The republican city convention, held last night at Washington hall, was one of the most harmonious gatherings which ever assembled in this city. The business of the convention was done with neatures and dispatch and not a jar occurred to mar the barmony which formed a prominent feature of the proceedings. The only thing which prevented the convention from being a most humdrum affair were the obsequies over the aspirations of the councilman from the Eighth ward. The deceased enjoyed the novelty of being present at his own function of J. A. Beverly of the Ninth and his ambitton was quietly laid to most in a summative the summation of the city central comto rest in a snowdrift which will hide it mittee from jublic view for many moons. He filed his protest against the returns from the Eighth ward, so far as they related to the vote on councilmen, and hustled around among the delegates looking for votes, but the frosty reception given him by the delegates individually was not a circumstance to the snow storm which buried him from sight as soon as the convention got around to his case. In the language of the street, he "wasn't in it a minute." The prospective tangle from the Fifth ward over the tie vote on councilman was adjusted by the delegation and Candidates Lunt and Askwith before the convention assembled. Askwith withdrew and left the field to Lunt.

The convention also took a fall out of the mayor and the city attorney, nominat-ing a candidate to fill the vacancy caused by death of Councilman Samuel Dubois. The gentleman from the Fourth ward who is now filling the position was not men-tioned in the convention, and will be re-tired to private life after the election returns are in.

SAT DOWN ON TAYLOR.

It was 8:05 p. m. when E. P. Davis, chair man of the city central committee, called the convention to order. The call was read by J. G. Kuhn, after which Mr. Davis introduced Ralph W. Breckenridge as tem-

Mr. Breckenridge made a brief address, touching upon the importance of mak-ing a ticket of good men. At this point H. T. Leavitt of the Sixth

At this point H. T. Leavitt of the Sixth ward asked if there were not six members of the Board of Education to be nominated, instead of five, as stated in the call. Secretary Gillan of the school board was called for and explained that there were five members to be elected for three years each and one to be elected to fill the unex-pired term of one year made vacant by the resignation of Mr. Cramblet. The election of a temporary secretary

The election of a temporary secretary was taken up and E. G. Starr of the Sixth ward was elected and A. D. White of the Fifth was chosen as assistant.

The Eighth ward was filed on behalf of Ca-det Taylor, asking for a recount of the votes cast for councilman, "in the interest of an If it didn't injure the United States, then honest count," alleging that nonresidents Germany might try it. One week ago the Bryan men met at the Lincoln hotel and formed what they called . "Bryan and Savall" other a "Bryan and Sewall' club. The entire number who were then enrolled did not exceed 100. Tonight's meeting was one which demonstrates the fact that so far as the traveling men are concerned the state of Nebraska furnishes more pure patriots than any other portion of the country. The meeting was a grand success, and the opinion of the Lincoln people is to the effect that the commercial travelers of the United States are in the main for McKinley.
