MORTON OUT OF THE RA.

Requests Nebraska Friends Not to Press His Name for President.

PERSONALLY IN FAVOR OF CARLISLE.

Local Democrats of the Opinion that Watterson or Carlisle Will Be Nominated at the Sound Money Convention.

The sixteen delegates which Nebraska will send to the sound money democratic convention at Indianapolis next Wednesday expect to leave Sunday night or Monday. They are not instructed for any particular candidate, but they expect to cast a unanimous vote in favor of the most available man. That Secretary Morton is not in the race is thoroughly understood. There has been a good deal of sentiment among the Nebraska democrats in favor of pushing him for the nomination, but he has not given any encouragement that he would accept the nomination. If any doubt existed on that point it was dispelled yesterday morning when a prominent administration democrat received a personal letter from Secretary Morton, in which the latter positively refused to be a candidate for president at the convention, and requested his correspondent to see that it was not proposed by his Nebraska friends. It is not given out that Mr. Morton has volunteered the Nebraska democrats any advice as to their course in the convention, but it is unofficially stated that he is inclined to favor the nomination of John G. Carlisle.

Although Mr. Carlisle has some supporters on the Nebraska delegation, there is a strong sentiment among the local democrats in favor of Henry Watterson and General Gretna. In fact, there is an increasing preference for a number of the leaders Tuesday, at which it appeared to be the general impression that Watterson and Bragg would be the most available men. It is not given out that they are talking Watterson, however, are not members of the delegation. It is the general understanding that the delegation will not be organized until they reach Indianapolis and have an opportunity to make a more critical survey of the situation.

On the street there is a very pronounced sentiment in favor of Watterson. W. D. McKelvey says that in his opinion it is the feeling of the majority of the delegates that the nomination of Watterson and Bragg is highly desirable. "As far as I am personally concerned," said Mr. McKelvey, "I would not care to see either of them nominated, but I believe that Watterson would get more votes than any man who could be named. I believe that Carlisle is the logical candidate at this juncture." He said that he would like to see Watterson nominated, but that he would not care to see either of them nominated. He has a faculty of coining words and phrases that would become slogans all over the country. His nomination would cement the delegation in favor of the sound money platform, but he would not be able to concentrate their energies on the doubtful states in the north and west.

In regard to the nomination of General Bragg for the second place on the ticket, Mr. McKelvey said that he would not care to see either of them nominated. Bragg was the commander of the famous Iron Brigade in the war and his strength with the soldier element would be treasured. Mr. Carlisle is also famous as a candidate who declared that he loved Cleveland for the enemies he had made. His nomination would be a heavy blow to the union of the north and south and with them the party would cut a tremendous swath in the campaign.

Mr. Martin, a recognized leader of the sound money forces, is not quite so enthusiastic for Watterson. He said yesterday that he was not opposed to Watterson, but he was also not in favor of a candidate. "I believe that Carlisle is the logical candidate at this juncture," he said. "I believe that Carlisle is the logical candidate at this juncture." He said that he would like to see Watterson nominated, but that he would not care to see either of them nominated. He has a faculty of coining words and phrases that would become slogans all over the country. His nomination would cement the delegation in favor of the sound money platform, but he would not be able to concentrate their energies on the doubtful states in the north and west.

Brilliant ideas, pleasantly placed before the public, are essential to popular success. These attributes are said to be embodied in the new musical comedy, "McKinley's Twins," which will be presented by Ferguson and Emerick at the Creighton during fair week, opening a second engagement on Sunday, August 30. The plot of this new production is promised to be replete with amusing absurdities, and the musical numbers are said to be of the highest quality. Matinees will be given daily during the engagement.

The Woodward Theater company will play three days at Boyd's theater, opening with a matinee Saturday, August 29. This company has been especially successful in their matinee plays, and will play only three nights, giving matinees Saturday and Sunday. New plays will be presented and new specialties added. No changes were made in the company, and the same excellent class of productions will be given as has been the rule with this company during their late seasons. The box office was opened for the sale of seats Friday morning at 9 o'clock.
