While the remarks occasioned by wearing bloomers are disagreeable, they should be taken with all due allowance for the source from which they originate, and the lack of breeding in those uttering them, for no truly refined person will comment on another's appearance, no matter how objectionable to them it may be, and in ignoring them as you would the remarks of any street rowdy, you raise yourself above them, and they, themselves become the objects of derision from any right minded person. If you pursue this course it will not be long before these remarks cease. In nine cares out of ten they are made by those who want to and yet can't ride or own a wheel; if they could you would find them in knickers in-

My advice to those wishing to wear bloommy advice to those wishing to wear cloom-ers is to assert a little of their independence the coming season and wear them; throw aside your stays, and if you must wear something of the sort, get the bicycle stays, or an underwaist fastened with elastic fast-

Perhaps not, and yet this same gentleman was seen a few evenings later escerting his wife to a fashionable gathering, she wearing a low cut corsage. Now which was the more modest? Well, really, perhaps the poor man didn't know, you know, or she may be the one

Transmississippi Cycle Show. The bicycle show to be given by the local Cycle Board of Trade in the Karbach block, corner of Fifteenth and Howard streets, during the first week of March promises to be one of the best and most claborate exhibitions of the kind ever offered in the west. All of the prominent manufacturers in the country will be represented by a full line of their goods, and the dealers of Omaha are anticipating a big impetus in trade as a result of the enterprise. Every facility for the convenience and pleasure of visitors will be attended to by the manage-ment and there is little doubt but what the week's exhibit will be marked by an enormous attendance from not only this city and the Blaffs, but from all parts of the two states. Reduced rates on all the rail-roads will be arranged for and the show will be a distinctly transmississippi affair, a mammoth exposition of cycles, cycle accessories, sundries, machinery, and, in fact, everything with wheeling interests. The members of the board are such well known and enterprising business men as J. J. Deright. W. Lyle Dickey & Co., L. Flescher, Gate City Cycle company, High Art Bicycle company, Nebraska Cycle company, Omaha Bicycle company, F. M. Russell & Co. and the Western Electrical Supply company. They are all much interested and are determined to give a show that will compare favorably with the famous exhibits of New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis and Chicago. The great army of riders in city are all anticipating a most enjoyable and instructive treat, and all will combine in an effort to further the magnificent pro-portions of the March exhibit. Space is being applied for at a rate that guarantees that every available inch will be occupied.
