Tom Sharkey was a delapidated looking puglist as he lay on his bed today. The only visible bruises were two on the left side C. Winegardner will have a hear of his face, one a cut which had rather neatly divided the left cycbrow lengthwise.

"He gave me that cut with his elbow when he fouled me early in the fight," said Omaha people in Lincoln: At the Lin-coln-John W. Hosler, E. G. Griffith, J. A. Epoceter, E. E. Bruce, C. F. Weller, John Hann F. Willia Sharkey. The doctors made no objection at all about showing not only the condition of Sharkey's face, but also of his body. In doing so they called attention to the fact that there was nothing to indicate that he had received any particular punishment pre vious to the striking of the blow which nded the fight. This seemed to be the fact. of the refereo last night." for there were no discolorations or bruises at all upon Sharkey's body, except at the point below the belt, where the alleged foul blow is said to have landed. Here there was a decided swelling and other evidences wish to interfere with the lesser lights who of injury, which it was easy to conceive have clubs organized and running. But I would have prevented a man from continuing a boxing match or any other form of exertion.

"I was all right up to the time I got that foul lick," Sharkey said in answer to a question, "I had not been hurt at all."

The three physicians all concurred in the statement, made very positively that Sharkey had been forled, the physical evi-dences, they considered, being indisputable. "He was hit there and hit hard," said Dr. Ragan.
