BOARD OF SUPERVISORS MEETS.

Regular January Session Opens with the County Board of Supervisors. The regular January session of the Board of Supervisors commenced yesterday at noon. H. C. Brandes, the new member, was installed. This makes the entire board republican. The official bonds of the county officers recently elected were approved, they being the same as during the last term. The county officers' salaries were fixed the same as last year as follows: Clerk, $3,200, with the probate and insane commission fees; recorder, $3,800; county attorney, $1,500; auditor, $4,000.

Considerable discussion was held over the letting of the publication of the record of the board's meeting to the various papers through the county. Colonel Baker was objected to the letting of the contract to five papers, as last year, but the board decided that the county papers should receive the printing as the Neola Reporter, the Oakland Aeon, Avoca Herald, Globe and Nonpareil. They were paid 25 cents a square, making the total cost $12,500. Colonel Baker insisted even at the legal rate of 23 1/2 cents a square the cost should only be $11,500. He had received the contract for the same newspapers, requesting that they be given a chance at printing the proceedings of the board, insisting that they were entitled to as much recognition as the other papers. The only change made by the board in the matter was that the papers shall publish the proceedings within at least a month after they occurred. Some of the papers have been stringing the publication of the matter along for several months.

G. M. DODGE AS SANTA CLAUS

Distributes Christmas Presents to the Children of Old Soldiers.

URGES THE LITTLE ONES TO LOYALTY

Annual Gatherings Intended to Keep Fresh in Their Memory the Brave Deeds of Their Fathers—A Flag for Every Room.

Eight years ago General G. M. Dodge sent $100 to the members of Abe Lincoln post with the explanation that it was to be used to buy Christmas presents for the children of the old soldiers. The gift came at a fortunate time, and Santa Claus came to several hundred little people who would have had almost no Christmas and no Christmas tree otherwise. General Dodge was delighted with the reports that came to him of the great Christmas tree that the children went wild over, and he has repeated the gift each year since. Last night he was present when the little folks received the benefit of his munificence. It was the first time he had ever had the pleasure of witnessing the sight, and the scene last night most deeply affected him.

General Dodge arose and received another ovation, and when the applause subsided he addressed his soldier comrades and their children and grandchildren. He said: "Every year I hear the results of the Christmas gatherings of the children of soldiers who served with me in the army. You are brought together with a view not only of giving you pleasure and making you glad, but to impress upon you the memory of the fact that your fathers were brave men, and you should be proud of their memory and keep fresh in your minds the history of the country they fought for you and their country. You should be taught in your hearts to love your fathers and your brothers, and why they served in the army. Their history should be so impressed upon your minds that you should always keep in your homes, no matter how small, and hold it sacred from the fact that it is the flag of your country, which your fathers fought for and preserved. Then you should look to the future."

This country gives you and all others an opportunity which no other country in the world gives, and if this country should ever be divided, it is the duty of every citizen to stand by it. You should be taught in your hearts to love your fathers and your brothers, and why they served in the army. Their history should be so impressed upon your minds that you should always keep in your homes, no matter how small, and hold it sacred from the fact that it is the flag of your country, which your fathers fought for and preserved. Then you should look to the future."

JUSTICES AND THEIR INCOME.

Annual Rumpus Over Fees with the Board of Justices. There promise to be a continuation of the same old merry war when the Board of County Supervisors audits the reports and claims of the justices of the peace. Last year the board audited and enforced an order not to allow the justices a cent more than the law allows, which must not be more than $1,200 a year. This is to be made up wholly of fees. If the justices refuse to accept this it is to be covered back into the county treasury, and if they do not reach that amount there is no remedy for the unfortunate justices. It has grown so large that it is a source of irritation to both the justices and the board. Last year the justices claimed just $1,200, the maximum amount in Chicago, and the board was obliged to pay out for office rent, fuel, lights and stationery what they claimed for that amount. The justices will receive this amount in the next year, each will put in his bill of expenses. These will approximate between $200 and $300 each.

The docket of the various justices show that the total receipts of their offices during the year have not exceeded $1,500, and in some cases have dropped considerably below $1,000. If the justices refuse to accept this it is to be covered back into the county treasury, and if they do not reach that amount there is no remedy for the unfortunate justices. AMUSEMENTS.

The Glee and Mandolin club of the Chicago university, on its fourth annual tour, gave its first concert in this city at the Orpheum theater last evening in the presence of a very small audience, composed largely of those who are called "society people." Omaha is allowing no good thing after another to pass by unobserved, and is losing much more than it realizes and is reaching traveling companies not to stop here unless upon a guaranteed remuneration. The "Cherry Sisters" march, by Sousa, was spirited and interesting. In "The Evening Star," from Tannhauser, the work was not so good. This may be owing to the very bad arrangements which they used. In the accompaniments their work was all that could be desired, especially in Schubert's "Serenade" and in "Andantino," a Spanish selection quite appropriate to their instruments.

The Glee club consists of eighteen young men. Most of the voices are strong and mellow, and the ensemble work, Mr. Horace G. Lovell deserves great credit for the unity, style, and vigor of the work. AN EPHEMERIC OF "COLDS."

Nature of the Malady Now Prevalent—In Many Cases Superinduced by Catarrh of the Lungs—Hundreds Being Cured by the "Healing Vapors" Administered by Drs. Copeland and Shepard.

Half the people in Omaha and all over the state are just now sneezing and running at the nose, or hacking, coughing and spitting with more or less fury. Some are drooping in the first languid half-sickness of a bad cold. Others are seriously ill from neglected cold, half dead with headache, catarrh, lumbago, bronchitis, due to latent catarrh, poison suddenly awakened from cold, snake-like sleep to vicious and destructive activity. These are catarrhal sufferers.

The other half of the community are complaining of chills, followed by pain and misery in the head, and by pain and soreness in the muscles. They show a quick, feverish pulse and a high feverish temperature. They have a cough that is incessant and distressing, with nervous sickness and cold prostration. They have the grip.

In all such cases good and timely advice would seem to be "Look to your catarrhal trouble—see the specialist at once."

Dr. Copeland and Dr. Shepard, who are specialists in the treatment of catarrhal troubles, have a special method of curing these ailments. They use a special apparatus called the "Healing Vapors," which is administered by means of a special nozzle. This apparatus is used in a special room called the "Healing Chamber," which is kept at a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit. The vapors are administered for a period of ten to fifteen minutes, and are found to be very effective in curing these ailments.
