The craft reports no damage to the schooner yacht Novlette, which was driven ashore. The yacht is badly damaged and is likely to go to pieces. There is no danger to the coast, but it is not as disastrous as on the ocean coast line.

Major McKinley Explains the Country's Troubles to Workingmen.
FREE SILVER CANNOT HELP THE LABORER
If All Silver in World Were Mined Country Would Be No Better Off If It Did Not Circulate.
CANTON, O., Oct. 12.—The first of the two delegations announced for today came in on a special train of eleven coaches which reached here shortly before 1 o'clock. The party came from Ince and the Monongahela valley of Pennsylvania and was made up of citizens representing the various interests of that locality. They were very enthusiastic and organized into marching clubs, mostly uniformed. Bands and a colored glee club terminated the music. Owing to rain the delegation was confined to the tabernacle, where McKinley responded to the introductory address of the venerable George V. Lawrence, ex-member of congress and an octogenarian.

In the course of his address, Major McKinley said:
"Western Pennsylvania is filled with many proud and historic memories. It registers the birthplace of that splendid parliamentarian and gifted statesman and great secretary of state, James G. Blaine. It is very gratifying to me to receive from the hands of the Fayette club this beautiful cane, made of the wood of Mr. Blaine's home in which he was born at Brownsville and to assure you that it shall always be a precious souvenir. You are fortunate, too, in having at one time among your citizens of Fayette county that illustrious first secretary of the treasury under Thomas Jefferson in 1801, and who filled that great office twelve years and is known to the secretaries we ever had, ranking with Alexander Hamilton. It is said the first reason he introduced as secretary was a resolution of representatives was a resolution inquiring about the condition of the treasury—a resolution which is not needed at this time. It was distinguished for having insisted that the revenues of the government should be adequate at all times to meet the public expenditures, and one of the great principles of the constitution during his administration as secretary of the treasury he reduced the national debt from $86,000,000 in 1802 to about $14,000,000 in 1817. It was his proud boast, when he made his report to congress, that this wonderful reduction of the public debt had gone on without resorting to internal taxation, either direct or indirect, but that this vast sum of money was provided for by duties upon imports."

TREASURY IS A PROUD FACT.
"This bit of history suggests the condition of our own treasury and the condition of our own people. For three years and a half the government has been borrowing money to live upon, and the people have been doing likewise very largely. We want, my fellow citizens, something to stop this borrowing as to government and people. We may not be able to do it at once—when we are sick it takes a long time to recover our normal vitality—but there ought to be no borrowing and no charge of public affairs to adopt some policy, and that right speedily, which would first provide enough money to run the government of the United States. We ought not to issue bonds in time of peace, except to preserve the credit and honor of the government. That opens the question of a protective tariff. I do not know of anything that will do it better than protection in the tariff. In the American history that in all the years, at least for the most part, under which we have had a protective tariff, we have always had a surplus in the treasury. Now that policy wisely and judiciously applied in public law is one of the first and most important acts for the people to perform. They cannot perform it, however, without a republican congress and a republican administration. The only power that can make a protective tariff congress resides in the American people and the only power that can make a protective tariff administration resides in the American people. By your ballots three weeks from tomorrow you, in conjunction with your fellow citizens, will determine whether or not that policy shall prevail for the next four years. What will your answer be, my fellow Pennsylvanians? McKinley and I are in favor of that policy for another reason. Because while it provides adequate revenue for the government to run the industries and occupations of the American people. There is a notion in some quarters that we need to bring about prosperity with free silver. I do not believe it would be better than free coinage than it is now. There would be just one way for the workingman to get it, and that would be to earn it. There would be no other way. He would have to do it and that would be to sell his products. There would be just one way for the merchant to get it—a good old-fashioned way. He would have to sell his goods for cash, and give something for the money. That is the only way you could get it if we closed all the river in the world."

DOES NOT MAKE WORK.
"Besides, did it ever occur to you that money does not make work? Work makes money. There is just as much money in this country today as there was from 1870 to 1890 and more; but what is the trouble? It is that it does not make work. It is that it does not put money into circulation. Money does not want to be idle any more than labor wants to be idle. The man who has money and does not want to be earning something and the only reason he does not put it out now is because he is afraid he will be repaid in depreciated currency. And when he does not put it out and it does not circulate, then there is no work. When you have money and do not want to be earning, you are just as idle as money, distress and suffering prevail."

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 12.—In a letter to Samuel Bancroft, jr., editor of Every Evening, Hon. Thomas P. Hayard, United States ambassador to Great Britain, has repudiated the platform and nominees of the democratic party in the Chicago convention and advised constitutional democrats to vote at the approaching election for Messrs. Palmer and Buckner. The letter is dated London, Sept. 26, and is as follows:
LONDON, Sept. 26.—My Dear Mr. Bancroft: I have been anxiously and personally engaged in the relation to my personal opinion upon the serious issue now raised before the people of the United States by the several political organizations.

McKINLEY CLUBS GALORE IN PROCESSION
Nebraska City and Numerous Adjacent Towns Contribute a Multitude of Sound Money Voters and Shouters.
NEBRASKA CITY, Oct. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Tonight witnessed the largest and most magnificent local demonstration ever held in the history of Nebraska City and Otoe county. The occasion was the republican sound money meetings addressed by Senator Thurston and Congressman Strode. All the afternoon trains were laden with delegations from outside towns, Peru, Brownsville, Syracuse, Palmyra and Wepping Water sending their McKinley clubs en masse. The M. N. Sound Money Marching club, more than 100 strong, accompanied by a silver cornet band, came from Plattsmouth. Hundreds of farmers from the surrounding country came in the early evening and by 7 o'clock the main streets of the city were jammed with a singing, enthusiastic mass of humanity. The torchlight procession outnumbered the parade and was enthusiastically received in this campaign. Four brass bands and fully 1,000 voters were in line and marched under sound money banners. A brilliant pyrotechnic display was made in the interest and effectiveness of the parade. The opera house was packed to suffocation an hour before the parade was dismissed. At 8 o'clock the same enthusiastic and immense overflow meeting at Standard hall was held and hundreds were turned away. Hon. E. P. Warren presided and introduced the speakers. He then reported that in Johnson county every sheep grower, republican and democrat, will vote against him, and in Natrona, Converse, Fremont and Hitchcock counties there are a great many shepherds, the same feeling of opposition to him exists. His vote in the state is 2,000 in the neighborhood of 7,000. He is a fallacious doctrine advocated by the popular speakers.

JOHNSON COUNTY RALLY.
The largest political demonstration in Johnson county was the republican rally at the town of Hannu, held on Monday night. The city was full of people and the rally was a complete success. The incoming train brought a large delegation. Hon. W. P. Butler, William Warner, Charles Howe, Jack MacCall, Charles E. Casper, A. J. Burnham and other prominent men were present. The big parade tonight was the feature of the evening. Twelve hundred uniformed people were in line, including the Tecumseh McKinley club, the commonwealth club, the Vesta and Crab Orchard republican clubs, Lincoln and Table Rock Plambeau clubs, Woman's Marching club from Pawnee City, the Lincoln and Table Rock republican clubs, the bands of Tecumseh, Pawnee City, Sterling, Crab Orchard and Vesta and Lincoln and Tecumseh drum corps. Free suppers were served to 1,200 people.

Election of Congressman in Wyoming is Easily Foreshadowed.
CHRYSENE, Wyo., Oct. 12.—(Special.)—The time prescribed by Wyoming statutes for filing nominations and declarations of nominations with the secretary of state has expired and no new contest can now be placed in the field or chances made in those already named. The nominees in the state for congress are Frank W. Mondell, republican, the present incumbent; John E. Osborne, democrat; and William Brown, populist. Continuous efforts have been made for the past month by the democrats to induce William Brown, the populist candidate to withdraw and support Osborne, but he has persistently refused and is making a strong and active canvass for votes. Brown is an able speaker and a man of considerable resources. He will draw a large vote which otherwise would be cast for Osborne. In 1891 William Tibball, the populist candidate for congress, without making an canvass, received 2,800 votes. Making due allowance to the fact that free coinage is the leading issue in the campaign in this state, that there is no possible show for William Brown, the estimate is conservative. A vote cast for him and taken from Osborne damages the silver cause a conservative estimate of the vote Brown will receive is 2,000. It is reported that by careful estimates which have been sent in to the republican state committee from the counties of the state.
