

BALLOTING BY MACHINERY

Automatic Devices for Registering the Freeman's Will.

TESTS MADE IN VARIOUS STATES

Description of Several Mechanical Appliances Designed to Simplify and Facilitate Voting at Elections.

One of the twelve amendments to the constitution of Nebraska, submitted to the judgment of the electors of the state, provides that "all votes shall be by ballot or such other method as may be prescribed by law, provided the secrecy of voting be preserved."

The purpose of the amendment is to vest in the legislature power to improve and simplify the present cumbersome system of voting by authorizing the use of mechanical appliances of demonstrated superiority.

There is no more interesting automatic registering device than the voting machine of the highest type. It has a kind of its own. There is no possibility of cheating without exposing its inner workings with a coal chisel and hammer; and by its wonderful system of lightning calculation it has the votes all classified and counted at each poll and the result ready for the wire as soon as the last ballot is cast.

AN INDIANA DEVICE.

One of the most interesting of these patented devices is the very recent invention of a citizen of Indiana, and is one of a number described by the Philadelphia Times. The voter, unaccompanied, enters the booth, the floor of which automatically drops a short space the second he places his foot upon it. The only interior furniture is a standing desk, which has a single blank line on a continuous ballot sheet.

Entering the booth patented lately by a Brooklyn man, the voter sees upon the wall before him a collection of push buttons, each labeled with the name of a different candidate. To vote for any candidate he merely pushes the button bearing his name. He looks through the collection, arranged in groups, according to offices, and selects his choice of each. At the same time a register, like that on a bicycle cyclometer, keeps tally for each knob and notes how many votes have been cast by its means.

A PATENT BOOTH.

Some months ago a Rochester (N. Y.) man patented a booth which is bound to afford privacy to the voter. At one corner is built a large cylindrical drum, the top of which is a large cylinder, the bottom of which is a drum. It revolves upon ball bearings at the ceiling and floor.

Several inches of snow falls in western Nebraska, according to reports received yesterday morning. A great amount of moisture had fallen in Nebraska within the past thirty-six hours.

The ball system of voting is so far improved by a California patent as to become applicable to political elections. Before entering the booth the voter is handed a tray which resembles a folding slate on the exterior. While inside the booth the tray, fastened into the under side of which are a number of small balls or marbles corresponding with number of offices to be voted for.

They are so little you hardly know you are taking them. They cause no gringing. Yet they are quickly and most thoroughly. Such are the famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Small in size, great in results.

GEORGE HAUS PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Denies Having Committed the Crime Charged Against Him.

The county attorney has finally succeeded in having George Haus arraigned in the district court. Haus is the deaf and dumb man who was bound over to the district court by Judge Gordon on the charge of a criminal assault upon Kathleen Reuther.

ADVERTISING MEN WILL BANQUET.

Invitations have been sent out for a banquet to be given by the Advertising Men's club on November 9 at the Mutual hotel.

It will be exclusive, only members being invited. The club membership comprises thirty odd men, connected with publications in Omaha, South Omaha, Council Bluffs and Lincoln, as well as writers and designers of advertisements.

Among the toasts will be responses to the following: "Reading Notices Against Display Advertising," "The Advertiser and the Collector—Their Relationship," "The Future of Advertising in Omaha," in addition to speeches by Dr. A. E. Dickinson, manager of advertising of the Cudahy Packing company, and other members.

Deserted by Her Husband.

Nina Cunningham has applied for shelter and aid at the police station. She and her husband were in destitute circumstances for some time. In her extremity she was deserted about three weeks ago by her husband. She struggled along until her last penny was exhausted. The case has appealed to the sympathy of Police Matron Bennett, who was working yesterday in an effort to find shelter for the woman. The police matron will endeavor to have her accepted as an inmate of the new institution for women which was recently opened in this city by the Salvation army.

County Commissioners Meet.

The Board of County Commissioners held a short session yesterday morning. Little except routine business was transacted. Bids for supplying hard coal to the court house and jail were opened and referred to the proper committee. The bids were as follows: Nebraska Fuel company, $5.90; C. W. Hall, $6.00; and the bids opened a month ago, which were rejected because they were too high, were for supplying the necessary hard coal at $7.75 per ton. The board adjourned until Saturday of next week.

Kills His Wife in a Quarrel.

CUMBERLAND, Wis., Oct. 30.—Rufus G. Clark, a farmer living near this city, deliberately shot and killed his wife in his own house last night as the result of a quarrel. Clark is now under arrest.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS CONTINUE.

Shipments of grain and corn continue to go east in large quantities. Everything is in readiness to restore the freight rates to the basis they were on August 1 on Monday. In consequence the farmers are hustling to ship as much of their products as possible before that time. There promises to be a large movement of merchandise south for McKinley's election.

PLEA FOR THE DUMB ANIMALS.

Dr. Miller Talks to Teachers in the Interest of the Humane Society.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. George L. Miller, as president of the Nebraska State Humane society, addressed the principals of the Omaha public schools upon the subject of organizing bands of mercy in their classes.

Dr. Miller made a most eloquent appeal for the kind treatment of animals and said he considered it the duty of every teacher to instill into the mind of a pupil an early love for the dumb creatures of the field.

On behalf of the principals, Superintendent Pearce replied that the subject had already been considered by the teachers and the majority of them had formed small bands of their pupils together for the purpose spoken of by the doctor. He assured Dr. Miller that after the first time the use of tobacco, which is now being waged by the teachers, had received its proper attention the next subject would be that of inculcating pupils in the laws of kindness due all animals.

It is proposed by the local officers of the humane society to furnish literature upon the subject to the pupils who band themselves together for the good of this cause.

Among the things promised when societies are organized are: "Our Duty to the Dumb," a periodical; "Ten Lessons of Kindness," "Band of Mercy" hymns and other articles, including a gold pin for the president of each society.

Acknowledges His Guilt.

John McAdow, a young colored man, was arraigned before Judge Baker yesterday morning on the charge of grand larceny. He was charged with stealing two diamond rings from a pawnbroker, valued at $35. The charge constituted grand larceny, but McAdow asked to be allowed to plead guilty of petit larceny. The county attorney consented to this and a plea of that kind was entered. The grand jury was taken back to jail to await sentence.

Gave the Girls a Scare.

A dozen young women who attend the seminary at 614 North Nineteenth street were given a bad shock yesterday morning about breakfast time, and were unable to give proper attention to their studies for the rest of the morning. The cook endeavored to hurry up a slow fire in the range by the use of kerosene. The usual results followed, though the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

After Election

A great many people in Omaha need winter suits this minute but they are waiting till after election to see "which way the cat jumps."

If the cat jumps the right way they will conclude to keep warm this winter and if he doesn't they think they might as well keep cool.

If the cat shouldn't jump—or should keep on jumping after he got started—we don't know what these people are going to do about it, but we do know right now—before the cat jumps—they can buy the best five dollar suit of clothes here that anybody has ever seen anywhere at any time.

It is a special purchase of Bromley's "Kore Blak" chevots made up into double breasted suits lined with 10 ounce Farmers' satin and selling for the first time in this country at $5.00 a suit.

The stores that are selling these same suits at $7.00 are waiting till the cat jumps before they mark 'em down to $6.98.

In the meantime the man who waits till after election stands a good show of getting left. Somebody is going to get left.

Our Catalogue will be delivered before election, too.
