

FAVOR THE GOLD STANDARD

Delegates to Monetary Conference Declare for the Yellow Metal.

RECOMMEND RETIREMENT OF NOTES

Executive Committee Provided For to Secure Proper Legislation by Congress. The Conference Adjourns Since Die.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 13.—The monetary convention completed its business today and adjourned sine die. It was not until the last session of the convention that the spectators got their money's worth. Then the hair fell for a few minutes. The convention was composed of representatives of the great commercial bodies of the country, while the minority was represented by two members of the committee on banking and currency of the national house of representatives.

After the convention had been called to order, brief speeches were made by Mr. Adams of Massachusetts, Mr. Wilson of Kentucky and Chairman Hanna. At the close of his talk Mr. Hanna called upon Mr. Ingalls of Cincinnati to read the report of the committee on resolutions. The report follows:

This convention declares that it has become absolutely necessary that a consistent, straightforward system shall be inaugurated, the fundamental basis of which should be—

First—That the present gold standard should be maintained.

Second—That there should be taken to insure the ultimate retirement of all classes of United States notes by a gradual and steady reduction of the currency.

Third—That a banking system be provided which should furnish credit facilities to every portion of the country, and which should be based upon a view of securing a distribution of the loanable capital of the country as wide as possible, and which should be based upon a view of securing the rates of interest in all parts thereof.

Fourth—That the purpose of effectively promoting the above objects.

Fifth—That the fifteen members of this convention be appointed by the chairman to act as an executive committee while this convention is in session, and to exercise the full powers of this convention.

The executive committee shall have the power to increase its number to not more than twenty, not exceeding forty-five, and five members shall at all times constitute a quorum of the executive committee.

The executive committee shall have special charge of the solicitation, receipt and disbursement of contributions voluntarily made for the purpose of securing the retirement of the currency.

The executive committee shall have power to call this convention to order again, when and where it may seem best to the committee.

The executive committee shall continue in office, with power to fill vacancies, until discharged at a future meeting of this convention.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of this executive committee to endeavor to procure the passage of the following resolutions, if it is understood, will be called in March next, and to report to the committee on the progress of their work.

Resolved, That the committee be authorized to consider the entire question of the currency, and to report thereon at the next meeting of the convention.

Resolved, That the committee be authorized to consider the entire question of the currency, and to report thereon at the next meeting of the convention.

Resolved, That the committee be authorized to consider the entire question of the currency, and to report thereon at the next meeting of the convention.

Resolved, That the committee be authorized to consider the entire question of the currency, and to report thereon at the next meeting of the convention.

WEYLER IS IN BAD HUMOR

Osba's Captain General Keeps Himself in Strict Seclusion.

FAILURES MARK HIS ADMINISTRATION

Civil Governor and Leading Commercial Bodies of Havana Expressing Their Influence to Bring About His Recall.

HAVANA, Jan. 12.—(Via Key West), Jan. 13.—Captain General Weyler is in a very bad humor, and seemingly with good reason. He was with difficulty dissuaded a day or two ago from sending Sena Pena, correspondent of the Madrid Herald, to Morocco castle, and the newspaper man in question is not safe from the Spanish commander, who was aroused by the criticisms of the conduct of the campaign in Cuba.

To such a degree has the captain general felt his ill temper that nobody outside of his military and civil advisers has been able to see him since his latest return from the field. He is in danger of losing nobody here for a moment today, in spite of the many official and semi-official denials from Madrid, for it is remembered that the same course was followed by the government in the case of the recall of Marshal Martinez Campos.

Weyler cannot truthfully be said to have achieved a single success, diplomatic, administrative, military or otherwise. There are probably more insurgents, better armed and supplied, in the interior of the island now than at any time since the insurrection broke out. General Weyler once openly remarked that the western part of that province was a complete blank.

There are some men, who you know, who for the sake of a few dollars, have created the prophet's paradise to come. There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.

There are some things they never like, but there is one thing they never like more than a man who is not a prophet.
