possesses exclusive control over Egypt.

The Calsse on March 25 inst decided to advance from the reserve funds $2,500,000 needed to meet the expenses of the British Egyptian expedition to Dongola, and eventually did so. The English, German, Italian and Austrian members of the commission voted in favor of the proposition. The Russian and French members voted against it. Almost immediately afterward the representatives of the Paris syndicate of Egyptian bondhoiders took steps to institute proceedings against the Calsse for advancing this, and the mixed tribunal, on June 8, decided against the government, stating that the advance was made in violation of all existing decrees, condemned the government to repay the money advanced, and enjoined the commissioners from advancing any further money for the war expenses. The Egyptian government and the four commissioners referred to then lodged an appeal against this decision and the matter eventually came before the court of appeals, with the result announced in the dispatch to the Associated press from Alexandria.

ANOTHER STORY OF THE AIR SHIP San Jose Electrician Tells of a Ride

Over the Sens. SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 2 .- John A. Heron an electrician, tells an air ship story which some believe and others credit to a fertile imagination. Heren is the patentee of an electric platinum apparatus. He says be went to San Francisco last Thursday by apointment to see the inventor of the air ship apparatus, whose name he says he is pledged to conceal. Heron adds:

"We went on horseback to a point on the sandy beach where the air ship was. We got aboard and rose very high. The height was registered by a meter on the ship. The inventor does not count distance by miles, but by degrees. We traveled westward and before daybreak we saw lights which the inventor said were Honelulu lights. We then turned east and at dusk on Saturday evening we finished our two days' cruise and H. Kealing, Bay City, Mo.; Mrs. Agnes Hitt, landed near the starting point. The air ship rose by means of two propellors. The move ment was noiseless and swift. It can be stopped and held stationary in the air and descends as lightly as a feather. The motive power is neither steam nor electricity."

SUICIDE OF A PROMISING SINGER.

Frank De Wolf Spolls a Brilliant Career by Taking Morphine. PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 2.-Frank Wolf committed suicide here last night by swallowing a large quantity of morphine. This is the tragic end of what at the outset promised to be a brilliant career. Frank Smith, for that was the suicide's right name, came from the south, was handsome and talented and had many wealthy friends. Five years ago he married Miss Kate Catlin, well known in New York society. George L. Catlin, his father-in-law, was United States consul to Zurich and Stuftgart, Germany, under Grant, an author, and prominent in newspaper and literary circles. Then young Smith, who had a good voice, abroad to cultivate it. After long and as-siduous preparation the young singer go an engagement in Berlin last winter to sing in opera. It was then he adopted the name of DeWolf. A bad attack of stage fright on the night of his first appearance caused him to fail. Since then he has been despondent and reckless in his habits.

Tom Proves Himself a Better Map. Ihan Generally Considered and Makes a Desperate Resistance All Through.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2 .- Sailor Tom Sharkey, practically knocked out by Robert Fitzsimmons in the eighth round of the ten round match, was given the decision by Referee Earn, on the claim of foul. Fitzsimmons joited Sharkey under the chin with carried unconscious from the ring. The foul could not be seen from the press stand, but Referze Earp gave his decision in spite of

While the sailor was falling the referee claims that Flizsimmons struck him in the groin with his knee, thus committing a foul. Sharkey was undoubtedly badly hurt. He was unable to move his legs, though he clutched spasmodically at his groin with his gloved hand. His seconds rushed into the ring and raised him up, but he fainted trustees of the Carnegie library here, de-cided that hereafter the citizens of Pfits-burg shall have Sunday concerts in the ceived with hisses and groans.

FITZ DENIES A FOUL.

At first the crowd did not seem to grasp the situation, but when it dawned upon them church, and, after they had been repeatedly abused and maltreated by his men, burned and maltreated by his men, burned coutrages, all as horrible, are charged to him and his company.

It is not a fight about wages, but is for abused and maltreated by his men, burned coutrages, all as horrible, are charged to him and his company.

It is not a fight about wages, but is for possible danger, and suppremency. Finally they object to an arbitration count comprising one representatives of the employers and four representatives of the strikers.

Fitz-simmons indignantly denied that he had fouled Sharkey. He said he had fought fairly, and there was no temptation for him to commit a foul, as he knew he had his man going. Sharkey could not be seen. He was carried into his room by his seconds, and followed by a dector, who examined the injured sailor. The psysician

It was a lively fight from the start. was even more on the aggressive than Sharkey, and kept his man on the move all the time. In the very first round Fitzsim-mons saw an opening and a right swing on the jaw sent Sharkey to the floor. That made the sailor a bit more cautious, and during the next four rounds he tried to keep

SHARKEY DOES SOME FOULING.

In the fourth Sharkey pushed Fitzsim-nons over onto the floor and before Bob ould get up made a couple of victous swipes at him. Fitzstimmons cleverly clinched and avoided damage, but it was a clear case of oul on Sharkey's part. No claim was made nowever, and the fight went on. In the fith Sharkey did more mean work, grabbing Fitzsimmons around the legs and trying to throw him. Fitzsimmons began to warm up and went after the sturdy sailor like a cycione. A poke on the nose and a left swing on the jaw sent Sharkey down. He rolled up the ropes and would have gone off the platform had not Bob courteously hauled him back. It looked as if Tom was done for, but the gong sounded and he was given a minute in which to recuperate. In the sixth Sharkey made a pretense of fighting, leading for Bob's wind. When the round cleard Sharkey was decidedly groggy, but was on his feet.
A joyous shout went up from the many sports who had bet even money that he would last six rounds. When the seventh cound opened, Fitzsimmons tried to end untiers. He swung his right repeatedly for the jaw, but in some manner Sharkey escaped. The left jabs always connected, though, and Tom was decidedly on the wane. Bob himself was none too atrong and seemed to be a bit tired when the round closed. Then came the disastrous eighth. Fitzsimmens weat at his man with a will and fairly smothered him with lefts and rights. First it would be the mouth that suffered, then the nose and later the eyes, litzsimmons was working like a demon. His ong arms shot out with amazing rapidity and Fom's head bobbed back and forth in rethere would be a performance tomorrow night, and that the program for the remaining nights would be probably carried out.

Sponse. Then Fitzsinmons got up close to finish the job in a workmanilke manner. A right half-arm jolt under the chin sent the sailor's head to one side. A left hook similarly applied sent him over backwards. Then came the foul. Very few of the immense crowd could be convinced that Fitzsimmons had been unfair, and it is almost certain hat if a foul were committed it was uninentional

HAD A NICE CROWD.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 people oc-upled all the available space in the big Mechanics pavilion and watched the con-test, which everyone regarded as practically deciding the championship of the world. The long, lean Cornishman, who had had a succession of victories in the United States for the last six years, entered the ring tonight with aimost every apparent advantage in his favor. He could count upon his ex-perience and science; his height and reach and every other quality which enters into the making of the successful prizefighter. Against him was the successful prizeignter, Against him was the sailor lad, who was unknown six months ago, but who rose to fame recently when he came perilously near trailing in the dust the colors of California's idol, James J. Corbett. Against the science and experience and the superior height and and experience and the superior height and reach of Fitzshimmons was Sharkey, with his youth and strength, probably one of the greatest examples of muscular development that the prize ring has produced. A man not accredited with the science of a Fitzsimmons, or a Corbett but who had proved that he would be a "chopping block" for no one, and who was known to possess most remarkable strength and endurance and to fear nothing that ever stepped into a prize

Both men had trained hard and well for several weeks before the contest and par-ticularly during the last few days, and each had expressed the utmost confidence in his ability to gain a victory and the $10,000 purse which the National Athletic club
