terday and was at the Paxton for a few hours. He is on his way to the Indian territory, as a member of the senate committee on Indian affairs, to investigate some complaints that have been made regarding the condition of affairs there. "I had intended," said the senator to a Bee representative, "to pay a visit to several, if not all of the tribes, but my time will be too limited and it is not likely that I will visit any except the Osages." Asked concerning the exposition and its prospects, the senator said: "There is every reason to be encouraged if the people of Omaha will only do their duty, and I am sure they will. They have undertaken an enterprise of vast magnitude and which will have far-reaching effects-greater, I think, than most of your people imagine. I think they have the push and enterprise to carry it to a successful termination. It would be too bad if it failed to reach its full magnitude or the perfection which it is capable of attaining through any over-sight, and I do not think it will. The prin-cipal danger is not that the people of Omaha and the transmississippi country cannot or do not intend to do everything that is necessary to its success, but that the enter-prise will be crippled by delay.

It is very essential that the conditions precedent to securing the government aid complied with before congress convenes and that the secretary of the treasury b convinced that the necessary amount of bona fide stock has been subscribed. The certificate of that official that the associa-tion has complied with the conditions pre-scribed by the act passed at the last sea-sion of congress is essential before any thing can be done toward securing a spe cific appropriation for the government ex This must be secured before states or individuals can be expected to de anything toward being represented. It is in fact, the thing around which the whole enterprise hinges, and the sooner the specific appropriation of the government car be secured and the government officials start to work on the government building and exhibit the better it will be. In fact, it is essential that this be done at an early

When once offered it will be referred to the committee of which Senator Thurston is the chairman, and he can be depended upon to take care of it there. In the appropriation it will require watching, but I have every faith that in case the people who are back of the enterprise here make the proper show ing and make it in the proper time that the amendment can be carried through. "If this cannot be done it means the meas coming session of the legislature making an appropriation for a state exhibit at the exposition?" was asked,

"I do not see any reason to doubt that the coming session of the legislature will make ample provision for the representation of the state in a manner commensurate with the importance and the magnitude of the enterprise. I think I know pretty well the feel-ing of the people of the state, regardless of party affiliation, on this question, and it i that the exposition is of prime importance to the state and all of the transmississipp country. There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that the coming session of the legislature will make a liberal appropriation for the purpose of having the state repre-sented and that the politics of the majority of that body will not enter into considera-tion in the matter. I know a great many of the members elect and they are level-header business men who will look on this question as a simple business proposition and they are just as much interested in the success of the enterprise as anybody in the city of

You can say to the people of Omaha for me that in my opinion they can banish their fears on that score, and I think I speak from a thorough knowledge of the men who will compose the coming legislature. Mr. Whiteside's engagement at the Creigh on terminated last night with a performance of "Othello." The event was notable in that he star for the first time essayed the role of Iago; that his leading man, Mr. Herman, made his first appearance in the title role and that the Desdemona of Miss Moore was ikewise a new one to the stage. So ambilous an attempt and withal so successful an chievement, merits more careful consideration than is possible in the brief space of time between the end of the play and the going to press of the morning paper. For this reason a detailed notice of these most recent Othello, lago and Desdemona is put off until the Sunday issue, when their salient points can be more adequately treated.

The books were all nest and clean and the tallies of the vote were legible and correct. Less time was consumed by the canvassing poard in going over the returns from this ward than in any other similar number of dis-tricts in the entire city.

In striking contrast with these returns, however, was the tally sheet returned by the First district of the First ward of South Omaha. The clerk who kept the tally sheet had used his fingers for a blotter, and the pages were covered with black blotcher The work of compiling returns from this kind of record proceeded very slowly, and it is anticipated by those familiar with the election boards in South Omaha that the returns from the other districts in that city will be in about the same condition.

An unofficial footing of the official returns from all the voting districts in the city shows that the regular republican nominees for justice of the peace and constable, both o fill vacancies, were elected by large duralities. Cockrell, for justice of the sence, received about 4,300 more votes than the next highest man, Wittum, populist Brandes being the next highest, and Al-

So I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, and after receiving an answer from Dr. Pierce I did as he directed. My wife used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Falvorie Prescription, one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Falvorie Prescription, one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Fellets, and used the local home-treatment he advised. Before my wife had used the first bottle of the medicine she felt the good effect and said one bottle would be enough. I insisted on her using two bottles, and she did so. Now she is sound and well, and I can praise your medicine to the extreme."

The Anti-Fake Club.....

The Advertising Men's Club of Omaha had another meeting last week and it's members decided they were tired of playing to empty houses and wanted a square meal for a change, That was before election. Last evening such of them as had bet on McKinley got together in a back room at the Millard and made speeches and things, while those who had bet on the Boy Orator had to be content with licking their chops as they read the account of the banquet in the papers next day. This club was organized for the purpose of getting it's name in the papers once a month or so and giving it's members a chance to keep in practice while waiting for better times. When not engaged in speech making or banqueting each member is supposed to stand at the city gates and keep out fakes of every description so as to protect the merchants and give the fakirs on the inside a chance to wax good and fat. We would respectfully suggest to the Advertising Men's Club of Omaha that each of it's members array himself in one of our Champion Irish Frieze Ulsters at $10.00 and ascertain why other stores are advertising the self-same garment at $14.95, marked down from $19.98. Or, if the constitution and by-laws will permit, we would like to have the members assemble in a body and pass judgment on the merits of the Men's Suits we are selling at $10.00, and if not equal to any advertised by the fakirs at $16.24, we will agree to furnish a banquet at which all of the members may feel free to attend. What does the club say? Here's a chance to get after some of the advertising fakes.

STYLISH STYLE

Some one has described the Omaha dust as "the dustiest dust; not thick, but very earnest." The same idea runs through this Parlor Suit. It is the most stylish stylenot expensive, but very evident. After all, is not this exactly what one wants in Parlor Furniture? The world demands that it shall possess style. If it has style and little else, they want it; if it has no style, but everything else;

The other pieces in this suit are modelled after the same charming design, We sell the three pieces (sofa, arm chair and straight chair) at the ridiculously
