SELLERS STUCK TO THE GIRL

State's Side of the Tragedy Involving Olive Hiscox.

STORY RELATED BY THE VICTIM'S WIFE

Riforts Had Been Made to Separate the Couple, but Without Success, Though Both Families Were Interested.

TEKAMAH, Neb., Nov. 12.-(Special)-The Hiscox murder trial opened this merning with the further examination of Mrs. Sellers. On the cross-examination efforts were made to draw from the witness statements that her husband sought out Olive to Nebraska, then met him on the road near Hiscox and to acknowledge that she had at Decatur, and there they had a talk. Sellers Ing her to the penitentiary. A number of letters purporting to have passed between the Hiscox girl and Sellers were identified by witness on behalf of the state. On redirect examination the witness and the letters have any good. He said Sellers said that he had the letters and the lett said she had three children living, all boys, aged 15, 12 and 10 years, and that she had lost three children during their infancy. to see her during the last year in lowa. all being the children of Fred Sellers. One brother after- of ward married and it was his wife that emplayed and brought Olive Hiscox to the farm. She had seen her husband under the influence of liquor and knew that when he left her on the night prior to the murder he was not in any way in-toxicated. About a year prior to his death her husband failed in business and since that time had been in rather straitened cir-cumstances. His credit prior to that time had been good and when she married him owned a farm adjoining the one on which

Knew the governor shall. all the Hiscox family except Grant, Had known Olive Hiscox about eight years. He first became acquainted with them at Quin-by, Ia. He worked for Fred Sellers for two years on the farm. Olive was there for four or five months while he was there. He knew her before she came to the farm and knew while he was there. He knew her before she came to the farm and knew of the relations of Sellers and the girl at the time she was working there. He had conversed with the girl and she had made a statement to him at one time that she would kill Sellers and would like to kill both he and his wife. He said he knew of Sellers giving her money at two different times and also knew of him giving money to both the brothers. Calvin and Eugene.

Warren Sellers, brother of the victim of this tragedy, was called. He said he was living on the farm when Olive worked there and he remembered of seeing her in the descrited barn on the place. He went to the barn and femnd her standing in one of the stalls. He said to her: "Olive, you have quite a layout here," at which she began crying. He took her to the door and they sat down and he talked kindly to her.

Let us therefore, on this day advante began crying. He took her to the door and they sat down and he talked kindly to her, trying to persuade her to go away and give up her attempts to break up his brother Fred's family. She said she was going and assemble together in our accustomed places of worship and around the family alter and render unto God trains and pher attempts to break up his brother Fred's family. She said she was going and that a way had been prepared for her; that she would be gone the next day. He told her if she needed any help or money he would see that she got it. He told her Fred could not think anything of her, or he would not leave her in a barn, at which she got angry, and said she would kill Fred. He asked her if she was the worran who stood off a number of men with a revolver down in the gravel pit some days previous, and she said she was, and at that time was on her way to the barn. He testified that during his conversation with the girl, she admitted that she came there against the wishes of Fred.

TESTIMONY OF A NEIGHBOR.

DECLARES AGAINST PROBIBITION. SAYS TARIFF IS THE THING The Roti-Fake Club.....

The Advertising Men's Club of Omaha had another meeting last week and it's members decided they were tired of playing to empty houses and wanted a square meal for a change, That was before election. Last evening such of them as had bet on McKinley got together in a back room at the Millard and made speeches and things, while those who had bet on the Boy Orator had to be content with licking their chops as they read the account of the banquet in the papers next day. This club was organized for the purpose of getting it's name in the papers once a month or so and giving it's members a chance to keep in practice while waiting for better times. When not engaged in speech-making or banqueting each member is supposed to stand at the city gates and keep out fakes of every description so as to protect the merchants and give the fakirs on the inside a chance to wax good and fat. We would respectfully suggest to the Advertising Men's Club of Omaha that each of it's members array himself in one of our Champion Irish Frieze Ulsters at $10.00 and ascertain why other stores are advertising the self-same garment at $14.95, marked down from $19.98. Or, if the constitution and by-laws will permit, we would like to have the members assemble in a body and pass judgment on the merits of the Men's Suits we are selling at $10.00, and if not equal to any advertised by the fakirs at $16.24, we will agree to furnish a banquet at which all of the members may feel free to attend. What does the club say? Here's a chance to get after some of the advertising fakes.

A resolution was adopted instructing the secretary to telegraph fraternal greetings to the session of the supreme council of the Farmers' alliance in progress at Indian The delegates tonight were entertained by the local brewers' assembly, General Worthy Foreman Bishop of Bos-ton, in his report, which contains strong recommendations as to strikes, says the competition from oriental nations promises very quickly to assume alarming propor-tions. The Japanese are particularly to be feared, it says, "from the fact that their skill and causely to produce are admittedly almost as great as that of our best work-men. Japan itself furnishes no adequate market for even such products as she now market for even such products as she now turns out and the only possible profit from their labor will come from competition with the men in comparatively well paid countries, with high individual consumptive capacity. The report severely criticises the Women's Christian Temperance union, Salvation army and others for bringing Armenians here to compete with American workmen, but at the same time, however, expresses great sympathy for the Armenians. It discusses the immigration question briefly and says: Personally, I favor the McCall-Corliss bill, with the Lodge amendment providing for an edu-cational lest for all immigrants, and if more stringent measure were feasible would favor that in preference.

Commenting on a report on immigration t says that 777 per cent of the Postuguese. 51.9 of the Italians, 47.88 per cent of the Poles, 45.05 per cent of the Austrian-Hun-garians and 41.15 per cent of the Hussians could have been excluded under the Lodge
