

YEAR'S WORK FOR NEBRASKA

Annual Meeting of the Manufacturers' and Consumers' Association.

SECRETARY'S REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

Commendable Progress Made in Inducement People to Use Nebraska Products and Patronize Home Business Men.

The directors of the Manufacturers' and Consumers' association held their regular annual meeting at the Commercial club rooms yesterday for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

The work of the Manufacturers' and Consumers' association has progressed during the past year along lines very similar to those pursued in former years.

It has regularly attended the meetings of the State Board of Purchase and Supplies and it has come to be regarded as a matter of course that the Nebraska goods shall be specified in its contracts for supplies.

SPOKE FOR HOME INDUSTRIES.

"Invitations have been accepted by the secretary to speak on home industries before the Woman's club of Omaha, the State Culture convention at Hastings, the State Federation of Women's clubs at Fremont and the Retail Dealers' association of Omaha.

"Our association was instrumental in securing engagements at the Beatrice Chautauque and the Nebraska State fair for Mrs. Mary M. Pugh and Mrs. Harriet MacMurphy, of the University of Nebraska, who were lectured on scientific value of food products and gave demonstrations in practical cooking to large audiences.

"The Nebraska club, which received its first impetus from members of our association, has accomplished a great deal of good in re-establishing confidence in our state and in inducing the immigration of desirable citizens.

"A large number of circulars containing a classified list of our products have been distributed, but it seems to me that the plan of a joint advertisement in a large number of newspapers, which was discussed last spring, would be a more effective means of good results and should be taken up as soon as possible.

CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

"The great Transmississippi and International exposition will open in Omaha June 1, 1897, will afford to Nebraska manufacturers not only the opportunity of a lifetime to advertise their goods, but will enable us also to show our natural and undeveloped resources and should be the means of attracting men with capital to open up new factories in our state.

"One of the principal objects of our association is to keep Nebraska money circulating in Nebraska, and while we are urging the people to buy Nebraska goods, we are also urging them to buy home products and to buy them of home jobbers and home retailers, it would not be amiss to urge the people of our state to educate their children to Nebraska schools and colleges.

"In closing I wish to say that I wish to thank the press of the state for the earnest support it has given us in our work. I wish also to thank the officers and members of the association for the kindness and consideration they have always shown to me for the appreciation, freely expressed of the efforts made in their behalf, and for their forbearance when I have failed to accomplish all that might have been expected. The association maintained, when in more prosperous times, which we all hope are near at hand, our association will grow in membership and in usefulness."

The election of officers, resulting in the following being selected: J. C. Harpham of Lincoln, re-elected president, C. B. Dempster of Beatrice, vice president, C. C.

REASONS FOR CHANGING DATES.

Exposition Directors Explain Why the Election Was Postponed.

OMAHA, Sept. 28.—To the Editor of The Bee: In justice to all the subscribers to the stock of the Transmississippi and International Exposition it is proper to explain the reasons for the postponement of the election of directors to postpone the stockholders' meeting for the election of fifty directors until December 1, which action was taken at the last meeting of the present board, held on Friday, September 25.

The directors of the Transmississippi and International Exposition are instructed to investigate the advisability of consolidating the municipal and county governments and the merit of the various amendments that have been suggested to bring about that union.

The thanks of the club were extended to Major Wilcox for the gift of the large golden eagle that hangs in the hallway. The Omaha Cricket club acknowledged an invitation from the club to hold its meetings in the club's room.

The consideration which influenced the directors were as follows: 1. The present stringent condition of financial affairs is inconvenient for many of the business men, who had subscribed large amounts, to pay the balance on the order of the directors, unless and until they are allowed to participate in the election of directors.

The railroad employees and many other subscribers to the stock of the exposition, who had subscribed large amounts, to pay the balance on the order of the directors, unless and until they are allowed to participate in the election of directors.

The railroad employees and many other subscribers to the stock of the exposition, who had subscribed large amounts, to pay the balance on the order of the directors, unless and until they are allowed to participate in the election of directors.

It was urged that more subscriptions be obtained and the amount raised to $500,000 before the certificate of the secretary of the treasury was made, we would be in a position to ask for the proposed increase of $300,000 in the appropriation of the United States government.

It was therefore decided to postpone the election and continue vigorously the soliciting of subscriptions. JOHN A. WAKEFIELD, Secretary.

Neither suits of last year nor the prices of last year are g basis for comparison, because the suits are different better; and the prices are different—lower, and the best way to judge of the difference is to see the suits. Look at this handsome overlaid suit marked $6.00, in sizes up to 19 years of age. Elegant in appearance, handsome in effect, perfect in fabric, fit, finish, and equal to any ten or twelve dollar suit of last season for wear. It is many a long day since six dollars bought so much of elegance; it will be many a long day before it will purchase it again. People who care about saving money will look at this suit. People who don't won't.
