> Miss Pressley is the allas of Mrs. George Knopp, who until a few weeks ago was living in Des Moines, where her father and mother reside. Her real name is Alice Whissen. She is about 24 years of age, a decided branette, plump as a partridge, with a face like a cherub and a voice and manner nore experienced in the ways of the world than was George Knopp, who is the com-plaining witness in the case. Knopp is a partner in a plaining mill at Muscatine. He is a willower and 50 years of oge. Some time ago he picked up a matrimonial magazine and, just for amu ment, began to read the offers. His atten-tion was attracted to an advertisement which represented that a handsome young Des coal this winter. Last year at this season Moines girl, with $12,000 in ner own right, Dog Moines and there the game was played to a limit. His unknown correspondent, with property and matrimonial intentions, met as she could be and won Knopp completely. She entertained him handsomely and their love affair progressed rapidly. Miss Pressley took her aged suitor for carriage drives and took some apparently justifiable pride in pointing out to him the several cosy cot tages with their flowers bedecked lawns that went to make up the $12,000 worth of propsety which she claimed to have in her own name. Knopp bit good and hard. He did ot, propose to allow such a chance to es-age him and he wanted to get married right away. REPAIRS HER HOUSES. Then Miss Pressley got in the smooth part of her game. She had the property and was therefore independent. She was not going o tie herself up to any horrid man and be at his mercy in money matters. While the property was hers some of the cottages needed repairs and there were some light neumbranees that she wanted to clear up. then there was the house in which she had ecided that she and her husband should It needed some remodeling and had to a new furnace and be furnished modestly throughout. No, she would not conhave ready each enough handed to her as a provements and give her pln money enough to last through the honeymoon. She figured all out and decided that $3,000 would be just about the sum she would have to get as a wedding present, and did Mr. Knopp have that much, and was he willing to cough up? He had and he was. Even in the depressed condition of the money market chance to get $12,000 worth of property and an angel wife for a bargain counter price of

The preliminaries were all soon arranged. In response to an expressed wish of bride-to-be the wedding ceremony was celebrated at Creston. The plan was to back to Des Moines and move at once into the home owned by the bride. Mr. Knopp kept up his end of the contract. With the old cast, and congratulated himself upon his rare bargain. That $9,000 profit was better than a good many months' clearings from his planing mill, to say nothing of the prize he had won in his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Knopp vent back to Des Moines and registered at hotel. Mrs. Knopp had to go right over and mamma all about the wedding. She would be back soon. She went out and apparently lost the road, forgot what street the hotel was on, and soon after lost all memory of her marriage, and claimed that she didn't know Knopp from a crow. It took Mr. Knopp a good while to see the light. He was finally forced to the conclu-sion that he had been played for a sucker and played strong. He found out that other people held the deeds to those pretty little cottages, and that the $12,000 story was a daisy. He would look over the property deal and cling to his love. But Alice told Knepp to go home and "rest his face" and refused to have anything whatever to do with him. Then Mr. Knopp told his troubles with him. were completed in straight heats, they were both exceptionally good. The fluishes were of the exceptionally good. The introduced selected and that is what a racing crowd wants, slenty of excitement crammed into the last ow seconds. And how they did cheer and rell. One could have thought that the fate of worlds hung in the balance of each stubbornly-fought heat. But the story of the afternoon will better tell the tale. The first event was the 2:40 trot, purse $400, with the following starters:

KYOTE'S STEADY WORK WINS. Starter Culbertson got the big field off in dmirable shape. Larchgrove slipped right eighths pole, when he made a jump-up and dropped back to fifth position. Kyote then came on at a rattling pace, succeeding Larengrove as pilot and came under the wire in excellent time. Overland gave the ner a staunch argument in the stretch and succeeded in displacing Kyote, but a break yards from the goal gave Van All-'s horse the heat. Time: 2:21.

Larchgrove again took the lead in the sec ond heat, but left his feet at the quarte and joined the stragglers in the dust. Over to the half, which was passed in 1:10%, bu ounding into the stretch Poffenbarger gave Kyote a little leeway and he was quickly abreast the leaders. He then came on down to the wire on even terms with Overland who made an unfortunate break a few steps away and Kyote won again amids thunderous applause of 6,000 throats

Another good start was obtained in the third heat, and in a bunch they went to the quarter. Here a torchlight procession began with Kyote seting as drum major. He passed the half in 1:11. As he rounded the last turn Overland came up with a whirl, but the clip was too hot for him and the race was Poffenbarger's in three straightheats. Time: 2:21 Summaries:

The second race, the 2:26 pace, purse $500, prought out but four competitors: Skatez, br. g., St. Nichols, Mike Elmore, Alliance, Neb. (Kedwell); Fencer, b. g., Fergus McGregor, W. O. Foote, Houston, Tex. (Foote); Thadeus K, br. s., Rattler Rilks, R. M. Stewart, Fremont, Neb. (Stewart); Dictate, br. h., Dictator, Waodline Farm, Fullerton, Neb. (Robinson.)

The quartet was sent up on a line in the third trial, Culbertson, as usual, letting them go only when he had them just right. Thadeus K assumed the lead and try as hard as the gang might they could catch him. Dictate came nearest of but the Fremont horse was out for the stuff and he came under the wire with a safe

It took several attempts before they go iway in the second, Skatez breaking jus after getting the word. Kedwell caught him quickly, however, and at the half he was right in it. At the half, which was made in 1:10. Thadeus and Fencer entered into a spirited controversy for the lead, which Fencer finally gained by a jump-up on Thad's part. Stewart knew his horse well, though, and had him back and going at his usual steady gait in a jiffy, and at the head of the streich he was on even terms with his rival. It was a whipping finish and the Dodge county horse showed himself the gamer, winning by a scant head in 2:191/2 the vast throng cheering themselves hoarse as the horses passed under the wire.

The third heat was not up to the standard to the front and although Fencer and Die tate made a game effort to keep him com pany, he led at the half by a full length. The journey home was a joy, Thadeus winning the heat and race. Time: 2:2444. Sum-
