The passage of the bill through the house likely to continue through the session. The contest for and against the proposed recount has aroused a bitter partisan feeling that is of the ballots is drawing to Lincoln prominent leaders in both parties, and both sides are using every effort to advance or defeat the bill. It is openly charged that the populat leaders in the state have no hope of finally seating Judges Kirkpatrick and Neville upon the supreme bench; that the most they hope to do is to count in the amendments and de clare the two judges entitled to their seats with the full expectation that the supreme court will ultimately decide that the law by which the amendment ballots were recounted is unconstitutional. Then the party leaders propose to go before the people in the next state campaign with the matter, charging shall be $1,200 per annum. that a partisan supreme court had thwarted the will of the people. proposed law the judges of the district court shall appoint, on the first day of each term an attorney whose duty it shall be to defend all persons accused of felonious crimes during the term. The merits of the bill were discussed and explained by Ransom, while Steele and Mutz objected to some of the provisions of the proposed law. Gondring and Murphy warmly advocated the passage of the bill. The principal ob-jection urged against the bill came from Mutz. The bill as amended by the judiciary committee provided that when any person is to be tried for any offense punishable by death, the trial judge shall appoint an ad-ditional coursels to assist such public de-fender in the defense of such person, and that such additional coursel shall receive for bis services the sum to be fixed by the presiding judge, not to exceed $250. Mutz thought the amount was excessive, and moved to fix the maximum compensation at $100. His amendment was, after a pro-tracted discussion, rejected, and the com-mittee rose with the recommendation that the bill pass. PUG LINDSAY IS IN JAIL AGAIN.

Parolled Prisoner Held for Assaulting an Officer. Jimmy Lindsay, a local pugilist who figured not long ago in a fatal affair which took place at Plattsmouth, was again in trouble Monday night. After visiting a number of disreputable resorts in the lower section of the town he became imbued with the idea that he owned the city. He smashed in several windows, and then visiting a house on Douglas street assaulted Eva Lake, the landlady. Special Officer Cullen attempted to place Lindsay under arrest, but the muscular pug placed him on the pavement in a twink-ling. A hurry call was turned in to the police station and after an exciting session of a few minutes' duration handcuffs were placed on Jimmy's wrists and he was locked up. Yesterday afternoon Lindsay was arraigned in police court on a charge of dis-turbing the peace, drunkenness, and assaulting an officer. He was fined $5 and costs on the first two complaints, and in default of bail was sent to the county jail.
