization working for the interest of the laboring people, we believe it our duty to enter a protest against such a course, and that in view of the coming Transmississippi Exposition we should en Secretary United Brotherhood Carpenters and Joiners No. 427. deavor that in the future justice should be Prefers Her Present Life. Chief Sigwart received another tele gram from Mrs. M. A. Hartley of St. Joseph in connection with her wayward daughter, Grace, who came to this city a few days When first notified of her daughter's arrest in Omaha, she replied to Chlef Sigwart that she had disowned her daughter and cared not what she might do. The telegram received last evening requested the police to see the daughter and ascertain if, on condition of receiving transportation, she would return home. Grace was seen at the house of questionable resort where she is at present domiciled and told of her mother's request. The girl stated em-phatically that she preferred continuing her downward course rather than return to her home, and the mother in St. Joseph was accordingly informed of the results of the interview last evening. Theories of cure may be duscussed at length by physicians, but the sufferers want quick relief; and One Minute Cough Cure will give it to them.
