CLEARS UP BOTTLE MYSTERY

Investigation by the Police Explodes a Promising Fensation.

MESSAGE OF SUICIDE IS A HOAX

"John Hanson's" Parting Reminder to a Cold World is Received with leonoclustic Coolness by the Authorities.

The police have arrived at the conclusion that the note found in a bottle floating in Big lake announcing that the body of John Hanson was concealed somewhere in the mud and sedges of the rice awamp is a As he lay unconscious his friends could hoax not worth investigating. In no place scarcely dis ern the difference in the white-ness of the freshly fallen snow and his im-dcep. Unless a man should make an heroic attempt to kill himself and chose other means than drowning he would have difficulty in finding sufficient water to cover his body. With the exception of a few air holes the lake is covered with ice and men and boys hunting are daily passing all over it, and an object as consplcuous as the body of a man would not have escaped their observation if it had been there.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Hanson, the Lewis township farm hand, who was paid his summer's wages by the Spetmans, for whom he was work-ing, has not been cleared up. His name was H. J. Hanson, and he came to town on December 10 with $150 in his pocket, expecting to deposit the money and return to the farm on the same day. A day or two elapsed without anything being heard from him, and the Spetmans fearing that something had happened to him notified the police. His friends in the country were very anxious about him, and made frequen inquiries, but received no tidings,
