CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Against the Bolln Bondsmen.

Another Gas Franchise Ordinance Inproduced Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben Thank the City Officials and Invite Them to a Banquet.

The adjourned council meeting last night was chiefly remarkable for the lobby of aspirants for places on the registration board. About one out of ten of them went away happy and the others considered themselves mistreated.

Before the regular routine was begun the council received Dudley Smith, E. M. Bartlett, Vance Lane, Walter Jardine, H. J. Penfold, Clement Chase and others, representing the Board of Governors of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben, who came to present the city Ak-Sar-Ben, who came to present the city dinavian Singing society expressing satis officials with a token of appreciation of faction with the manner in which the Comengrossed copy of the resolutions passed by the Board of Governors at a recent meeting. These were sealed with the great seal of the court and were presented by E. M. Bartlett in a very appropriate speech. He incited the first applause, however, when, in the name of the board, he invited the city officials to participate at a banquet at the Commercial club next Wednesday night.

Mayor Broatch responded to Mr. Bartlett He complimented the knights on what they had accomplished toward the upbuilding of the city and after stating that the officials of the city would always be ready to aid them to the extent of their ability, thanked them very cordially for the token of good will they had presented.

Councilman Hascall also spoke briefly and concluded by moving that the resolutions be spread on the journal and that the engrossed copy be appropriately framed and hung in the mayor's office. This was unanimously adopted and then President Saunder, remembered something that seemed about to be overlooked and accepted the invitation to assist in the demolition of the spread Wednesday night.

A short recess was declared for mutual felicitations and then the council settled down to business.

VETO CAME TOO SOON. Mayor Broatch vetoed the resolution passed at the previous meeting by which funds were transferred from the road fund for sewer work. He stated that such a diversion of funds was illegal and submitted an opin ion by the city attorney to the same effect. Councilman Thomas called attention to the fact that this was an adjournment of the meeting at which the resolution was passed and the veto was therefore premature. It was laid over until the regular meeting.
The contracts and bonds of J. Danbaum for feeding city prisoners and the South

Omaha Ice and Coal company for furnishing soft coal were approved. The city engineer was instructed to for-ward a copy of the plans for the new Capitol avenue sewer to the superintendent of the new government building. This is in accordance with a request from the United States Treasury department, in order that the plumbing in the new building may be made to conform as far as possible to the sewerage facilities. A resolution by Hascall to continue street cleaning as long as the weather would permit was vigorously opposed on account o the condition of the fund. It was finally re-

MUST KEEP OFF THE SIDEWALK. Mercer contributed a resolution giving wheelmen the use of the sidewalk on Farnam street west of Twenty-eighth. He expatiated enthusiastically on the impassable pavement and the hardship it imposed on the cyclers, but it chanced that one councilman had seen a child run down on that very sidewalk a day or two ago and the resolution was not adopted.

The lists of registrars were handed in from each ward and will be submitted to the mayor for approval.

The appointment of Charles C. Brown as assistant city engineer was approved. Bing-ham, Buckley and Thomas voted in the

The finance committee submitted the expected report on the proposition of the Bolin bondsmen. They recommended that the proposal be not considered and that the city attorney be instructed to bring suit at once for the whole amount of the defaication. A resolution carrying this into effect was adopted without discussion, but another resolution authorizing the employ ment of experts for additional investigation was criticised. Thomas wanted to know how much more investigation was necessary He declared that the matter had been al lowed to drag along until it had become

Wheeler explained that the first investigation was merely for the purpose of estab-lishing the amount of the defalcation. The additional investigation was for the purpose discovering how far the figures of the ordsmen, by which they attempted to bondsmen, by which they attempted to show that $62,000 of city money had been transferred to the school fund were cor-

Several councilmen expressed the opinion that after the experts had spent several months on the books they should not have overlooked such an important point as th one it was now desired to investigate. 'resolution was finally adopted, after amendment had been inserted limiting the Another gas franchise ordinance was introduced by Kennard. It differs from the one previously introduced in that the restrictions complained of by the promoters Boyd streets were offered for sale. The are eliminated. In introducing the ordinance Kennard stated that he was authorized connected with the coffee company, but by the promoters to say that they could not accept the original ordinance and it would be useless to pass it. The new ordinance was referred to the committee on the auction continued the greater part of the day.

DEATH OF MRS. EMILY BRIGGS. One of the Pioneer Women of Omaha Passes Away. Mrs. Emily Briggs died at the family resi-

ence, 424 South Twentieth street, at 10

clock Monday night, after an illness of two veeks' duration. She was 61 years of age. Mrs. Emily Briggs was one of the first women to make her home on the rugged bluff which has been succeeded by the city of Omaha. She came here with her husband from Skaneateles, N. Y., in 1856, and since that time has resided in the city. She, with her late husband, Judge Briggs, was closely associated with much of the carly history of Omaha, and at the time of her death was undoubtedly the oldest woman resident of Omaha. Since the death of Judge Briggs, about twelve years ago, she has had the entire care of a large property, and the ability and foresight which she displayed in its management was considered something remarkable in a woman. She displayed an executive ability that would have been creditable to many business men, but the burden was very heavy during her later years, and it is said that it con-tributed somewhat to hasten the end, The deceased leaves one child, a son, Clinon H. Briggs. The funeral will take place today at 3 p. n. from Trinity cathedral.

SAY GOOD BYE TO THEIR PASTOR.

Farewell Reception Tendered to Rev. W. P. Hellings. The First Baptist church was thronged last evening with the members of the congregaion and representatives of the different churches of the city, who had assembled to tender Rev. William P. Hellings a farewell reception. The edifice was brilliantly lighted and the chancel tastefully decorated with sumach, grasses and flowers. John R. Webster presided over the exercises. The early abandoned and much of it was from six hours of the evening were spent in social discourse. Those responding in short nddresses, expressing their regret at the venting travel. The resolution was discussed at considerable length and there was a lively contention between the committees on judiciary and viaducts and railways for the reference. It was facilities the reference of the refer made a few remarks, saying that while the church felt keenly the loss of its pastor, yet, as it believed he was going to a larger field work, it wished him godspeed. Rev. Mr. Hellings responded in a few words expressive of his regret at leaving his six years' pastorate. Rev. Mr. Hellings goes to Jamestown, N. Y. During his ministry sixty-seven have been baptized into the church and over $21 000 has been raised in the last four years for church work.

Smallpox Scare is Over.

In the opinion of the health authorities Omaha's latest smallpox scare is over, and n a day or two the quarantine that has been maintained over the dwelling at 1716 South Eighth street will be raised and teh occupants allowed to mingle with the world again. Drs. Blythin and Towne visited the patient yesterday morning and found her practically recovered. The policemen who have been compelled to stand guard day and night at the front gate are overjoyed at the end of their tedious task, and one or two of them who were scared half to death during the first week for fear they would acquire the disease breathe easier.

The sale was made to satisfy the creditors of the coffee company.

Musical Society Elects Officers. At Creighton hall last evening the Omaha Musical society held its second meeting and elected the following officers: President, Jules G. Lumbard: vice president, W. F. Alexander: secretary, L. T. Sunderland. At the meeting which will be held next Tuesday evening an executive committee will be appointed.

There were about eighty singers present and several visitors, among whom were Mrs. C. F. Manderson, Mrs. A. U. Wyman and Mrs. Nathan Shiverick. Messrs. Butler and Cahn, the planists, were also interested spectators. Twenty-five new members joined the society and the "Finale" to the second act of "Traviata" was rehearsed. IS YOUR BRAIN TIRED!

fact of the matter is that the State had misjudged the state of the money mar-ket and put in really the finest goods to be had. There has been and will be some of these days again a call for first-class material, but just now the bent of the Gmaha race seems to be to get as much as possible for as little as possible. While this is commendable on the part of economically inclined people, yet at the same time it is hard on the business man who expects to make enough profit to pay his rent.

The State has solved the problem, how-ever, even if it does entail a great loss to them, by placing this entire stock on sale at or about cost. They confidently expect to turn this entire stock of new and perfectly desirable goods into cash before the presi-dential election is decided.

All the cloaks, suits and wraps, not an out-of-date style in the house, all the boys' clothing, of which there is an immense assortment, all the shoes for men, women and children, of the finest kind, everything the store contains, will be sold from this on at such terrible sacrifices that no one can afford to stay away. EXPLANATION FROM EXPRESSMEN. Review of Their Trouble During the State Fair.

OMAHA, Sept. 22 .- To the Editor of The Bee: Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to explain to the public briefly the facts and my relations to the draymen's trouble at the recent State fair, as the papers took occasion to criticise myself and others for appealing to the I want the public to know the

The Omaha Merchants' Express and Transfer company claim by virtue of a contract made with the State Board of Agriculture to have the exclusive right to transfer all whibits from the cars to the fair grounds. Last year other draymen were compelled to remove exhibits from their wagens to those owned by the Merchants' Express company, and exhibitors told that if they paid other draymen they would have to pay again be-fore they could remove their exhibits from the buildings. This year the other draymen determined to assert their rights and appeal to the court, if necessary, so when the state board ordered our men arrested and their teams locked up to prevent them from working, we applied to Judge Fawcett for a temporary restraining order, which was granted, after which a hearing was had before Judge Powell, and while he did not grant the inas prayed for his ruli the restraining order unnecessary. But notwithstanding the court ruled that exhibitors could hire whom they pleased to remove their goods from the cars, the state board caused exhibitors who did not hire Omaha Merchants' Express company all the annoyance possible by requiring exhibitors and drivers to secure permits from the state the ground, but exhibitors who employed the Merchants' Express company were not required so to do. We want the public to understand that our actions were not prompted by any mercenary motive, as we were as much interested in making the State fair a success as any other citizen, but simply to make a test All we ask is the same privilege to earn a living in our chosen avocation as other citizens. In view of the fact that we are to have three other State fairs, also the Transmis-sissippl exposition, we realize the importance of having the matter settled. Having thus explained the matter we are willing to submit our cause to an impartial public

WANT THE CHILDREN. Father and Aunt Appeal to Court to A spirited legal contest over the possession of two little children took place in the county comet yesterday, the case

arising on the application of Charles

M. Highsmith to be appointed guardof Charles and Sadie Waybright, aged 9 and 5 years, respectively. The father of the children is Miles Waybright. The mother of the children died about two weeks ago, having been divorced from Waybright about two years ago. Mrs. Highsmith was Mrs. Waybright's sister and the mother and two children had made their home with the Highmuiths since Mrs. Way-bright left her husband on account of his cruelty and dissipation.

It developed at the hearing in the county court that Waybright had not contributed a cent toward the support of his wife or children since they left him, the mother supporting herself and the children by work ing in a laundry until she became ill, after which the children were placed in the Creche by the Highsmiths and Mrs. Way-bright was nursed by her sister until her death. Mrs. Highsmith stated on the witness stand that Waybright came to her house in an intoxicated condition to attend his wife's funeral and raised a disturbance during the services by demanding the custody of his children. He was refused and threatened to appeal to the courts, but the Highsmiths took time by the fore-lock and appealed to the courts themselves. A very bitter feeling was exhibited by both sides to the contest and statements re feeting upon the character of both parties were freely made.

HUSBAND CHARGED WITH CRUELTY. Pitiful Story Told to the Police by

Mrs. William Everitt. William Everitt called at the police station yesterday afternoon and asked to be protected from her husband. Her physical condition is pitiable in the extreme, added to which she says she has to bear the part of a rejected lover and see her supposed husband fondly lavish his affections on another woman, while she is relegated to a damp, back garret, to suffer a life of banishment and slow death. The woman has been pronounced by Dr. Mercer as fast approaching the grave, it being only a question of a few months until she will succumb to the rayages of a cancer which has developed upor her left cheek. She says over three month ago Everitt, who runs a basket store at 511 South Sixteenth street, forced her to live in retirement in the back garret, and forbade her to procure medical attendance when it might have availed. Whenever she appeared in the lower rooms she says she was me by a tirade of abuse. The couple have lived
