At the request of the grievance committee, Mr. Ryan of St. Louis, president of the miners' association, advanced the question of the conflict between the Association of Iron Molders and the tin, sheet iron and cornice workers.

When nominations were called for yesterday the name of Samuel Gompers for president was received with cheers. On motion of Delegate John McBride the secretary was directed to cast the entire vote of the convention, 247, for him.

McClure of Philadelphia was unanimously re-elected vice-president, but declined, after ten years' continuous service in the order, in order to devote all his time to the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners.

James Duncan of Baltimore was re-elected second vice-president without opposition. James O'Connell of Chicago was re-elected third vice-president.

M. M. Garland of Pittsburgh for fourth vice-president was elected without opposition.

Ex-President John McBride presented the name of ex-Secretary McCreath of Boston for delegate to the next annual convention. Delegates O'Donnell, Boyce and others accepted the nomination, but Mr. McCreath declined absolutely.

The names of Harry Lloyd of Boston, president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners; Martin Fox of Cincinnati, president of the Iron Molders; and George E. McNeill, president of the Federal union of British Trades Congress, pending the balance of the convention, were also presented.

When the selection of the location for the next annual convention was announced Harry Lloyd of Boston was chosen as the place, which place they should emphasize the Armour boycott and organize the street railway employees and others.

ORGANIZING THE BUREAU

Exposition Executive Committee Getting Its Affairs in Shape.

PRESS BUREAU FIRST TO GET TO WORK

J. B. Haines Appointed as Its Chief—Heads of Other Departments Outline Some of Their Needs and Authorized to Supply Them.

The executive committee of the Trans-Mississippi Exposition held a meeting at the Commercial club rooms yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the requirements of the several departments.

The secretary reported that the certificate asked for by the Treasury department had been prepared and forwarded to Washington.

An application from ex-Governor Furnas for appointment to the position of director general was read and laid on the table for future consideration.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to prepare by-laws for the association presented a number of by-laws prescribing the powers and duties of the officers.

The same committee also reported a set of rules for the government of the executive committee. These prescribing the order of business, and provided that the head of each of the departments shall be designated as "manager."

The managers of departments were then called upon to state the duties of their departments in the way of assistance.

Chairman Lindsey, manager of the ways and means department, reported that for the present he would require a number of men to take general charge and devote the greater part of his time to getting subscriptions from people who have not yet subscribed to stock.

Mr. Rosewater, manager of the department of publicity, reported that he would require one stenographer and one typewriter. He was authorized to employ the assistance he had indicated.

Manager Hitchcock of the department of promotion said the only help he would need at present would be a typewriter to turn out correspondence. The method to be pursued in securing subscriptions from foreign states was discussed, and plans were suggested, but the matter was laid over for future consideration.

Manager Kierstead of the department of buildings and grounds would need an architect and an engineer and an architect as soon as the site is decided upon.

TO EMPLOY AN EXPERT. E. E. Bruce, manager of the department of exhibits, said he had not formulated definite plans for his department beyond outlining sixteen buildings, but he would need an expert to employ a suitable person.

W. N. Babcock, manager of the department of transportation, said he would need a secretary and a stenographer and one typewriter.

The subject of a woman's department was brought up by President Gompers, who advised the establishment of such a department, the head of which should be a member of the executive committee.

There was a difference of opinion as to the method to be pursued in establishing such a department and the matter was referred to Messrs. Wattles and Bruce to advise on the subject at the next meeting of the committee.

The question of a salary for the secretary was suggested, but was laid over without action until the next meeting of the committee.

Mr. Rosewater was the first head of a department to announce the appointment of a bureau chief. He was appointed J. B. Haines as chief of the press bureau and Mr. Haines had signed his acceptance of the position at the press bureau and will be put in full working order at once and the people of the trans-Mississippi states will be furnished with information regarding the plan of the exposition.

Mr. Haines is a newspaper man of fifty-two years' experience and was managing editor of the Bee for eight years. For the past year and a half he has been actively engaged as correspondent for the large dailies in all of the great cities of the west and a large number of metropolitan papers in eastern cities.

His extensive newspaper experience and connection with leading papers is considered a great advantage to the work of the press bureau. Mr. Haines is at present an active member of the executive committee of the Commercial club.
