LETTER FROM HOWARD GOULD

Epistle to the English Public Promised for Publication This Week.

IT REOPENS THE NIAGARA INCIDENT

Surreptitious Visit of the Yacht Rac-Ing Association Committee to Survey the American Racer Will Be Reviewed.

[Copyright, 1896, by Press Publishing Company. LONDON, Sept. 28 .- (New York World Ca. blegram-Special Telegram.)-The very unpleasant scandal concerning the surreptitious survey of Howard Gould's Niagara by the committee of the Yacht Racing association last spring will be revived this week by the publication of a letter from Howard Gould to the council of the association, in ing. which it is understoood that yachtsman will comment in severe terms upon the action of the association. All the facts in the case will be for the first time set forth. Many of the facts involved have been heretofore given in the World's cables, but from the beginning the utmost reticence has been maintained in official yachting circles concerning the episode. It has never, indeed, been even alluded to in the daily English press, and the yachting papers have treated it very gingerly. When the letter and the correspondence between Mr. Gould and the committee are given to the public, which will be tomorrow, it is understood the con-troversy is certain to become bitter.

Yacht Racing association is the court of last appeal in the English yachting world. Lord Dunrayen was elected vice president in succession to the late Lord Waterford, just after the publication of his charges against Defender. The following is a statement of the facts of the Niagara incident so far as heretofore known. Immediately after the race of May 22 of the Royal Thames Yacht club, in which Niagara was a competitor, a committee of three gentle-men from the Yacht Racing association visited Niagara at her moorings and made an examination. The owner was not present, but, according to the committee's report, it was given ever facility by Captain Barr to make the investigation. They made this visit, as they afterward wrote Mr. Gould, because a report was made to the council of the Yacht Racing association yacht Niagara was fitted with water tanks under the seats on each side of the cabin, and that these tanks were connected by pipes, so as to make it possible by merely turning the cock to run water from one tank to the other, thus obtaining shifting water ballast that might be advantageous under certain conditions. committee added that the members of the council did not wish to convey the idea that they believed the tanks had been used for the purposes indicated, but, on the con-trary, their impression was just the other

ADDED INSULT TO INSULT. However, the council more or less politely requested Mr. Gould to take steps to make it impracticable to run water from one tank to another, and thus place the matter be-yond suspicion. Mr. Gould answered the council in a very tart letter. The action of the committee was condemned by the better element of the English sporting world. The yachting press designated the investigation es "an unfortunate affair."

It is said Mr. Gould will maintain his efforts by correspondence to obtain from the association the names of the committee and Some Are Speedy. who lodged complaint about the tanks, and an explanation of the demand for altera-tion have been ignored. He repudiates all possibility of unfair intention or act on his part, and intimates that some ulterior mo-tive must have inspired the action of the association. He declares that international sport has received a severe blow. He says he has vainly waited until the end of the cason for some explanation The tanks in question had a capacity of twenty gallons each, and the association had before measured and passed Niagara with the tanks placed exactly as at the time of the secret investigation. Admiral Montague, the famous English yachtsman. wrote to the press at the time a letter, in which he said: "There must be others beside myself who have read with amazemen the report that the Yacht Racing association thought it necessary to send repre sentatives post haste to board Niagara They did not even wait to see the owner of Niagara, but surveyed the vessel in his

SAYS THE SULTAN HAS PROMISED

Story of French Pressure Confirme from Another Source. LONDON, Sept. 29 .- The Times' Paris correspondent quotes a Constantinople dispatch to the Temps which confirms the report that M. Cambon, the French ambassador at Con stantinopie, has made a serious representa tion to the sultan regarding the massacre of Armenians. The dispatch expresses the belief that the Sultan has promised to constitute a commission to extend reforms throughout the Turkish empire A Paris dispatch to the Chronicle says that M. Cambon's mission to Constantinoplis a success. "The ambassador," the dis patch adds, "adopted a tone almost a menac toward the sultan. There is not the slight est fear of dissension among the powers. An Armenian correspondent of the Daily News says that the sultan has exiled his second wife, together with a batch of palac courtiers and notables who were suspected

FROM MAYOR OF ANCIENT ATHENS.

Testimonials of Regard and Esteem Are Presented to Boston's Mayor. BOSTON, Sept. 28.-There was an interest ing gathering in the mayor's office at 10:40 o'clock today, when Mayor Quincy received a delegation that had been commissioned to bring to him, the chief magistrate of the American Athens, the testimonials of regard and appreciation from the mayor of ancient Rev. Peter MacQueen of Somerville, who was specially deputized to convey the message and medals, headed the delegation. In an appropriate speech he presented to the mayor the two medals, one of gold and the other of bronze. On the obverse side of the bronze medal is a head of Olympian Jove and a depiction of Olympla. On the reverse is this inscription in "International Olympian Games, Athens, 1896," surrounding a representation of the Acropolis. On the obverse of the gold medal Athenia is seen presenting a crown to the victors, while on the right is the inscription: 'Olympian Games, 1778 B. C. to 1896." The inscription on the reverse side is: "International Olympian Games, Athens, 1896,"

TO MAKE A BIG BARGAIN COUNTER.

Wanamaker, it is Announced, Has Bought Hilton-Hughes Business. NEW YORK, Sept. 28.-A positive announcement was made this afternoon that John Wanamaker of Philadelphia had bought the business of the suspended firm of Hilton, Hughes & Co. This announcement was made by Robert C. Ogden, the general manager of the Philadelphia establishment and a member of Mr. Wanamaker's firm. The gist of Mr. Ogden's statement was that Mr. Wanamaker had bought the entire business of Hilton, Hughes & Co., together with either the fee or lease of the real estate used by the firm. Included in the real estate is the big building on Broadway, Tenth street, Fourth avenue and Ninth street, which is the property of ex-Judge Hilton. Ex-Judge Horace Russel confirmed the report of the sale, but declined absolutely to enter into details, except to say that ex-Judge Hilton would pay off all the debts of the old firm, no matter how much they exceed the amoun to be received from Mr. Wanamaker. Mr. Wanamaker will start up the business again as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

"It's hard to tell," he replied. "Anyway the whole thing is preliminary."
Despite the secretiveness of the members of the union, reports of their doings become semi-public property. Those who are anxious to return to work occasionally forget their pledges of secrecy regarding what is going on within their ranks. From an authoritative source it was learned that as the committee created at Saturday's meeting now stands, two are in favor of advising an attempt to make terms of surender. while three are in favor of connuing the strike in its present quiescent

Another still more significant indication hat a number of the strikers are wearying of idleness came out at military headquarters. Several local members of the union, men who have for years been residents of Leadville, called singly and privately on General Brooks. All of them wanted to assure him that they had no sympathy with the crimes that have been incidental to the strike and would be glad to have the matter over with. At least half a dozen of these plooked for visitors pledged themselve lefinitely to the military commander that hereafter they would acquaint him with what information they could obtain concern-ing possible future outbreaks of lawless-ness, giving him the names of men who roposed to take part in such work, so he ould make arrests beforehand. In sub stance these strikers agreed to play de ective on the violently inclined members of the union, in order to save the district at large from further trouble and possibly bring the strike to an early end.

Adjutant General Moses has had a ference with Governor McIntire regarding an early settlement, but would not say any thing as to the result. "All that I can say now is that there is no intention on the par f the state to withdraw even a portion of the troops. Everything is quiet today. Th ommittee may come to some decision to

The statement that a committee of five waappointed by the Miners' union Saturday night to consider the question of declaring the strike off has been both confirmed and denied by prominent members, but today Secretary Dewar declared positively that the strike will not be declared off unless the full demands of the union are conceded. As Secretary Dewar is understood to be a mem-ber of the committee, much importance is credited to his statement.

The meeting of the Miners' union scheduled for tonight, at which it was understood the report of the committee to consider the question of abandoning the strike would be submitted, has been postponed till Wednes

ROADS DENY DISCRIMINATIONS Interstate Commerce Commission

Now Sitting at St. Louis. ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.-Hon. William R Morrison, J. C. Clements, J. D. Youmans, members of the Interstate Commerce com mission, heard arguments here today in the complaint filed by St. Louis shippers, alleging discrimination in freight rates made The complaint was formally laid before the commissioners by Orr, Christy and Bruce attorneys for the complainants. Attorney James Hagerman of the Missouri

Kansas & Texas, conducted the case on be-half of the railroads. He read general de-nials of charges made in the complaints. The roads filing denials were the St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern, Missouri Pacific St. Louis & Southwestern, Missouri, Kansar & Texas, and the St. Louis & San Francisco The denials stated that the rates were not excessive. It was set forth that the rates at present in force had been determined ipon by the Southwestern Traffic associa tion after a careful consideration of the in-terests of both the shipper and the conumer. In each of the denials it was said that the Texas jobbing trade could not stand a reduction of the rates now in operation.

JUDGE PORTER TO HEAD TICKET.

He is New York's Candidate for Governor in Place of Thucher. NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The democratic state committee met tonight in this city to hear the report of the committee appointed to notify the nominees of the recent Buffalo state convention. There was a full attendance by the members in person or by proxy, but Senator Hill, who surprised every one by appearing at a recent meeting of the committee with a proxy and then made sensational speeches in behalf of John Boyd Thacher, the gubernatorial nominee, was not present this time. The committee reported that Mr. Thicker had refused to accept the nomination for governor and that Judge Titus had accepted the nomination for su preme court justice and that Wilbur F. Porter, the nominee for lieutenant governor had placed himself in the hands of the com mittee. The meeting of the committee had been delayed an hour by caucuses, so when the report was made there was little delay in the proceedings. In these caucuses it in place of Mr. Thacher should be W. F.
