OLD VETERANS ENJOY OUTDOOR LIFE

Former Occupants of Rebel Prisons Meet, Exchange Experiences and Form an Association to Advance Their Interests.

LINCOLN, Aug. 27.—(Special.)—The new camp at Camp Fairchild today were fewer in number, although the attendance on the ground was larger than on any morning since the veterans pitched their tents. Commander Culver instituted a new regime in the matter of a general inspection by the head officers of the camp of every tent to see that each veteran is comfortable, and that the guards are doing their duty. The only document filed today with the commander was a report of Dr. W. H. Banwell, assistant medical director of the camp. He reported that the camp was in splendid condition, everything being in perfect order and the conditions healthful. He mentioned that this was remarkable, as 50,000 persons had been entertained on the grounds yesterday. He reported a high praise of Quartermaster Parker and his corps of assistants, and said that the disposition of veterans and assignment to quarters could not have been better arranged.

At 10 o'clock this morning the registration of ex-prisoners of war reached the number of eighty-seven, when a meeting was held in the pavilion for the purpose of forming a state branch of the National Association of Federal Ex-prisoners of War. Johnson of Table Rock, acting chaplain of the department, made a lengthy speech, in which he communicated statistics concerning the imprisonment of soldiers during the war, and mentioned with praise the bill introduced by Congressman Hainer of Nebraska, providing for the payment to each union soldier confined during the war of $2 per month during the remainder of his life. The association was organized by the election of James D. Gage as president and W. L. Palmer of Clay county as secretary. The afternoon session was held in the afternoon at the adjutant general's tent, and proceeded to more thoroughly organize.

At the meeting of the old veterans a large number of the old veterans were held at their headquarters tent at 2 o'clock. The assembly of bands was called at 4, followed by a dress parade by states. The Lexington band, the Lincoln band, their headquarters at 4:30 for dress parade. This well-drilled company excites a great deal of attention on all sides.

A major general, a republican candidate for governor of Nebraska, received an ovation at the grounds this morning when he entered, and was immediately recognized. Old veterans rushed to the front to shake hands with him, and he was surrounded by a large number of old veterans who wanted to make his acquaintance. He shook hands and pledged their allegiance, and crowded around him until he was surrounded by a large number of old veterans on the ground. During the day he was the recipient of a great deal of attention, and it was from men who will stand by him during the campaign.

This morning the Woman's Relief corps marched in the parade, headed by the Hastings band. There were 300 members of the corps in line. At the close of the parade the march they adjourned to a merry-go-round and enjoyed a spin on the "horses."

This afternoon H. C. Russell addressed a large crowd at the amphitheater, making as his twin texts the "Battle of Shiloh and Antietam."

It has been decided not to have a sham battle this year. Governor Holcomb has expressed his disapproval of such displays, and has refused permission to the National guards to participate.

TROOPS LANDED IN TURKEY

Rioters Attack the Ottoman Bank and Many Men Are Killed.

ARMENIANS THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE

Bombs Exploded in Streets of Constantinople and Great Damage Wrought—French and British War Ships Present.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 27.—A guard of French sailors from the guardship La Fleche was installed at the French embassy this morning to protect the embassy from rioters. Her majesty's ship Dryad arrived early this morning from Therapia. Her majesty's ship Cocharre, en route to the Danube, remained here on account of the riots. The leaders of the mob which attacked the offices of the Ottoman bank surrendered and will be expelled from Turkey. The official account of the troubles attributes the riots to an organized effort on the part of the central committee of the Armenian revolutionists to stir up a revolution. The invaders, as if by a preconcerted arrangement, suddenly entered the great hall of the Ottoman bank, armed with revolvers, daggers and dynamite bombs. Forming in small groups they were accented by the officer of the guard, who demanded from them a statement of their business with the bank. Without stopping to reply they blew out his brains, and then killed and beheaded the gendarmes, throwing the heads of the dead men out into the streets. During the resultant confusion they closed the doors of the bank and hurled a number of bombs into the street. Four Turkish ladies who were driving along in a carriage were blown to pieces by the explosion. At one of the windows of the bank, while descending from a window of the bank by a rope, were wounded by one of the explosions. They narrowly escaped with their lives by reason of the timely intervention of the imperial troops. The rioters also captured a hotel in the city of Constantinople and shot and shot a number of persons who were in the city of the passersby, wounding many persons. Many similar events are reported from various portions of the city. It is known that a great many persons have been killed, but it is impossible to ascertain the exact number owing to the excitement and the desire on the part of the Armenians as well as the Turkish authorities to keep the identity of the killed and wounded secret. The Armenian patriarch has excommunicated all Armenians concerned in the latest uprising. The disturbances which began with the attack on the Ottoman bank yesterday afternoon, have subsided today. None of the staff of the bank were injured and the bank was not robbed. At midnight the rioting was at its height, and many Turkish soldiers were killed. The bank was attacked by about twenty men armed with revolvers and bombs, who first killed a number of the Turkish soldiers who were in the bank. The bank closed the doors to prevent the advance of the mob and fled to the quarters in the bank building occupied by the tobacco tax collector, which began to burn. The rioters returned the fire in a vigorous fashion and several were killed and wounded. The riot then became general. Shops were sacked and razed, and many persons were killed.
