Features of the Parade Which Are Very Significant of the Sentiment that Prevails in Hall County.

GRAND ISLAND, Oct. 28 - (Special)-Lest night's republican demonstration was a corker, in the language of the day. The parade was brilliant both from the standpoint of numbers as well as that of make-up and from 4,000 to 5,000 people, standing along the sidewalks and from the second stories of buildings, viewed the same, and every now and then broke out in cheers. After the parade Hon. John M. Thurston delivered a discourse upon the political issues of the day in which he exposed the fallacies of some of the more important arguments advanced by the free silver theorists and the Bryan crew generally, and bands made a strong argument in favor of the republican suches

The parade was the longest that has taken place in this campaign or that will take place in this campaign, composed only of nome people. It was extremely difficult to take an exact account. Bisides Grand Island cavalrymen, however, there were in the parade a mounted club of thirty from Cameron, a delegation of 100 from Wood River led by the Wood River band seventy-five railroad men with colored lanterns two headlights, seventy-eight from Soldiers Home, seventy-two members of the Grand Army of the Republic, a delegation of sixty-five factory employee and seventy onds of sugar beets. There were furthermore the marching clubs of Grand Island, led by the Punific Hose company and Erieger bands; also a portion of the wheel club with lanterns and decorations. A wing warp carried a large transparency

POINTS OUT BRYAN'S STRADDLE The speaker then made a most convinc-ing exposition of the straddle Bryan maker between his eastern and western apecches, and how absolutely impossible it was for any intelligent mun to reconcile the two. He demonstrated how, in the same political grip sack in which Mr. Bryan today carried a silver brick be carried 'projected' cutlery in 1882, demanding lower prices than the robber tariff gave; how in 1894 he thanked God that he had assisted in giving to inboring men lower prices." and how he now wandered over the length and breadth of the land telling them that the gold standard made prices too low-they ught to pay twice as much for the products they buy.
