Secretary Francis took this action upon receipt today of a report from Inspector McCormick on the action of the Indians and settlers on the latest propositions submitted by him. This compromise provided that the settlers were to have one year in which to pay up the balance due on lands, and all, including those who have already paid for their holdings, were to have the benefit of a rebate of ten years' interest. TRANSMISSISSIPPI CERTIFICATES. Although the certification of the validity of the stock subscriptions for the Transmississippi Exposition has been received by the Tressury department, signed by President Wattles and Secretary Wakefield of the local association, nothing has been done with them as yet. They are lying upon the desk in the warrant division of the Treasury department awaiting a definite course of action in getting them before the secretary of the treasury. The manner of certifying to these stock subscriptions is new to the fluencial head of the government. He has never been called upon to pass upon just exactly similar subscriptions, and the desire of the department is to facilitate the work of verifying the affidavits signed Wattles and Wakefield as to the relia-ity and standing of the subscriptions which they are now carrying upon books in Omaha. Whether the papers will even-tually go to the solicitor of the treasury or e comptroller has not been decided. Speaking generally of the situation, Sec-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.-Senator Morgan f Alabama in an interview today said that he did not look for any action on the Dingley tariff bill or the financial question at the coming session of congress. He, as a democrat, was willing the republicans should pass the Dingley bill, but did not believe that party desired to a so. Senator Morgan said that though efforts might be made to bring about international bimetallism, he regarded them as foredoomed to failure and as absolutely impracticable and likewise inconsistent with our national 'adependence.

To the question, "Will the national democrats be admitted to the democratic caucuses in the senate?" Mr. Morgan replied:

Suggests that Silver States Should Make Use of Mexican Dollars. WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.-Moreton Frewen, the well known English bimetallist s in town, the guest of Senator Cameron. In answer to inquiries as to the real relations between a famine in India and cheaper silver, Mr. Frewen said: "If India has plenty of produce to export—wheat, cotton, jute and other things—the balance of trade is favorable, so that India is a large customer for her money metal, silver. As matters stand, however, India is Importing wheat and, therefore, exporting silver to pay for the wheat. If the famine is serious, as I fear, it may affect the exchanges, not only with India but with China and Japan the with India, but with China and Japan, the cheaper rates for silver greatly stimulating the exports of both these countries." When Mr. Frewen's opinion of the pro-posal of the Kansas populist legislature to egalize the Mexican silver dollar was asked, he said: "Without attempting to make Mexcan dollars legal tender. I have sometimes hought that if your twenty-two silver states chose to make the Mexican dollar current within their states, by general agreeneut, such a sliver currency might be very seful. If the state legislatures in states occupied by perhaps 30,000,000 of your people said: 'We will take our local revenues, and will also pay our employes at the rate of three Mexican dollars for two standard dollars,' then if the bimetallism theory is correct, the ratio of Mexican dollars to standard dollars which today is 2 to 1, might probably rise to 3 to 2."

The greatest wrong that is inflicted on the spiendid work Drs. Copeland and Shepard are doing for humanity, comes from those so-called intelligent critics who say something like this: "Oh, yes, these physicians all right; they do as much good as any doctors, probably more good than most doctors, probably more good than most doctors, but they don't cure. There is nobody who by the science of medicine does cure; they relieve symptoms, benefit to some degree, perhaps, but they don't cure. Medicine is not an exact science."

Those who taik like this are the most dangerous enemies to this splendid work. The science of medicine that Doctors Copeland and Shepard represent does cure. It is an exact science. There are no half truths in it. There is only one answer to such dangerous criticism; that answer is INVESTIGATION. Upon that answer is INVESTIGATION. Upon that answer to such dangerous criticism; that answer is INVESTIGATION. Upon that answer to such dangerous criticism; that answer to almost the case.

INVESTIGATION to the complete the case, without the case and the case, without the case and the case, without the case and the case, and the case, and the case and the case, and the case and the case land and Shepard tells you they are cured. Now, when a so-called intelligent critic launches his dangerous scepticism, be prepared to answer him with this "I have been to see these people. I have written them. I have investigated their cases elrcumstantially, I know all a them. I know they were cured."

ON THE FARM.

Get the Benefits of the Mail System Without Leaving Home. Without Leaving Home.

Speaking of the benefits of the mai system to invalid farmers unable to visit the city, John L. Cockrell, an educated farmer of Lyons, Burt county, Nebraska, writes:

J. L. Cockrell, Lyons, Neb. "The time seems to have come now thanks to the Copeland and Shepard mail system, when the invalid farmer doesn't have to leave home to secure best medical treatment and at about one-quarter what he would pay an ordinary country doctor, I was badly alling for about four years. My stomach had been weakened, poisoned and ruined, as a gradual result of catarrh, till it brought on a f orm of habitual constination that almost killed me. Along with my extreme debility my condition was rendered immediately serious by heart discase. But I got a complete cure finally without ever leaving the farm. It all came from my just writing for a Copeland and Shepard symptom blank and taking the mail treatment."

It should be remembered that, by means of a perfected mail system, the Copeland and Shepard treatment is now as directly available to patlents a thousand miles away as to those who visit the office in Omaha.

STOMACH AND BOWELS.

Mr. J. Northrup, 1037 South 29th St., addresses this letter to Drs. Copeland & Shepard under date of October 30, 1896. Mr. Northrap was formerly bookkeeper for McCord, Brady & Co., the wholesale grocers:

"I want to offer very emphatic testimony in praise of your treatment for Catarrh of Stomach and Bowels.

"You will recall that I said to you at the end of the first month's frantment that I folt morally indebted to you in addition to the cash already paid. No man could have convinced me of the effects without a course of treatment. My digestion was so inactive that it seemed practically dead, and I suffered the thousand and one discomferts arising therefrom, and after only a short course of treatment I feel a burden has been lifted from my neck and shoulders, as well as spirits. In fact, I enjoy living. I consider the cost of this treatment a mere pittance compared with the changed feelings and conditions. I still feel indebted to you."
