BIKE RIDERS STAY AT IT

Fifth Day of the Long Journey Sees the Positions Unchanged.

FLUCKY IRISH BOY HOLDS THE LEAD

Six-Day Bicycle Race Continues to Attract the Interest of the Wheel Cranks of Gotham.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Today Hale still leads the six-day race, but is not so far ahead as he was yesterday. The contest was made in the positions of the riders today. Forster passed Rice, who had been second in the race for three days.

When Hale, the Irish rider, completed his 160th hour he had exactly 1,400 miles to his credit. That was about 4 o'clock this morning. His closest rivals, Rice and Forster, were four hours later in making the same record.

At 9 o'clock the Irishman was then 140 miles ahead of the record, and the other first night were about half that distance. Forster was still wobbly, and rode at a very slow gait for several hours.
