

BOLLIN'S BONDSMEN PROPOSE

Their Attorneys Submit a Plan of Settlement. FIGURES ON CITY TREASURY SHORTAGE

Proposition to Pay over the Sum of $18,373.95 in Full of All Demands and Thus Avoid Litigation. Acting under instructions, the attorneys for the bondmen of Henry Bollin, the defaulting ex-city treasurer, have prepared the following, which they will submit to the city council at its next meeting, in settlement of the $115,000 shortage.

We are directed by our clients, the sureties on the bonds of Henry Bollin, former city treasurer of the city of Omaha, to make to you in full settlement of this statement and proposition for settlement of the same.

There are a number of defenses to any action that may be brought upon the bonds, on which, in case of suit, the sureties are ready and able to defend.

It is our clients' desire to avoid litigation, and are willing for the purpose of securing a just and equitable settlement to waive their right to any technical defenses.

These figures are correct as of July 10, 1895, according to the computation of your experts, the bank of Omaha, the city and school board amounts to $115,000.00.

On July 10, 1895, according to the computation of your experts, the bank of Omaha, the city and school board amounts to $115,000.00.

Music. During the past week the important place occupied by music in the great festival which has brought thousands of people to this city has made especially clear its value.

Blittner's Theater company, which appears at Boyd's all the coming week, is without doubt one of the strongest organizations of its class traveling.

The concert given last evening at the Coliseum by the Northwestern Scandinavian Singers' association impresses upon our minds the importance of this organization in our deplorable condition.

AMUSEMENTS.

The week just past has not been a particularly notable one at the theaters, except in point of business, in which respect it will probably be remembered when periods richer in theatrical entertainment have been forgotten.

Managers Paxton & Burgess announce the two-night engagement of a competent company in Scott Marble's dramatization of Bret Harte's story, "Tennessee's Partner."

The coming week cannot be said to hold out a shining promise of better things, although Mr. Alston's "Tennessee's Partner," which he will bring to the stage for the first time, is expected to raise the average.

A deplorable war would appear to have broken out in the sister city of Lincoln, between the two rival business offices.
