TO THOSE WHO ARE PASSING. "I have fought the good fight," "So have you my comrades. "I have finished my course." So have you, my comrades, so far as is concerned your services to your . Already one-half of the old have joined Grant, Sheridan, Mc Ciellan and Hancock, who are gone, and the remnant, gray-haired and stoop-shouldered, seem to be looking for a good place to cross to the beyond. I want to dedicate these grounds and buildings to men who are here to commemorate hallowed memories, the remnant of the largest army that was ever drilled on the globe."

The plat was then handed over to Commander Culver and Camp Fairchild formally delivered to the department. In accepting the camp from the committee Commander Cuiver thanked not only the committee, but the city of Lincoln, for the beautiful and commodious quarters tendered the depart-

"We come," said he, "a detachment of 340,000 men who suffered that the country might live. We represent thirty-eight states, 2,000 regiments and 100 brigades, and every army corps in the Union service. We shall test the hospitality and patrictism of this Capital City, which boasts of her churches, colleges and presidential candidates. We cordially invite you and the state at large to partake with us and will not only promote your committee to the rank of captains, but may possibly make of them colonels and majors before we get through."

HAD THE HERO OF SHILOH. The old soldier choir followed with the Battle Cry of Freedom," to a running accompaniment of stamping feet and when the name of General Frentiss was called out by some one in the audience the camp went wild and rising as by a single impulse gave three rousing cheers for the old hero of Shiloh. The general had arrived hero of Shiloh. The general had arrived early in the day and registered at the Lincoln. He is now 77 years old, but erect and spirited us the day on which he was taken prisoner and harangued the soldiery a box car. General Prentiss said: Chairman: While listening to the beautiful talks this afternoon, my memory went back to the old days when Abe Lincoin and I were stumping the country for the admission of Kansas and Nebraska to the union. As the first shot was fired by John Brown, it is only proper that we start out with the John Brown ode. Let us all sing to the memory of John Brown." audience caught fire instantly and the hall rang with the mournful ditty. Resuming the thread of his talk the general

"Every man who sings that song would make a good Methodist, and that's what I am. I like Caristianity that has zeal about it, and mark my word there is not a mother's son of them that fought your batties, who would refuse to walk the streets heaven even if they were paved in I'm not a pensioner-I'm not indebted for 1 cent to those men who cut 34,000 old soldiers off the pension rolls, and then had to resign to escape the odium of their act. I want no pension until a pension is given to every man who carried a musket in the War of the Rebellion. As I am to talk to you tomorrow (cries of 'go on,' 'go on') tomorrow afternoon, I propose to tell the people of Nebraska the truth about the battle of Shiloh. Come, and come early, for I propose to speak two hours and a half. (Cheers.) I propose that Young America shall know the truth in regard to Shiloh.

I'm not an old man. I'm in the prime of life and can look in the face of any man who wants to mislead Americans." The applause was almost continuous, and the speaker was often interrupted. "Today I am making you laugh, but tomorrow I will make you shed tears. A man is better for shedding tears. He who does not do something toward lifting this flag (taking hold of Old Glory) is no patriot. (Vehement applause.) Stand by it every hour you live (voice in audience: "We'll do that"). Stand by your courts (cheers) and be here tomorrow. Let me thank you for the kind reception you have given me and for the earnest, good looking upturned faces, especially those of the ladies, for I am a widower, and when I pray tonight I will pray that you may have a happy time. the speaker was often interrupted. "Today will pray that you may have a happy time. To the choir I, would say, come prepared to sing early, and after to die for your country, If necessary, and by all means to live for it till after November 3."

By command of J. H. CULVER, M. GAGE, Adjutant General, ARE NOT ANXIOUS FOR THE PLACE.

Few Democrats Want the Attorney Generalship.

The democratic state convention is billed to convene at the Creighton theater at 10 o'clock a. m., September 4, and its probable action is the subject of much interested speculation both in and out of the party. That it will end by endorsing the populist state ticket is considered likely by the leaders, but they are not discounting a stubborn opposition, which is likely to be strong enough to at least make the convention interesting. Even if the populist prescrip-tion is swallowed, it will be with a wry face that will scarcely indicate a very enthusiastic support.

Just now the one subject of interest in connection with the convention is the dis-position of the one poor consolation that the pulists left to their democratic brethren. If the democrats have to be contented with one place on the state ticket, they intend to show that their rights were not fully recognized, and they will make a desperate fight to run their candidate for attorney general ahead of the rest of the ticket. That their candidate will be from Omaha is generally conceded, but his identity is in doubt. There are very few candidates for the honor. The leaders have decreed that the man selected must be the strongest one available, but there seems to be a scarcity of that sort of timber. Whether the eligible candidates do not like the company. whether they regard it as a lost cause, there are only one or two democratic attorneys of standing who are spoken of in connection with the nomination.

Just at the present time Judge E. R. Duffle seems likely to be the nominee if he will accept it. While there is no defi-nite understanding that he will be nominated, he is the favorite of a large number of influential democrats. It was stated yesterday by a man who ranks among the first f the democratic wheelhorses of Nebraska that Judge Duffle's nomination was thoroughly agreed on, but the statement seems somewhat overdrawn.

The friends of Judge George W. Shields are also making an effort in his behalf, and if he chooses to enter the race in earnest he will have a strong following In the con-

First Voters Complete Organization. The First Voters' Republican club held a short session last evening at its rooms in the Millard hotel. The constitution and by-laws for the government of the club were reported by the committee appointed to draft them and they were adopted unani-mously. Landergren Accepts the Challenge. Adolph Landergren has accepted the challenge of John Steel to debate the currency question before a Swedish-American audience. Time and place and other conditions will be decided upon later.

Notes of the Campaign. The republican rally which was to have een held at Boyd's opera house Saturday night has been declared off on account of the fact that the speakers who were expected could not be obtained on that night. They will appear some time in September.

"Hurrah for Bill McKinley." is the title of a new campaign song. It was written by Henry Denver, and Bertha C. Marshall contributed the music. It is neither the best nor the worst of the many musical accompaniments that have been injected into the campaign, and it takes off the issues of the contest in a very happy vein.

SAMPLES OF THIS YEAR'S CORN.

Specimens Sent in to State Fair Managers. Secretary Furnas of the state fair has in his office at the Millard hotel some of this to McCormick's wild throw of McCarthy's year's crop of Nebraska corn which is nearly grounder and Kennedy's single in the sevmatured. The samples shown are most of them beyond the danger of damage from weeks in the future. A few of the samples are not so far advanced and are sent in simply to show what it will be when it gets its growth. The collection came from Nemaha county and was taken from a number of different fields

Reports from all over the state, the state fair officers say, are to the effect that a considerable portion of the corn is as far advanced as the samples shown and all of it is so far along that dry weather, in case the state should have a visitation of that kind, could not damage it in the least. It is also so far advanced toward maturity as to do away with all apprehension of dam age from frost, even if it should come earlier han common. The prospects are not only for an enormous yield, but that the quality will be of the best-no soft or partly filled corn this year for Nebraska.

SOUTHSIDERS TALK EXPOSITION. Committee to Solicit Subscriptions in the First and Second Wards. The Southside Improvement club held a largely attended meeting last night, at which exposition matters were the principal things discussed. A committee was appointed to canvass for stock subscriptions in the First and Second wards. The necessity of subscribing liberally to exposition stock, both for the purpose of furthering the enterprise and for the interests of the south-siders, was dwelt upon. The different speak-ers urged that they could come before the directory with a great deal better grace and ask for the location of the exposition in Riverview park, if the people who were interested in that site would subscribe liberally to the stock of the exposition. It would look more as though they were will-ing to give something for the benefits they were to receive, Aside from this it was imperatively necessary, if the exposition was to be made a suc-coss or even a possibility, that every one should do what he could toward furnishing the means for starting and carrying it on.

Work at the State Fair Grounds. OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 24.-To the Editor of The Bee-In the Evening Bee of August 22, under the caption of "Carpenters Have a Grievance. I find a letter addressed to Secretary Furnas of the Nebraska State Board of Agricultural, charging the board with undue discrimination against Omaha labor. I wish to inform the citizens of Omaha and the state of Nebraska that the man (or mea) who was the author of the report leading to the letter so charging, is wholly wrong, and if he will call on me I will convince him that he has done me I will convince him that he has done me an injustice. I am in charge of the work on the State fair grounds, which is being done by the state board and not by the people of Omaha. The state board is a state institution, and from it I receive the funds to pay for material and labor and could at my option secure my labor or material from the state at large, and should not be confined to Omaha exclusively. I have had on my pay roll for labor should not be confined to Omaha exclu-sively. I have had on my pay roll for labor thirty-two men, carpenters, laborers and teamsters. Of this number twenty-nine are citizens of Omaha or vicinity, all of whom spend their money at Omaha. I have made no discrimination whatever. One man is just as good an another, so long as he per-forms the duties for which he expects to be paid. Failing to do this, I hold it my procedure to discharge him without eensent of any walking delegate of any nion or federation.

The state board is expending about $2,000. on the fair grounds this year, which is nearly all left in the city of Omaha. Last year is expended something like $5,000 on the grounds, and $5,500 of this was left in the city of Omaha or vicinity I expended in 1895 $1,315 for laber slene, said of this $1,400 was paid to laborers of Omaha.

LARNED FALLS DOWN AT NEWPORT.

pion. Will Challenge Again.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 21.—William A.
Larned of Summitt, N. J., considered the that falled to win Results: After blanking the locals in the first inning, they came in and made three unearned runs. This emboldered them and in the first half of the second they simply pretended to play ball, and the consequence of lawn tennis in America, with a three months' practice in England, beat himself in the final round for the national championship today. R. D. Wrenn, was his opponent, and had pretended to play ball, and the consequence of lawn tennis in America, with a three months' practice in England. First face, six furtiongs: 1.2 Gascogne (7 to 2) wen An in Garth (4 to 1) second, Nanny but to to 1 third. Time: 1.20%. Red Duchess (7 to 5) won, Belle of Niles (3 to 5) third. Time: 1.21%. leading exponent of lawn tennis in Amerearned runs. This emboldered them and in the first half of the second they simply pretended to play ball, and the consequence was the Abbotts garnered four runs. This wakened the Cowboys up a bit and the next two innings were bianks for both sides. But in the fifth and sixth the Universitys, by a great batting rally, piled up eight runs, thus apparently cinching the game. The Leaguers were now playing in carnest. Ignominous defeat stared them in the face, and it was a general hustle on all hands. In the seventh Kling was lifted out of the box and Haiffeld put in. He proved a conundrum, only one hit being made off of his delivery in the last three innings. In the seventh Lawiers good right paw went back on him, and the Cowboys jumped onto him with all four legs, and when the last man went out his own mother wouldn't have recognized him. Ten hits, one base on balls and ten earned runs is a phenomenal record to make off of an old reliable ball player like Lawier. But the Comboys did it and from this on out the Comboys of the country of the cou supporters. The score by points follows: First set: dumps.

However, altogether it was an interesting contest and Abbott's band has much to be prowd of. The exercise of a little discretion in that fatal seventh inning was all that was necessary to have cinched the game. If Jelim had been substituted for Lawler, the Cowboys would have gone on their journey as well licked as the platter owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spratt. Score:

Vencedor and Canada Drift Four Hours and Give it Up for the Day.

TOLEDO, C. Aug. 24.—After sailing over the first leg and a little more than half of the second leg of the international yacht race course joday the judges declared the race off, as it was evident neither boat could sall the twenty-four-knot course race off, as it was evident neither boat could sail the twenty-four-knot course within the tiste dimit of five and one-half hours. It was little more than a drift all the while the race was on. The only things demonstrated by the contest were that Camada can outsail Vencedor in a light wind and that the Camada saitors can outsail the crew-of Vencedor. Camada took the lead afterperossing the line from the start. Vencedar turned the first stake boat mearly twenty-seven minutes behind her rival. Camada's time on the first leg was two hours suffi fourteen minutes. As there was no improvement in the breeze while the boats were sailing on the second leg it became apparent to the judges that it would be necessary to postpone the contest and they therefore called the race off. When the race was called there were nearly a hundred boats in the fleet of pleasure craft lined up to the leeway of the course, with instructions to keep out of the way of the racing yachts.

The judges aunounced this morning that Camada's corrected measurement was inside of forty-two feet and that Vencedor might sail under either of two racing lengths, as computed by her club too sails. The judges submitted the question of lengths, as computed by her club too sails. The judges submitted the question of lengths, as computed by her club too sails. The judges submitted the question of lengths to Commodore Herriam and his friends, who after mature reflection decided upon sailing the big club top sails, which would increase her racing length. The figures as completed are:

racing lengths were deducted: Vencedor, 45.33; Canada, 41.78. This would make the Vencedor give the Canada four minutes, forty-five seconds on a tweifty-four-mile course. It had been expected all along that Vencedor would have to give about three minutes to her rival, but when it was announced that she would have to give over four minutes the Yankees received a shock and the Canadians were correspondingly happy. Until after the judges announcement of the corrected racing lengths there was little betting on the result. There is no professional betting whatever. The few bets made are between enthusiastic friends of the competing yachis. Saturday there were a few bets made at even money, but as a general thing Vencedor ruled favoralte. There was plenty of Vencedor money at evens, but the Canadians asked for odds Late last night and early this morning there was a more liberal supply of Canadian money and bets were made at even money.
